

the time, for this reason: there were quite a few Germans interned in Zurich, and they went about in uniform. Now, when I saw one of these birds and remembered what had been happening to me just a short time before my hands began to itch. Believe me, it was not "good morning" that I said to them. I enjoyed it all right; they were not in squads and had no arms, so it was hand to hand, and ple for me.

But Mr. Keene did not like it, I guess, for he called me to his office one morning and bawled me out for a while, and I promised to be good. "You're supposed to be neutral," he said. And I said, "Yes, and when I was torpedoed and taken prisoner, I was supposed to be neutral, too." But I said I would not look for trouble any more, and started back to the hotel.

But no sooner was I underway than a Hun private came along and began to laugh at me. My hands itched again, and I could not help but slam him a few. We went round and round for a while, and then the Hun reversed and went down instead. Mr. Keene saw us, or heard about it, so he told me I had better go to Berne.

So off I went, with my passport. But the same thing happened in Berne. I tried very hard, but I just could not keep my hands off the Germans. So I guess everybody thought it was a good thing to tell me good-by—anyway I was shipped into France, going direct to St. Nazaire and from there to Brest.

I made a short trip to Hull, England, with a letter from a man at Brandenburg to his wife. She was not at home, but I left the letter and returned to France. I was in France altogether about three weeks, and then went to Barcelona, Spain.

Then I took passage for the States on the C. Lopez y Lopez, a Spanish merchantman. We had mostly "Spigs" on board, which is navy slang for Spaniards. Almost every one of them had a large family of children and a raft of pets. We sailed down through Valencia, Almeria, Malaga, Cadix and Las Palmas in the Canary Islands.

When we left Las Palmas we had a regular menagerie aboard—parrots, canary birds, dogs, monkeys and various beasts. The stowage of that boat was some sight, believe me.

We had boat drill all the way across of course, and from the way those Spigs rushed about I knew that if a submarine got us the only thing that would be saved would be monkeys. But we did not even have a false alarm all the way over.

I arrived in New York during the month of July, 1917—two years and a half from the time I decided to go abroad to the war zone to get some excitement. I got it, and no mistake. New York harbor and the old statue of Liberty looked mighty good to me, you can bet.

So here I am, and sometimes I have to pinch myself to be sure of it. I certainly enjoy the food and warmth I get here, and except for an occasional pro-German I have no trouble with anybody. My wounds break open once in a while, and I am often bothered inside, on account of the gas I swallowed. They say I cannot get back into the service. It is tough to be knocked out before our own boys get into the scrap.

But I do not know. I am twenty-three year old, and probably have a lot to live for yet. I ought to settle down and be quiet for a while, but comfortable as I am, I think I will have to go to sea again. I think of it many times, and each time it is harder to stay ashore.

THE END.

Because of increased cost of electric energy which the City purchases from the United States Reclamation Service, there will be a raise in charges to consumers of light and water effective February 1st 1919. This increase will first appear on the notices mailed out by the City on March 1st.

On January 1st the contract which was in force between the City and the Reclamation Service expired and a new contract was submitted which is a fraction of a percent less than a 25 per cent increase in cost over the old cost. As a municipal organization is not run for profit the rates in effect up to February 1st have been as close to cost as good business judgment would allow and this increase in rates forces the Board of City Commissioners to announce that the following rates will be in effect on and after February 1st 1919:

Lighting Circuits New Rate Old Rate per k. w. h. per k. w. h. 1st. 100 k. w. h. 12 1/2c 10c 2nd 100 k. w. h. 11 9 3rd 100 k. w. h. 9 8 4th 100 k. w. h. 7 7 5th 100 k. w. h. 6 6

The minimum charge of $1.00 per month is still in effect. There is no change in power rates. As all the water supplied to the City is pumped by electrically operated pumps this raise in cost also affects the cost of the water and the Board of City Commissioners announce that effective February 1st 1919 the following will be the charge for water:

New Rate Old Rate per M. per M. 1st. 4 thousand gal. 25c 20c 2nd. 4 thousand gal. 20c 15c

Fractions of a thousand gallons are charged for as even thousand gallons. The minimum charge of 50c a month for those with meters and of $1.00 per month for those without meters is still in effect.

Board of City Commissioners, by V. G. Dickey, City Auditor. 32-6t.
