

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it. In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work. BOUGHT HIDE, HOLDS COW.

Also the Calf That Came Afterward. New Suit is Threatened.
Dow, Ill.—A countryside version here of the "Merchant of Venice," with a cow in the role of Antonio, still lacks a Portia to settle the controversy.

Philip Wiegand, a farmer, found his cow was ill and was afraid she would die. Hoping to avoid a total loss, he sold the animal's hide to James Hawkins, a neighbor and friend, for $7.50. Hawkins was to take the animal to his farm and kill it, and Wiegand was to have the carcass to feed his hogs. But the cow began to get better in her new home, so that Hawkins was convinced she would not die, after all. He doctored the animal, with the result that she recovered, and a few days ago she gave birth to a calf.

Wiegand immediately appeared and demanded that the cow with her calf be returned to him.

"I sold you only her hide," he said to his neighbor. "All the rest belongs to me."

"I bought the skin, and all that's inside it goes to me," retorted Hawkins. Hawkins refused to surrender the cow and calf, which, he says, he is holding as security for his investment in the cow's skin. Each has threatened to sue the other in the courts.

ISLAND SEEKS ANNEXATION.

American Inhabitants of Isle of Pines Will Petition Wilson.

Pittsburgh.—Announcement has been made by Thomas J. Keenan of this city, president of the American Association of the Isle of Pines, that a petition directed to President Wilson and the senate, requesting annexation of the island, would be put in circulation in this country and the Isle of Pines.

The petition states that 6,000 Americans who reside or have property in this Isle of Pines wish to have action taken to make the island a permanent possession of the United States. The Isle of Pines, the petition says, has become a distinctively American colony, citizens of the United States owning more than 95 per cent of the land and making up a majority of the population.

INVENTS FOLDING WING AEROPLANE

Englishman to Build New Type
In This Country.

New York.—Garnet Holmes, an electrical engineer of London, who is visiting this country, announces that he has completed and flown successfully a new type of aeroplane, which meets the problem of variable surface as the swallow meets it, and that he is in America to build an ocean flying machine of the same design. The location for its erection is Racine, Wis.

As Mr. Holmes explains his device, it is a monoplane with wings pivoted like the blades of a pair of scissors, flying with pivot end foremost. In full flight the wings close backward, like the swallow's, decreasing resistance. The folding is accomplished by the force of air resistance. In rising and alighting at slow speed, when more sustaining surface is needed, the wings are fully extended by a clutch worked by the motor.

The power plant is an engine built by Mr. Holmes, which, he says, develops forty horsepower, or one horsepower per pound of weight—a single cylinder, double acting gasoline motor. The experimental machine, he says, carried one person only, but the latest model is to carry aviator and two passengers and to be equipped with seats. He is confident that it will achieve a speed of more than 100 miles an hour, equaling that of the lightest and swiftest existing racing monoplanes with rigid wings, which carry no passengers. With the completion of this machine Mr. Holmes believes transatlantic flight more than possible.

OFF ON LONG HIKE.

Man Sixty-four Years Old to Cover Four Thousand Miles.

Washington, Pa.—Charles Studebaker of this town, sixty-four years old, started on a 4,000 mile journey on foot and pushing before him a cart bearing 865 pounds of luggage.

Studebaker has taken a trip of this sort before.

He took the national turnpike to Cumberland, Md. From there he will proceed to Philadelphia and then over the old York road to New Jersey and into New York, where he will stay a few days and then push on to Buffalo and around the lakes to South Bend, Ind., and from there to Chicago. He expects to return to Washington about Nov. 1 next. He will be accompanied by an intelligent fox terrier.

Hiding In Oven, Is Burned.

Nashua, Ia.—Lewis Porthum, eight-year-old son of W. H. Porthum, desiring to play at hiding from his mother, who had left the house for a few minutes, backed into the big oven of the kitchen range and sat down. He did not know that his mother had started a fire.

Soon, however, he felt the heat. Then he tried to get out. His arms were in a position that held him fast. The oven was growing hotter every minute. His mother came in response to his cries and rescued him.
