THE POOR FARM IS NOT NEEDED

Ward County Has No More Use For It at This Time than a Dog Has for Two Tails--Will Be a Big Bill of Expence for The Tax Payers--

Last fall the voters of Ward county voted in favor of the county commissioners' buying a poor farm for Ward county and why they did so, we cannot say. Ward county does not need a poor farm at this time any more than a dog needs two tails. Of course there are always plenty of political workers looking for such jobs as overseer of the poor farm etc. but really there is no occasion for the farm.

Now as a matter of fact, how many charges do you suppose there in the Empire of Ward? Not over thirty on the average during the past year. One of the commissioners who ought to know states that it does not cost more than $15 a month on the average to take care of a county charge. Four or five thousand dollars a year perhaps are spent for the county charges and there is a chance to curtail such expenses whenever the commissioners deem it advisable.

The commissioners are in favor of buying a 320 acre farm, if they have not already done so, and together with the needed improvements, the land will cost the county in the neighborhood of sixty dollars an acre. Supposing that the poor farm with buildings and equipments cost the county $25,000. This is a low figure. Expensive machinery must be purchased and the farm work done by inept old fellows unable to do much, or by half witted charges who know little or nothing concerning farm work. The superintendent must get a fat salary. The coal bill for the heating of the buildings will be a big item. There will be a hundred and one little expenses of which we have never dreamed. To use plain language, Ward county will be "up against it". This move could much better be used for the building of roads and bridges. We may need a poor farm some day, but Ward county could wait until she was in a better financial condition. Poor farms are always places of rendezvous for the worthless scamp who is too lazy to work, no matter how many worthy patients there are.

The poor farm will, in case the commissioners decide to buy, make a great deal more work for them, which means additional expense to the county. True the poor farm will not be taxed, being county property, but the owner of the land which will be used for the farm is paying taxes and the county will be cheated out of this amount.

The commissioners do not have to buy a poor farm, just because the people voted in favor of the proposition, for they voted merely to show the commissioners could do so if they deemed it advisable.

Later: the poor farm has been secured as we anticipated. Now watch the taxes grow.

Call at our store, please, for a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee." If real coffee disturbs your stomach, your heart, or kidneys, then try this Clover Coffee imitation. While Dr. Shoop has very closely matched Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet he has not even a single grain of real coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted grains or cereals, with Malt, Nut, etc. You will surely like Health Coffee. Sold by USTIQUE GROCERY.

John Renz, a Wayne farmer, will plant two acres of early Ohio potatoes. He always manages to market a lot of potatoes early getting fancy prices for them. Last year he marketed $96 worth spuds before harvest.

Farmers, Try This.

The farmers of North Dakota are making a great mistake in advertising for farm help. They don't go at it right. Why, we'll bet dollars to doughnuts that if you let us dictate the terms we can get you twenty farm hands apiece from the east in a week. You want to insert an advertisement something like this: "Wanted: Young man of pleasant address and gentlemanly neat appearance to accept situation on a farm. Can sleep till noon, and free horse and buggy for every dance in the neighborhood. No objection to base ball or cigarette fiends. College athletes given a preference. P. S. The farm owner and his wife will milk the cows and do the family washing while hand sits on shady side of the house and reads the latest spasms by the best known authors. Wages—One-half the proceeds for the sale of the crop, all expenses paid."

Why, you fellows don't know how to write ads. at all. You don't understand the eastern young man of today at all.

The Power of Printer's Ink.

Sears, Roebuck & Co., operate one of the largest printing establishments in the world. Their printing plant occupies a building two hundred and fifty feet long, ninety feet wide and four stories high—or about one hundred and fifty times as large as the average country printing office. They operate fifteen high speed perfecting presses, night day and the rolls of paper that pass through them in a year would reach ten times around the earth. They send out between four and five millions of their big catalogs every year—and still the merchant "does not believe in advertising" wonders why so many people send to their house for goods. Sears, Roebuck & Co. have gained their immense patronage through the power of printers' ink, and if they were suddenly deprived of this power, it is safe to say that their colossal business would bankrupted within a year.

J. A. Rcell has installed in his hardware store, the very latest improved cash register, a machine that does every thing but talk. In many ways it beats a bookkeeper all to death. There are only four like it in the state. It has no crank, but it is opened by pressing a little button which sets a small motor to working. There are six drawers and nine can be installed. Each clerk has his own drawer and at a glance the proprietor can see just how many customers each clerk waited upon during the day, how much money each clerk sales amounted to, or the total amount, and when every transaction is made, a clerk is issued bearing the date, the amount, and the No. of the clerk selling the bill. Mr. Rcell with $25 worth of checks will give an elegant Keen Kutter knife.

Dr. Hopkins was appointed last week to do all the state live stock sanitary work in this part of N. D. He was recently appointed to test all live stock at Portal shipped into Canada from the U. S. for sale purposes. The doctor is recognized as being one of the best in his profession and the Independent congratulates him upon the appointments.

Heart Strength
Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nervous Strength, or Nervous Weakness--nothing more. It is the power that makes the heart pump the blood, and it is the power that makes the brain think. It is the power that makes the muscles move, and it is the power that makes the nerves feel. It is the power that makes the life live. It is the power that makes the soul soar. It is the power that makes the spirit shine. It is the power that makes the heart strong, and it is the power that makes the heart weak. It is the power that makes the heart beat, and it is the power that makes the heart stop. It is the power that makes the heart live, and it is the power that makes the heart die. It is the power that makes the heart love, and it is the power that makes the heart hate. It is the power that makes the heart hope, and it is the power that makes the heart despair. It is the power that makes the heart believe, and it is the power that makes the heart doubt. It is the power that makes the heart trust, and it is the power that makes the heart distrust. It is the power that makes the heart obey, and it is the power that makes the heart disobey. It is the power that makes the heart submit, and it is the power that makes the heart resist. It is the power that makes the heart surrender, and it is the power that makes the heart fight. It is the power that makes the heart die, and it is the power that makes the heart live. It is the power that makes the heart love, and it is the power that makes the heart hate. It is the power that makes the heart hope, and it is the power that makes the heart despair. It is the power that makes the heart believe, and it is the power that makes the heart doubt. It is the power that makes the heart trust, and it is the power that makes the heart distrust.
