Music Very Important to Education in the Home

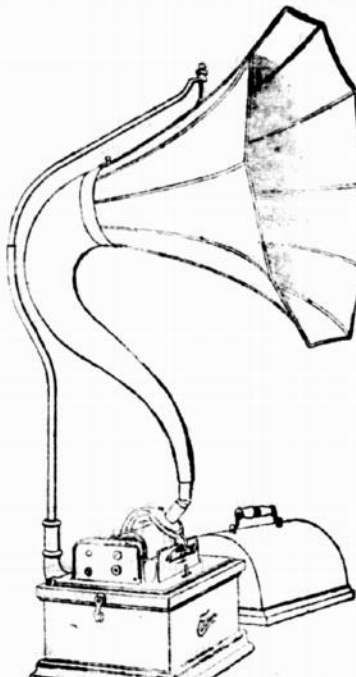

Mr. Edison says: "I want to see my phonograph in every American home." And we believe the great inventor's dream may soon be realized, for it is becoming more evident each day that the average family realizes that the world's best music as brought to them on the phonograph is essential to home culture.

SHAW AFFAID HE WOULD BE MOBBED.

Devils Lake World: Only one man of the 136 making the trip from the Twin Cities to Helena failed to alight at Devils Lake and accept of the hospitality offered them during their brief stay and that one claims he had good reasons. Prof. Thomas Shaw, agricultural expert for the Great Northern and noted throughout the entire northwest, refused to accept any of the honors tendered him and remained during the entire hour securely ensconced in his seat in the Pullman on the opposite side from the station

"Don't you care to make the auto trip?" Professor Shaw was asked by a representative of The World, who was being shown through the special train.

"This is Devils Lake, isn't it?" asked the professor as he took a hurried glance out of the window.

Upon being told that it was Professor Shaw cringed in his seat and remarked: "The home of Governor Burke. No, thanks. I am afraid I would be mobbed for daring to remonstrate with that worthy politician regarding his attitude towards the Farmers' institute." Professor Shaw was assured that though Devils Lake people felt a worthy pride in their city being the home of the chief executive of the state they did not agree with him in all of his work and that the memory of the good done in this community by the past Farmers' institute was too fresh to warrant anything but unadulterated friendship and respect for the man who had done so much towards their success.

MUSHROOM CORNS

Most Painful of All Foot Ailments. How to Cure Them.

The Mushroom corn is so called from its pitted cone top, resembling a tiny mushroom. It burrows deep into the toe and gets more inflamed than other corns. For the quick relief and cure of these and all corns and callouses the following is the most effective remedy known to science: Dissolve 2 tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give desired results.) All soreness instantly disappears and the corn or callous can be easily peeled off. It may be necessary to repeat this for a number of nights for a complete cure, but if adhered to it will surely succeed. A little olive oil rubbed on the part is very beneficial. This Calocide is a very remarkable preparation for all foot ailments and is no longer confined to doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. Bad smelling feet and tender feet need only a few treatments, likewise with inflamed bunions. This item will be welcomed by persons who have tried ineffectual powders and tablets.

tribute to the table and to the revenue of every farm. The conception that the raising of small fruits involves undue or exceptional labor, as compared with other lines of labor on farm or garden, is erroneous. Properly and intelligently pursued, the labor is as light as it is attractive, and the returns likely to be large, both in money and enjoyment. A liberal space should be given to these fruits on every farm. It will well repay the endeavors of the farmer or his wife, or of the boys and girls.

Extension Bulletin No. 16, by LeRoy Cady and K. S. Kirkpatrick, just issued from the Minnesota University Farm, offers a variety of suggestions as to the propagation of these fruits.

Breaks the record. Jamestown N. D., May 9.—The farm at the state hospital for insane has a sow that is certainly a record breaker for these parts. A short time ago a litter of twenty pigs was born at the hospital pigery, and most of them survive, a part being lost by the cold weather occurring just at that time. Last year the same sow had a litter of seventeen pigs. Steward Williams is of the opinion that her latest effort breaks the record known to him. The institution is raising a good deal of its own pork and finds hogs are an especially valuable addition to the farm productions.

Relation of Machinery and Horses.

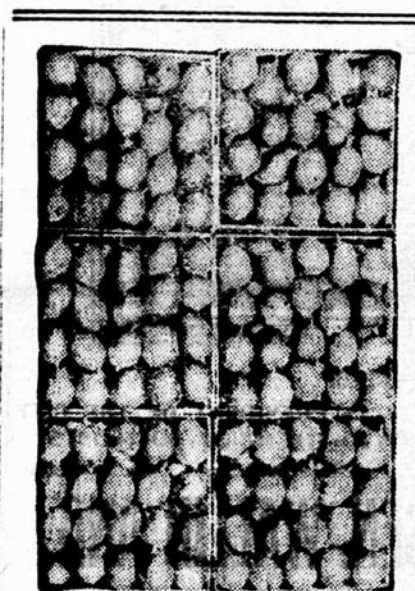

By Thomas P. Cooper, Minnesota University Farm.

Many of the smaller farms are prevented from reducing the number of horses kept on the farm, because of the fact that four-horse machinery is being used. This factor of large-sized machinery tends, on these small farms, to materially increase the cost of horse labor; as an extra horse is often kept, not because of the actual need of the farm, but because the machinery is of four-horse size. This materially decreases the hours of work per horse. On farms of eighty acres or less, there is seldom work for more than three horses. Machinery can be purchased, suitable for a three-horse team, with greater economy in the long run than the keeping of the extra horse that the large implement may be used. Generally, in such operations as require an implement that can only be operated by four horses, it is cheaper to hire the work done than to attempt to do it with the farm force. It is on farms of this size that economies are especially necessary, as horse labor will necessarily be high upon them at best.

SMALL FRUITS ON THE FARM

They Are Easily Cultivated and Profitable.

When Nature, in her distribution of fruit flavors, allotted to the Northland the strawberry, the raspberry, the blackberry, the currant and the gooseberry, and made many varieties hardy even beyond the Arctic circle, she made it impossible that they who have their dwellings here should look with envy on the showier but less appetizing fruits of the South. "Doubtless God might have made a better berry than the strawberry, but doubtless God never did." And close to the strawberry in attractive qualities are those others named. All of them are not only hardy, but so easily cultivated that they should be made to con-

OLIVE AND VICINITY.

A. L. Carpenter made a trip to the Magic City one day last week.

Oren Carpenter and mother, were seen in the city of Withamville Saturday evening. Thorwald Larson, father and Peter Erickson and wife were seen in Minot Wednesday.

The agitation for a farmers' electric rail road from Max to Minot which for a time was snowed under last winter, has taken a new start, and the farmers around Olive are up in arms as it were. A meeting will soon be called for at the Olive store and indication are that a surveying party will be in the field first part of May. The indications are that Logan will be a station on this line. Let us push the good thing along.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Browns were shopping at the Olive store last Friday.

School has started at the school in section 11 south of Olive with an enrollment of 12. An attendance of about 22 is expected. Miss Gasman is the teacher.

Bert Updyke has moved his residence about 20 rods east of the original location, and while someone thought there was politics in it, it proved to be only a straight case of progress by Bert.

Fred Toller and son, visited Sawyer last week.

James Williams of the Olive store was snow bound in Minot all one day last week.

I see in Stringtown Items last week where H. A. Cornany has a new incubator and cream separator. He also has purchased a new manure spreader, the first in this community, which may be let out on shares.

It is rumored that the wedding bells will soon ring in Stringtown for one of their popular school ma'ams. They say the ring is up for inspection at Minot now.

Miss Signa Peterson stopped on her way back to Minnesota in Stringtown for a week's visit among friends and relatives. Now Cicero, absence makes the heart grow fonder. You ought to have gotten up a little courage.

Now Ross, don't put all your work on the road running east this summer. Help some of the other boys out and you will run some show of getting elected again.

Oren Carpenter is making good use of his buzzy top these moonlight nights.

We see where Stringtown was boosting a new blacksmith shop. We have and have had a west Olive blacksmith shop, violin factory, and glove factory for sometime and we also have one of the finest merchandise stores in this part of the state.

Nye you had better take the old buggy, you have better success with it.

James Williams, the proprietor of the Olive store, made a flying trip in his new wagon to Minot. Whether he gave the Minot boys a joy ride or not, we have not heard.

Robt. La Fountain is the new first assistant at the Updyke farm.

Tom Doherty visited at the Lake front farm last Sunday. He was busy breaking the sabbath trying to sell hay.

Farming operations have started in general now as Carl Larson was seen out Saturday with a disc harrow.

Thorwald Larson has purchased a new wagon for his baby boy.

Bert Updyke was in Minot last Thursday after a load of feed, if he gets his horses fed up again, he is liable to over heat his drag again and set out another fire.

James Williams was seen in west Olive one day last week with his delivery wagon. He stopped on his way back and called on R. P. Carpenter, who has been sick for some time.

Mrs. Spokkie made a trip to the Olive store one day last week. The Cornany boys while moving their cook car from the Jacobson farm to the home place, broke one of the wheels and had to leave the car on the road.

Rev. and Mrs. Meroram, the new Presbyterian minister and wife arrived Saturday and will occupy the Fox residence in Surrey.

Mrs. Brough and children were Sunday visitors at the J. J. Larsen home.

John Winters of Norwich, was seen on our streets Sunday.

The friends of Miss Elna Dierdorff, who is attending McPherson college, will be glad to learn that she won a prize in the state declamatory contest.

LOGAN ITEMS. The Rev. W. W. Gunter will conduct service at the Becker school house at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

The dance promoted by the Logan orchestra could hardly be termed a success from either a musical or social point of view. Lack of advertising and in management was in the main responsible for the poor result.

The members of the Logan Cornet band are notified that no further practice will be held until after spring work is completed.

Many of our readers will remember a remarkable hunting exploit last fall, in which a well known believer in diversified farming was reported to have destroyed quite a number of his neighbors tame geese. We now understand that these wretched geese, not only cost badly needed votes on school questions, but that the owner is also demanding compensation.

Hunting is hardly as profitable as burnt buck brush.

The Logan baseball team are to play at Surrey on May 13th. The local band will furnish music and a basket social has been arranged for the evening. So Logan get out and visit your enterprising neighbors.

Elder Sparling of the Latter Day Saints, conducted services at the Becker school house on Sunday last. The attendance was all that could be desired.

The members of the Logan baseball club are arranging for what promises to be the most successful dance that our district has yet enjoyed. The boys wish it understood that they are not individually or collectively in any way responsible for the series of fizzles and half hearted failures, which have passed for dances recently, and are determined to convince their many friends that a real good social time can and is to be enjoyed by all on Friday, May 19th.

Two good games are promised for the afternoon and if enthusiasm and good management can earn success, it is assured them.

Our genial old time friend John Deegan, stood watching with evident interest the happy couple walking to the dreamy music of the Logan orchestra last Saturday night. He was thinking and apparently thinking hard of all he had missed in that lone bachelor's path he had trod from boyhood days, when suddenly a smile illumined his weather worn features.

"Say" he remarked, have you noticed the way all those womenfolk have got their hair stacked. Chegnor or some such style they tell me. Well, I'll bet if you could just pull out a fork full you'd find a copy of the Independent in nearly every one. But now you have the house painted John, there is no reason why you should continue to so misjudge the daughters of Eve.

Doc. Beebe and our popular Postmistress were Minot visitors last week.

Prof. Ira Oard, the celebrated violinist was in our midst for several days last week, paying the old folks a long promised visit. He delighted the many who were privileged to attend his private musical recitals.

By the way, our local Sears Roebuck is of an enterprising turn of mind. As a further attraction to the public to view his large and varied stock, we find that he now has a charming and business like lady clerk to attend to the needs of his patrons. No, boys, it is not Cora, the Post-office is her headquarters.

Mrs. F. L. Willman and Mrs. Irving were the guests of Mrs. H. C. Kuchenbecker last week end.

Jim Egan is now managing the Logan livery stable and feed barn and visitors can safely entrust their teams to his care. He has every accommodation that could be called for.

Bill Ray, who has been quarrying stone in the neighborhood of Plaza, has accepted an important position with the Soo Ry.

RAN PITCHFORK THROUGH HAND. Dodgen, N. D., May 9.—Louis Wipper, living northwest of town, had the misfortune to run a pitchfork through his left hand. Dr. Coffi accompanied Mr. Wipper to a Bismarck hospital, where the injured man is at present doing as well as could be expected.

Judge Ben Lindsay the great Juvenile Judge from Denver, spoke for two and a half hours at Valley City and kept his audience intensely interested.

Corn, of course

You surely are going to put in a few acres of corn. Remember that we have the corn cultivating and planting machinery that you want.

Corn Planters and Cultivators

We have the famous John Deere planters and cultivators. No other so good. We have the very latest in the variable drop edge feed corn planters, with both shoe and disc. Old corn growers say it's the best thing ever gotten out, of its kind. Let me show it to you.

Potato Planters

Don't plant potatoes in the old way. There's a better. We have two good kinds of potato planters, the Platt and the Champion, either one good. The price is reasonable.

Seed Corn

We have a small amount of choice Minnesota 13 seed corn for sale.
