Local News

Due bills from Smallwood Grocery Co. accepted same as cash by the Grov Clothing Co.

Duck hunters are still bringing in bags of the birds, but the season is now of short duration.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Larson have returned from Montana where they spent the summer months. Mrs. Larson's health is much improved.

Hal Hussey and family have moved to this city from Des Lacs, their children having entered school. They will return to their farm in the summer.

H. S. Halley, the old reliable shoe repairer, is still on the job, at the corner of Ramstad and East Second streets. Work done at reasonable prices and right on time.

The R. W. DuVall stock of harnesses, blankets, robes, suit cases, etc., has recently been enlarged, giving Mr. DuVall one of the very finest stores of its kind in North Dakota.

Wm. Gibb Jr., auditor of Mountrail county, who was operated upon for appendicitis a month ago, so far recovered that Monday he was removed to the home of his sister, Mrs. C. F. Truax.

Mrs. D. A. Dinne, who has been ill for some time, is receiving medical attention at a Chicago hospital, where it is hoped her condition will improve without the necessity of an operation.

Wm. West, the veteran G. N. engineer, returned from a week's hunting trip near Devils Lake. His party secured 27 geese and "Bill" managed to bring several nice honkers to the ground himself.

W. S. Young, the Surrey banker, was in the city a short time Wednesday evening. Mr. Young reports the banking business flourishing and the good people of Surrey in a prosperous condition generally.

Jas. H. O'Brien of Norwich and Maude Ross of Logan, N. D., were married at the parsonage by Rev. Wm. Sparling, Nov. 4. They expect to make their future home near Genoa, where Mr. O'Brien expects to farm.

C. A. Jennejohn, from north of the city, grew 900 bushels of choice potatoes on five acres. Several of them, weighing from 2 1/2 to 3 3/4 pounds and measuring 9 1/2 to 11 inches long, are on exhibition at the real estate office of Brush-McWilliams Co.

L. V. Parker, the bacteriologist, warns the people of Minot to boil the city water before using it, owing to trouble with the filtration plant. Mr.

Parker watches the water supply of the city closely. His warning should be heeded.

When you read this paper, just stop and ask yourself the question if your subscription is paid. If not, don't neglect to send in the amount, or better still, bring it in. We want to have a little visit with you, anyway.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pennwell of Logan were shopping in Minot Friday. Mr. Pennwell is doing well. Three years ago he started raising horses, and bought a few cheap colts. This year he sold $1200 worth of horses and has eight of the best ones left. Besides, he has a nice bunch of cattle.

A Minot young woman, who voted on the north side at Tuesday's election, was handed besides the ballot for state superintendent of public instruction and county superintendent of schools, the one pertaining to woman suffrage, by the obliging judge. She handed the latter back, but regretted later that she didn't take advantage of her opportunity and slip in a vote for her cause.

E. A. Aspinwall and wife returned Saturday from Barr, Mont., where they have been living on their valuable homestead for the past two years. They were accompanied home by Oz Elliott, who has a homestead near the Aspinwall farm. Mr. Aspinwall considers his 320 acre farm worth every cent of $10,000 and says there is no finer farming land in the west than around Barr.

G. D. Colcord spent Saturday and Sunday in Grand Forks conferring with Edgar Richter of Larimore and Norman Black, manager of the Times-Herald Company, relative to matters pertaining to the North Dakota Press Association and the annual winter meeting, which will be held at Fargo early in January. Arrangements were made to call a meeting of the officers of the press association at Minot in the near future. Will E. Holbein, former secretary of the association, attended the Grand Forks meeting.

The Minot stores are doing a remarkably large business. Every day, hundreds of shoppers, many of them from a hundred or more miles away, visit the city in order to make their selections from the large and excellent stocks of merchandise carried by the Minot merchants. In this issue, you will note a number of very interesting advertisements. Read them and then visit the stores. It will pay you.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Buettner of Norwich were Minot shoppers Tuesday. Mr. Buettner is the "village smithy" at Norwich and there isn't a more capable workman in the state. He was born in Germany, residing there until he grew to manhood. He knows what war means as he was sixteen years old at the time of the Franco-Prussian war. He is of the opinion that Germany will be defeated in the end but realizes that this will be a long, bloody war. "The Germans are no cowards," Mr. Buettner remarked.

County Commissioner Peter Vandenoever returned from a visit at his old home at Dexter, Minn. "Pete" lived for a good many years in the vicinity of that place, where he has a host of old time friends. On his return, he hunted geese near Cando and brot back a couple of fine specimens. Mr. Vandenoever never realized until this visit what a difference there is between the quality of grain raised around Dexter and in North Dakota. He says our horses would hardly eat the oats grown on the $125 Minnesota land.

J. E. Joseph and family of Surrey have removed to Barnum, Minn. Mrs. Walsh has returned from an extended visit with relatives in Minnesota and Iowa.

P. L. Hodge, the well known grain man, has returned from a week's visit in Minneapolis, Grand Forks and Fargo.

Christmas is only seven weeks away. The time is none too early for Xmas advertising and shopping. Get into the game early and reap the reward.

R. W. Jones, a prominent farmer, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. Mr. Jones was engaged in the coal business in Minot for many years.

Herman Kunkle was in from North Dakota today on business. The first of the year he will give us another egg report and he says it will be some report.

Miss Mabel Lokensgard of Sawyer, daughter of County Commissioner Olaf Lokensgard, left today for Madison, Minn., where she will attend the Lutheran College, of which her uncle is superintendent.

The Reporter complains because the government has bought three automobiles for President Wilson at a total cost of $20,000. Perhaps when Uncle Sam learns of this dissatisfaction, he will straightaway send them back.

C. E. Drescher is in from Surrey today. He will leave Wednesday for his home at Lordsburg, Calif. He would like to tarry longer in North Dakota's salubrious climate, but urgent business calls him west.

Edward McKone, who has been in the west for several years, surprised his mother, Mrs. Peter McKone, by returning unexpectedly Sunday. Mr. McKone formerly resided in this vicinity and many old friends are glad to see him again.

A. R. Thompson, after transacting business here, returned to his home at Thompson, Alta., Tuesday, where he is postmaster, merchant and the "whole cheese." He visited relatives at Lakota. Mr. Thompson was formerly employed in the Minot postoffice.

Curtis W. Green and family of Lignite visited friends in Minot and Burlington, the former home. Mr. Green is doing well on his Lignite farm, some of his wheat averaging 27 bushels. Twenty acres of corn averaged 60 bushels, the ears being nice and solid.

Carl T. Hauge and family have moved to this city from southwest of Minot. Mr. Hauge has lived on the same farm for the past thirty years. He has worked hard and intends to enjoy a well earned rest. He is among our most successful of the old pioneers.

E. L. Morrow, alderman from the First ward in Kenmare, visited Minot today to bring down the election returns. Mr. Morrow "fraternized" with the Ward county editors during their convention at Kenmare last summer and won a host of friends by his genial ways.

North Dakotans never enjoyed nicer fall weather than we have had this year. Not a storm, while snows have been reported all around us. Very little fuel has been burned and up until a week ago, green stuff were used from our gardens. Farmers have done an immense lot of fall plowing.

Saturday night was Hallowe'en. Good boys stayed at home and quietly studied their Bible lesson for the Sunday school the day following. A few mischief makers were out however, playing innocent pranks. Boys are not as bad as they were thirty years ago. Perhaps the world is growing better and perhaps President Rudd's appeal had something to do with it.

Norman Black, the general manager of the Times-Herald Co., of Grand Forks, tells this one: A candidate for office in the eastern part of the state who wanted to be congenial but didn't know how, met a voter and inquired: "Vell, how is your mudder, not that I give a 'tam' but I shust vant to make conversations mit you."

Burlington.
 Mr. Spire is an enthusiastic breeder of choice Guernsey cattle, and his fine farm on North Prairie is the mecca of all lovers of fine blooded stock who visit this section.

T. Rohe, the genial insurance agent of Minot, was in town transacting business Wednesday.

Eugene Lamphere has raised his residence, adding another story and built on a large addition. Upon completion he will have a nice comfortable home.

John Perlicheck has bought the Dan Conan residence that stood opposite the school house and moved it to his lot near the Burlington city mine, and carpenters are now engaged in building an addition to it.

This will be a decided improvement to this quarter of the town.

William Marshall, whose recent marriage is chronicled elsewhere in these columns, came over to the town hall election day obedient to the behests of his now better half, and cast his ballot for woman suffrage (we presume), with as good grace as any of us old hands at the game.

Hallowe'en passed off very quietly, only a few pranks were perpetrated by the mischievous youths.

Messrs. C. A. Bugge and Joe Jacobson returned from a duck hunting expedition to the hill country Sunday evening with the finest bag of mallards we have seen this season. Out of 135 ducks shot on the trip 80 were mallards. Before distributing them among their friends the ducks were photographed.

The Burlington friends of John Seaverson, who has a large cattle ranch in the hills district, are sorry to learn of the loss of his barn during the fierce prairie fire that swept that section this week.

Birger Swanson, 46 years old, 3521 North Hermitage avenue, a foreman employed by the Chicago Surface Lines, was fatally injured last evening when the front porch at his home collapsed, precipitating him to the ground. His skull was fractured and he died early today at the Alexian Brothers' hospital.

The above, clipped from a Chicago paper of last week's issue, records the death of a brother of C. J. Swanson, who owns the large Kelley ranch up the Mouse. Upon receipt of the telegram conveying the sad intelligence of his brother's death, Mr. Swanson left at once for Chicago, where he arrived in time to attend the funeral.

Mr. Swanson informs us that his brother had been employed for twenty-two years with the street railway company of Chicago and that he leaves a wife and four children. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Swanson unite in extending to them their heartfelt sympathy.

E. A. Madsen, accompanied by Cliff Miller and Joe Pirkil, left Tuesday for Raymond, Montana, where Mr. Madsen has recently established a large general store. The main object of the visit at this time is to attend the sale of town lots at Raymond Friday. Messrs. Miller and Pirkil are merely going along to get a look at the country.

Miss Susan Phillips of St. Henry's was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ned Galvin, the fore part of the week.

Election day passed off very quietly in Burlington. Everyone was interested more or less in the outcome and the vote this year was the heaviest ever polled in this precinct. Ninety-seven ballots were cast and the election clerks were busy until an early hour Wednesday tallying the score. There seems to be a prevailing tendency to split the ticket these days; very few straight ballots being cast. Barton and Nedrelo, tied with 38 votes. Women's suffrage received 45 votes for to 45 against. Seven women participated in the non-partisan school election.

Travelers over the road leading west from Minot may thank John Ehr for the generosity and public spiritedness manifested by him in repairing the bridge across the coulee near his barn. For months this bridge has been a source of annoyance and of late a positive menace to the traveling public. Finally, disgusted at the niggardly policy of the town board, last Saturday John set men and teams at work and graded up the road leading to and over the bridge and now one can get to Minot with one thing less to grate upon his sensibilities. It is positively shameful the way the valley road has been neglected by the board of Harrison township. There are innumerable places in this much traveled highway that cause much annoyance to travelers and damage to vehicles. If the execrations and maledictions of a righteously indignant traveling public avail anything there are those who will be able to warm their shins at the shrine of Lucifer in the hereafter.

We had already prepared a beautiful obituary on the life and works of the Logan correspondent but his reappearance upon the scenes of this mundane sphere has brought our labors to naught. However, we apprehend the good brother is of a more chastened and contrite spirit, now that he has had time to reflect upon the futility of booming his neck of the woods to the disparagement of Burlington on the Soo.

In another column will be found the record of momentous doings in Burlington as described by our assistant. Our multifarious duties has made the employment of an assistant scribe a matter of imperative necessity.

ibault is the oldest nursery in the state of Minnesota, having been in operation since 1864. Mr. Burns, who represents the company in this section of the state, is a gentleman of pleasing personality and perfectly reliable in every way.

Frank Ratti, brother-in-law of Jessie Stringer, left Saturday for his old home in England.

Jesse Stringer has been engaged to run the hoist at Davis this season.

The Independent in a recent issue stated that Mr. Hardy of Surrey, afflicted by blindness, had gone to Velva to be healed by a spiritualist medium. Mrs. Anna Sheehan wishes us to correct the above statement in that Dr. Gentry of Chicago, who had charge of the healing, is not a spiritualist, in fact is much opposed to that form of faith, so called. Dr. Gentry is one of the leading exponents of the Apostolic form of religious faith. The Pentecostal members are justly incensed at the implication of spiritualism in connection with their teachings.

Martin Lazarus, thirteen year old son of Andrew Lazarus, living on the Divide, is one of the contestants in the Ward county corn growing contest. Martin had a fine yield of corn that will go better than 30 bushels per acre, despite the fact that a neighbor's cows ate the tops off upon three separate occasions this summer, circumstances that would have discouraged most boys, but not Martin. Those boys up on the Divide sure have plenty of time in their spinal column.

C. A. Bugge & Co. received a car load of choice Washington apples last week which they are offering at the cheapest price known for high grade apples in years. The household that lays in a generous supply early will be wise and healthy and only slightly depleted in wealth.

Best work at moderate prices.

The Fence Post That Never Rots or Wears

Years ago wood was used almost exclusively for building railroad bridges.

Today you don't see many wooden bridges. Steel bridges are the rule today? Why?

Because steel lasts indefinitely while wood rots easily.

Steel stands tremendous strains and loads. Wood gives way and breaks easily because of natural weak spots.

Steel bridges won't burn. Wooden bridges will.

These same weaknesses are found in the best wooden fence posts.

They will rot, burn and break. American steel posts won't rot, burn, break or rust, they are time and wear proof.

American steel posts will outlast the best wooden posts two or three to one while they cost but little more at first.

You will use American Steel Posts some day. Begin using them this fall. We have both line and corner.

See them at once and get price.
