

Maine Monument Unveiling In New York City and Boy Who Released Mantle at the Ceremonies.

Photos by American Press Association.

Here is shown a general view of the unveiling of the Maine memorial monument, erected in New York city in honor of the brave men who died when the old battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor. The monument was erected by popular subscription at a cost of $182,000. The North Atlantic fleet, headed by the Dreadnought Wyoming, was ordered to New York for the unveiling of the monument, which took place Memorial day. The republic of Cuba sent its cruiser, the Cuba, to represent that nation. Big parades and impressive ceremonies attended the unveiling. In the insert in this illustration is a photograph of George Hearst, son of William Randolph Hearst, who pulled the cord which released the fastenings of the monument's mantle and revealed the memorial to view.

ALIEN LAWS FOR CONGRESS ALONE

States Should Yield This Privilege, Says Bartholdt.

INTRODUCES RESOLUTION.

Famous Peace Advocate Urges Amendment of Constitution to Place Sole Power of Alien Legislation in Hands of Federal Government. "Lack of Power Long a Defect."

Washington.—To make it impossible in the future for a single state by the disregard of an international treaty to endanger the peaceful relations existing between the United States and a foreign power Representative Richard Bartholdt, a Republican, of Missouri, noted as a peace advocate, introduced in the house a resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution.

In explanation of his resolution Mr. Bartholdt cited the delicate situation in which this country and Japan find themselves as a result of the enactment of the California alien land law.

Here is the text of the Bartholdt amendment: "The congress shall have the exclusive power to legislate on questions affecting the rights and privileges of citizens of other countries residing in the United States and the relations of the United States with other countries."

The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Bartholdt in an interview stated that the weakest point in the constitution was its failure to give the federal government power to make treaties which it can promise to carry out. He said:

"Long before the California trouble was even thought of the importance of

SCATTERED ASHES OF POET.

Destined For Flames, Wind Claims Remains of Joaquin Miller.

Oakland, Cal.—The ashes of Joaquin Miller, "the poet of the Sierras," were scattered among the flames of a funeral pyre built by the poet's own hands. The ceremony was held at the Miller home, the Heights, in the picturesque hills near Oakland. The Bohemian club of San Francisco had charge of the rites, which were witnessed by more than 500 persons, including the poet's widow and daughter, Juanita, and many old time friends.

The services, short and impressive, were in accordance with Miller's dying wishes. At their conclusion Colonel John P. Irish of Oakland mounted the steps of the pyre.

"This," said Colonel Irish, "is not an occasion for mourning, but for rejoicing. We are here not to mourn the death of Joaquin Miller, but to rejoice that through his genius he still lives."

Colonel Irish then applied a torch to the oil soaked fagots on the pyre. As the flames shot up he took the copper urn containing the poet's ashes and gave them to the fire. Instantly a jealous wind whipped the ashes from the flames and bore them away.

SPOOK PROPHECY FAILS.

Millionaire Dies Fourteen Years Before "Ghost Advice" Date.

Denver.—Alonzo Thompson, eighty-one years old, millionaire, spiritualist and war time auditor of Missouri, who believed ghostly advices that he could not die before he was ninety-five years old, is dead. For six weeks Mr. Thompson's belief in his imagined span of life supported him in resisting pneumonia and an incidental operation for removal of a rib. A year ago his declaration that his "guides" told him his wife and son were conspiring to get his fortune led to Mrs. Thompson's divorce decree.

The millionaire, although three times married, was planning to follow his "guides" into a fourth matrimonial venture.

CHILD'S NEW MOUTH SURGICAL TRIUMPH

Flesh Grafted From Abdomen Forms Lips and Chin.

Baltimore.—After many weeks of treatment the rebuilding of a little girl's chin and the restoration of her mouth to normal proportions after they had been terribly distorted by burns have been completed at the Johns Hopkins hospital here.

The child's clothing had taken fire while she was playing about a gas stove, and the flesh on her face was seared to such an extent that when the wound healed only a small hole was left where the mouth had been. So small was the opening that the little finger could be inserted with difficulty. Nothing was left of the chin but the bone and a covering of scarred flesh.

The child's mother offered all the skin necessary for grafting, but the surgeon decided on another plan.

A large flap of flesh was cut from the child's abdomen, one side being left attached to the body. Then a slit was made in the arm of the patient sufficiently large to allow the insertion of the raised end of the flesh of the abdomen. This was done to establish circulation in the abdominal flesh.

After weeks that part of the flesh attached to the abdomen was cut and the child's arm with the flap of flesh growing to it was raised and the part that formerly had been joined to the abdomen was joined to the lips and chin from which the seared flesh had been cut. For weeks blood flowed from the child's arm into the bridge of flesh from the abdomen and then into the chin and lips.

When circulation had been established the child's arm was cut from her chin and allowed to return to its normal place.

The new flesh was then attached to the chin. A small hole had been cut in it to allow the child to be fed. Later a mouth was cut in the mass of flesh and then the chin was rounded out.

When the child was discharged from the hospital she could eat, talk and move her jaws as well as any of her companions. It is only upon close examination that the new chin can be discovered.

SLOW ACCEPTING FORTUNE.

Waits Hours Before Opening a Cablegram Delivered to Him.

St. Paul.—When an insistent telegraph messenger pounded loudly on his door after exhausting the electric bell J. D. Haley dragged himself from bed and responded. He left the telegram on the table until the customary breakfast hour, when he broke the envelope.

The cablegram informed Mr. Haley that he had fallen heir to $100,000 in the division of the estate of a London relative. Haley is an insurance agent.

Argentine Export Tax on Beef.

Buenos Aires.—The council of ministers has decided to submit to the national congress a proposal to apply a tax on the exportation of beef in excess of a maximum fixed by the government. An official of the ministry of agriculture has begun an examination of the accounts of the refrigerating plants.

Carl Bartleson, the Minot contractor, was awarded the contract for building Portal's $27,000 brick school building. Mr. Bartleson also has the contract for building the Flaxton school building.

The Soo experimental farm at Flaxton is showing excellent results.

Major Person has sown a good sized field of alfalfa on his farm west of the city. The major says nearly every Wisconsin farmer grows alfalfa, which is now a foot high and will soon be ready for the first cutting. There was a time when the farmers of the Badger state that they could not grow alfalfa. They now make a practice of sowing a little of the seed with other crops. This inoculates the soil and makes it easy to get a stand. He believes every North Dakota farmer should stay everlastingly with this crop until they succeed in getting a nice field of it.

Prof. Ladd, North Dakota's prominent pure food commissioner, has issued a bulletin condemning certain brands of chicken soup sold in the state. He insists that some of the soup should be labeled rice soup, with chicken flavor.

Someone has asked who Watkins is. He's the guy that chased the devil out of Devils Lake—and incidentally caused the druggists of that city to surrender their permits.—Velva Journal.

Shelly B. Miller writes from Westgate, Cal., where he is engaged in the newspaper business. He says: "I note a marked improvement in the typographical appearance of your paper of May 8. We are enjoying delightful weather, also all sorts of vegetables and strawberries. No end of roses and beautiful flowers with the grand old ocean only three miles away."

The Minot draymen have made a protest to the city commission. They desire to file bonds instead of paying licenses. A number have already paid licenses for the ensuing year.

E. Ellison of the Fair store, has been called to Decorah, Iowa, by the illness of an uncle, John Badne. He will be absent two weeks.

Minot Fats are Challenged. The Bismarck Busters, headed by Col. Ben Whitehead, have challenged the Minot Fats to a baseball contest. Col. Dank Greenleaf may get his "Colts" lined up and tour the southwestern part of the state. The game at Bismarck would be umpired by Gov. Hanna himself.

Ness Given Light Sentence. B. J. Ness, found guilty at Bismarck of attempted bribery, was given about the lightest sentence the court could impose on him, a fine of $500 or 30 days in the county jail.

Mayor Gilseth of Mohall will fix the mosquitoes. He has ordered oil to be poured in all the pot holes about the city.

REPRESENTATIVE RICHARD BARTHOLDT.

our national government with regard to legislation by independent states affecting the rights and privileges of noncitizens or citizens of other countries or treaty rights of other countries was felt to be a serious defect in our scheme of government. The controversy with Japan has simply made this defect (a result of the compromise which made the adoption of the constitution possible) an acute question.

"If we are really a nation with a big 'N' and not merely a federation of states the power to legislate on such matters should be reserved to congress exclusively, and the constitutional amendment which I propose provides for just that and nothing else.

"One of the most important functions of every government is to preserve the peace. In fact, this is one of the cardinal reasons why governments are instituted among men, but how can our own national government succeed in this great mission when any state by its own independent action can cause trouble with foreign nations whenever its legislators see fit to do so? There ought not to be any objection to the proposed amendment on the part of any state.

"The national government is obliged to make the cause of any state its own, so that the action of an individual state can involve the whole nation in war, and in return for this protection it is but fair, it seems, that the national government should have exclusive power of legislation in matters affecting our international relations."

TO HAVANA IN AEROPLANE.

Flight From Key West Gains Aviator Rosillo $10,000 Prize.

Havana.—Domingo Rosillo, the Cuban aviator, arrived here in his aeroplane from Key West, having made the flight of ninety miles in two hours and twenty-five minutes.

The city council of Havana had offered a prize of $10,000 to any aviator accomplishing the flight and sent a cruiser and two gunboats to patrol the route.

Rosillo approached the city flying at an altitude of 2,000 feet. He then wheeled toward the west and landed at Camp Columbia. He experienced no difficulties during his flight. The winds were light, and there was only a slight haze.
