Notice of Mortgage Sale.

Notice is hereby given that a certain mortgage executed and delivered by August A. Litfin and Martha Litfin, his wife, mortgagors, to J. J. Kann, mortgagee, dated the 12th day of November, 1909 and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Ward and State of North Dakota on the 12th day of November, 1909, and recorded in Book 132 of Mortgages at page 113 be foreclosed by a sale of the premises in such mortgage and hereinafter described, at the front door of the court house in the County of Ward and State of North Dakota, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. on the 18th day of November A. D. 1911, to satisfy the amount due upon such mortgage on the day of sale. The premises described in such mortgage and which will be sold to satisfy the same are described as follows, viz.: The southwest quarter (SW $\frac{1}{4}$) of Section twenty-one (21) in township one hundred fifty-seven (157) north of range eighty-two (82) west, And whereas it was provided in said mortgage that in the event of default being made in the payment of any part of the debt secured by said mortgage when due then and in that event the said mortgagee might if he so elect declare the whole amount of said debt so secured by said mortgage due and payable; and the said mortgagors having failed to pay the sum of \$37.80 due December 1, 1910, the said mortgagee does hereby declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage due and payable.

There will be due on such mortgage on the day of sale the sum of $224.15 plus the sum of $126.39 for and on account of interest paid by said mortgagee upon a prior mortgage upon said premises, making a total of $350.54 together with the statutory attorney's fee and costs of sale.

Dated October 4, 1911.

Halvor L. Halvorsen

Two small boys, eleven years of age, were arrested by detectives at Howe's siding for placing stones and a large piece of iron on the track. When the dangerous obstruction was discovered, it was believed that bandits were attempting to wreck No. 198. The detectives measured the boys' tracks, and located them at a school nearby. The lads tearfully explained to Judge Pollock that they just wanted to see the engine knock the stones off the track.

A SHAKEUP AT HARVEY

Many Prominent Citizens Under Arrest Charged With Violating Prohibition Law—Say Elevator Gave Beer for Each Load of Grain Bought.

Fessenden, N. D., Oct. 7.—The enforcement of the prohibition law reached its climax yesterday when Sheriff Lyness of Fessenden, went to Harvey with a posse armed to the teeth with writs and warrants of arrest.

The injunctions were against the Bank of Harvey, the Fisher Grain Elevator company, and the Reniree's grain elevator. Many alleged blind piggers were arrested, among them a woman named Mrs. Wibery, who was however, released upon her own recognizance, she being old and crippled. The other piggers are professionals.

The Bank of Harvey is charged with selling bills of lading promiscuously for quantities of liquor, kept at the railway depot for that purpose. It is claimed that the elevators gave a bottle of beer wrapped in a sack for every load of wheat they purchased. The town of Harvey is up in arms and claims that it is the spite work of other nearby towns to close up the town of Harvey and thereby reap a benefit. It is questioned if a bank can be closed for being thus indirectly in connection with illegal liquor sales.

THE VITAL ISSUES

I do not care a tinker's cuss about those vital things, concerning which the statesmen fuss and crow and flap their wings. I saw my little pile of wood, and pay up as I go, and all the world's serene and good and I am shy of woe. If men would cease to fret so hard over public ills and crimes, and tinker round their own back yard, they'd have much better times. It is a narrow, selfish view—folks who're always in a stew don't seem to do much good. I think that I do just as much to help the world along when I mow weeds and sing a Dutch or Alpine yodling song. I do as much when I produce my little roll of bills, and pay the milkman for his juice, the druggist for his pills. I've often noticed that the men who paw the air and bawl, are slow in digging up the yen when bill collectors call. I'll let the nation go its gait, I'll simply let slide; I could not keep the blamed thing straight, "no odds how hard I tried; I'll let the statesmen blow the foam from lips that never rest, and I'll just tinker round at home, and do my little best."

DIED FROM HEART FAILURE

Williston, N. D., Oct. 10.—The 17-year-old son of John Slind, living 12 miles northwest of here and a little east of Squire, attended a church social in the neighborhood last Saturday and while there borrowed a bicycle which he rode a little about the place. When he got off his companions noticed that he dropped suddenly to the ground, and as he did not get up they ran to his assistance and were astonished to find he was dead.

Less than a year ago this same young man was driving with his 11-year-old sister to the church where the girl was to be confirmed, when she suddenly fell forward dead. Heart failures seemed to be the cause in both cases. The loss to the Slind family has cast a gloom over the whole neighborhood and the family has the sympathy of all, as the children were promising and loved by all who knew them.

THE MAN WHO LAUGHS.

In some retail stores are clerks who cringe before customers, whom they foolishly think are superior to them because of being in different lines of work. A clerk who does this had best seek other employment. There are no degrees in useful labor. The ditch-digger is of just as much value to the community as the banker—something the doubting banker would discover were there no ditch-diggers to do that work. Be his occupation what it may, he is equal to any of those who follow the same result in silent sullenness. He will do more in the same time—he will do it better—he will persevere longer.—Ex.

Germs Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

We have had experience with many remedies for skin trouble but have never seen such remarkable cures as those from D. D. D. Prescription. Instant relief from the very first application. We are so confident that D. D. D. will reach your case that it will cost you nothing if the very first full size bottle fails to make good every claim. If you have skin trouble of any kind, we certainly advise you to drop in and investigate the merits of D. D. D. anyway. We know that D. D. D. will help you.

KEEPS CROWS OUT OF FIELD

Piece of Tin Arranged on Top of Pole So That Every Breeze Will Make Loud Noise.

Every farmer who has tried everything in the scarecrow line without effect should give this device a trial, writes John Graham in the Nebraska Farm Journal. The upright pole is eight to ten feet high. To the cross stick is attached a piece of tin one foot wide, by one and one-half feet long, wired about six inches from the pole in such a way as to rap the upright at every breeze. Three "tin rappers" are sufficient in an acre field.

How Make Brooder.

A California man designed a brooder and any poultry farmer who is handy with tools can make one for himself. The lower edges of the sides are cut away to permit of the passing of air so the occupants of the brooder do not suffocate. In each side, too, there is a little door that can be opened to permit of the ingress or egress of the baby chicks. The roofs are hinged, and in each side is a hinged "hovering" board, as it is called. The under side of this board is covered with tufts of feathers and the little chicks enter by the door, or are lifted in through the top and snuggle into the feathers as they would snuggle under the wings of the mother hen. A glass window in the end of the brooder enables the owner to look in without lifting either of the lids.

Use of Soiling Crops.

The use of corn, clover and alfalfa as soiling crops is a simple matter. They can be cut and used as needed. Peas, oats, millet, barley and rape and various other crops are very valuable when pastures are falling. None of them yield more green feed than the staple crops of corn, clover and alfalfa, so there is no particular advantage to be gained by growing them except as a patch crop between the regular crops in case of failure. No complicated system is needed to supplement dry pastures.

Summer Legumes.

Summer legumes are almost indispensable for maintaining swine, dairy cows, work horses and fowls. Such crops as cow peas, soy beans and vetch should be planted on every farm in addition to their feeding value which is sufficient to commend them. They assist in maintaining the fertility of the soil.

Second Harvest of Berries Now On—Vac Barta Brings Fine Sample to This Office—Strawberries and Blackberries in Bloom

Vac Barta, who lives three miles north of Minot, brot a sample of some fine red raspberries which he picked from his patch on Oct. 7. They are of the second crop. He reports his strawberries and blackberries in blossom, and brot in a blackberry plant to prove his assertion. He does not expect the other fruit to ripen. Vac has picked several quarts of raspberries however, and considers them a rare treat for this season of the year.

CLEAN MONEY.

North Dakota is a good state in which to live. Health and wealth are given for modest effort. Money made from North Dakota's broad acres does not bear the taint of human suffering. No overworked, underfed, uneducated children are forced to work to gain North Dakota's dollars. No sweatshop women and consumptive men are driven long hours to earn dividends for North Dakota's business men. Human suffering is not a part of the gaining of a competence in this great state. The broad spirit and freedom of the prairies is ours. Clean vigorous work, under blue skies and in the open fields brings health and wealth and the pleasures of life to North Dakotans.

DECISION MAKES

DRAFTS ILLEGAL

Shipments of liquor in interstate commerce, cannot be collected for by the method of issuing a sight draft on the bill of lading for collection by banks at point of destination. This is the decision handed down by Judge Amidon last week.
