Nickish Family Very Unlucky.

Vincent Nickish, a North Prairie farmer, might have been killed in a serious runaway on Main street Friday afternoon. His team became frightened at a Soo engine and ran at a terrific rate south. They crossed a ditch which had been dug for some water mains and this threw the wagon fifteen feet into the air. A disc was in the box. The wagon was almost a total wreck. Nickish held to his horses with much grit for quite a distance. V. Nickish, father of the young man, was seriously injured in a runaway while on his way to Minot Saturday morning. He was thrown out and the wagon ran over him, injuring him in numerous places. A Minot surgeon dressed his injuries.

A Good Plan.

Wm. Hartman: "I had quite an argument with a representative of an out of town job printing company who wanted me to give him an order for several thousand laundry lists. I will admit that his price was a little lower than yours, but the quality, material and work not so good, and told him so. Besides I gave the fellow to understand that I depended upon the home trade for my living and always kept my money at home when possible. I believe that other business men should follow this rule."

Met Death at Manitou.

C. VanTuyt, a G. N. brakeman, was killed at Manitou, forty miles west of Minot Saturday evening in a terrible manner. He attempted to board the forward end of the caboose but fell, his right leg slipping under the wheels and was crushed to jelly. The young man was brot to the Minot hospital at once, but owing to the loss of so much blood, the leg was not amputated. The man died about midnight. His home was at Grand Forks.

Granted Divorce.

J. F. Cooly, a prominent Grand party has been granted a divorce from Ida M. Cooly. The original complaint alleged adultery, but this was modified to cruelty. The Coolys were married in 1888 and separated sometime ago. Mrs. Cooly was formerly instructor at the State University.

Al Rogers, the famous Flaxton pigger, who is wanted badly in Ward county, for jumping his bonds, assaulted John F. Skinner at Portal recently, and now the authorities are busy trying to arrange for his extradition in case he is caught.

Miss Edith Baldwin, one of popular Minot stenographer, was united in marriage Monday afternoon at the home of J. W. Cochrane, in this city to A. M. Christianson, a very prominent attorney from Towner. Rev. Morehouse from Rugby performed the ceremony.

C. H. Rudd has been re-engaged by the Minot Eagle Band as its director for the season. Rudd's friends are glad he is back.
