COMBINE PASTURE AND GRAIN FOR HOGS

Hogs on Pasture at North Dakota Experiment Station.

Pork to be made cheaply should be made quickly. Forage crops furnish the cheapest summer feed for hogs. However, the pasture needs to be supplemented with some grain to secure the most satisfactory gains. The hogs will make more rapid gains on a combination of pasture and grain than on either alone.

In the North Dakota pork production contest it was found that hogs could be made to weigh over 200 pounds in seven months, and pasture formed a part of the ration. Winter rye makes the earliest pasture, but if it is not planted last fall it is too late now. Brome grass makes a good spring pasture. Alfalfa is one of the best pasture plants for hogs. It can be used from spring to fall. Of the annual pasture plants rape is the best. It can be sown early in the spring, and if it is not pastured too close will furnish forage the whole summer. It is often advisable to sow the rape with some grain as oats, barley and peas, sowing a bushel of oats, a bushel of peas and two to four pounds of rape per acre.

For fattening the hogs plant a field of squaw corn. Plant it about the 15th of May, and it will be ready for turning the hogs into about August 15. The hogs should have some green food when on the corn. Alfalfa or rape are the best. It was found at the Iowa experiment station that hogs made better gains when hogging down corn than when it was husked and fed to them. Plenty of clean drinking water should be provided at all times. Plan to have the young pigs dropped not later than some time in April and then push them till ready for market by feeding them on pasture and some grain feed till the corn is ready, then feed them on corn and pasture. If skim milk can be had the hogs will return a good price for it. Screenings can often be fed the hogs. If made up largely of pigeon grass they are about as valuable as corn.

In the pork production contest the main feeds used were corn, oats, screenings, shorts, barley, pasture and skim milk. The average cost of the gains was 3¼ cents a pound. It is interesting, too, to note that the average weight of the hogs in the 24 litters that stood highest was 212 pounds at 213 days, or a pound a day from the time they were dropped till seven months old. These gains were made on the feed enumerated above.

GREEDY HABIT AMONG HORSES

Good Plan is to Arrange Feed Box So That Oats are Accessible in Very Small Quantities.

Some horses, like some men, injure themselves by eating too fast. Some horses are also great wasters of feed. The greedy habit can be broken in horses in a number of ways. One good plan is to place a number of smooth stones about the size of hens' eggs in the bottom of the box and in turning these over in search for feed, more time will be consumed in chewing what he already has in his mouth. Still another way is to provide feed boxes like the one shown, writes Chester Hayes of Fillmore county, in the Nebraska Farm Journal. The oats are put in a hopper and are accessible to the horse only as he keeps them flaked away from the passage through which they come. This opening may be made very narrow.

TEACHER TRAINING IN THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

By request I am sending in a mid-monthly teacher training report for Ward county, hoping it may reach as many interested people as the previous article did, and desiring that it arouse as much interest. Continuing my article in topical form, we have:

Third—People have been brought closer together, where before there was no common ground; neighborhoods have become better acquainted, and troublesome divisions are being done away with.

Fourth—The church is beginning to feel results. Already teachers are beginning to come forward with better training and more enthusiasm for the work. This means more efficient teachers, a stronger hold on the minds of the people, and better work for the children. The present fifty per cent rate will soon be a thing of the past and a far better per cent rate will take its place for the better and in the interests of efficiency.

This will be continued two more topics at my next writing. This writing I am to give you a special report of District No. 3 and 4.

District No. 3, comprising all Sawyer, Logan, Willis and Freedom Township Sunday schools:

| No. Classes. | No. Enr'd. |
|-----------------------------|------------|
| Sawyer Congregational.....1 | 17 |
| Logan Union.....1 | 13 |
| Total, Dist. 3.....2 | 30 |

District No. 4, comprising all Surrey, McKinley and Tatman Township Sunday schools:

This district, I regret to say, has not a teacher training class. Why I know not, but it remains the only district in Ward county that has not been reached and bettered by the teachers' training work. Wake up, No. 4, let us see who will be the first to cast off the barriers in your district and make preparations to prepare your teachers of the future, for the greatest service man can accomplish. "Thou that teacheth another, teacheth thou not thyself?" During the past two weeks I have received helpful information in regard to two classes.

This will be continued in about two weeks in the Independent. I hope to make the next article greater in length. Let us one and all, if we are in Sunday school work, wake up; let us resolve to not miss a single convention of institute and let us make Ward a hummer. What are you, a wide-awake or a drone? Let us get busy, and there is no better way to show that you really are alive than to start a teacher training class and help your teachers and scholars to become efficient. Remember that my duty is to aid you all I can and any questions you may wish to ask in regard the work will be gladly answered.

Yours respectfully,
FRED W. GRONINGER,
T. T. Supt., Ward Co.,
Burlington, N. D.

Will John J. Lee Keep His Promises?

Prior to his election to the office of Sheriff of Ward County in 1904, and during his four years in office he demonstrated that he will not.

At the very threshold of his political career, his mental processes disclosed unequalled elasticity, a disregard for penal statutes, a willingness to violate his oath of office, a desire to ignore his pre-election promises, and a disposition to repudiate his moral obligations.

Section 8588 of the Penal Code of this state for the year 1905, the same being the law of the State of North Dakota since 1877, and relating to crimes against the elective franchise, provides, "OFFERS OF OFFICE, HOW PUNISHED. Every person who, being a candidate at any election, offers or agrees to appoint or procure the appointment of any particular person or persons to office, as an inducement or consideration to any person to vote for, or to procure or aid in procuring the election of such candidate, is guilty of a misdemeanor." (Penal Code 1877, Sec. 59; Penal Code 1899, Sec. 6858; Penal Code 1905, Sec. 8588.)

This is a continued story. It will give one reason and then some, why he will not be mindful of his obligations. Watch this space, reserved by W. S. Shaw. (Pol. Adv.)
