

EXTRAVAGANT METHODS FOR WILLISTON PLANT.

Williston, N. D., April 17.—It is charged that extravagant methods were employed by the federal government irrigation department in the construction of the Williston irrigation project.

Charges of the land owners involving these extravagances will be placed before the board of review which will meet here this spring.

The Williston Water Users association, which is backing the claims made by the owners of the unnecessary expenditures, has employed counsel to prosecute the case—the owners being hopeful of transferring the additional unnecessary debt.

WANT "MAYOR" RECALLED.

"Low Brow" Convicts Object to Bank Swindler Executive.

Ossining, N. Y., April 16.—The "low brow" faction of Sing Sing convicts is agitating a recall election of "Mayor" W. J. Cummins, bank swindler, of the civic prison administration.

LOGAN MURMURS.

Logan has been strangely silent of late, but 'tis spring, and with its advent work with a big W suggests itself to all and sundry and little but the chronicling of the season's progress had we to record. But Logan is still progressing. Still the Mecca of all who find in scenery picturesque, in natural and varied beauties of colors, blending so harmoniously as to become pleasing to the eye, and to the mind soothing, and to the jaded businessman and fatigued farmer, at once a source of rest, recreation and recuperation. As a business centre she stands unrivalled.

J. C. Smallwood, known to fame as Minot's Master Grocer, and buyer of potatoes when cheap, found his bump of navigation somewhat lacking in development when he essayed to pass a local farmer at one of the most dangerous spots on the valley road. We congratulate the good gentleman on his miraculous escape and presume that the authorities will now take steps to fill in this death trap. In the meantime, automobilists, even from the heavenly sphere, should proceed leisurely o'er this stretch, when preceded by a fellow tax-payer, who may be found driving a team.

The Good Samaritan Aid were entertained in right royal manner by Grandma Cook on Thursday last. An enjoyable visit, a busy afternoon, a lunch par excellence.

We presume ere this that our good friends Burlington ways have discovered the difference twixt home-grown lemons and imported grape fruit. The banana industry Loganways is growing in importance.

The Cozy Cafe on Main street was the centre of interest last week. The local ice cream factory, under the experienced management of Jesse Giles, placed its product before a discriminating public, and judging from the scores of auto travelers who tarried by the wayside, the demand was more than encouraging. Local enterprise is ever deserving of our support and "Made in Logan" means the best.

The patch of timber nigh unto Jim Bell's farm seriously obstructs the view of the road and in these days of fast travel, it will, for safety's sake, be necessary to cut out a few of the trees. This is a bad place to meet and we would direct the attention of the road boss to the spot.

Mrs. Howard was a visitor to our placid town last Sabbath day. Since removing to the farm Mrs. H. has developed an appreciation of the manifold benefits derived from travel by Shank's pony.

The Non Partisan Political League has been particularly active in this vicinity during the past week. The program commends itself readily to the majority and the support accorded must be most encouraging. But we have listened to some questions which would seem to call for a reply, if the organization is to be permanently powerful. The Board of Directors. Who are they? Why do their names not appear on the preamble? With whom is the banking business transacted? Who is the secretary and treasurer of the organization? Has the organization a postal address? If so, where? Why are all checks made payable to the salaried canvasser, rather than to the organization as a responsible body? The aims and objects have our entire sympathy but a little enlightenment upon the above points would tend to strengthen their position locally.

The Heavenly Sphere has a traffic policeman and woe unto him who bows not the knee and the mind to the whims of the cigar consumer who ornaments the Picadilly Circus of Minot. The education of drivers and pedestrians calls for the exercise of much patience, but traffic regulation would be assisted were the use of Main street as an automobile sales room prohibited. Why allow a car, however modern, to be parked at the Leland corner for demonstration purposes, several hours at a stretch. Sauce for the goose should be same for the gander. We wonder how long a farmer's team with a "for sale" notice would be permitted to locate on this spot.

Mr. Horning has opened at Hecker an automobile repair shop. Lennie is an expert in this line, his premises adjoin the valley road by the mill timber, and he should, if ability counts, secure much patronage.

Logan needs and needs badly a blacksmith shop and hardware establishment. Don't wander off the map in search of a location but get in here where the trade awaits your enterprise.

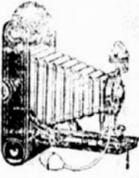

Roy Bates and Earl A. Cristwick left for Van Hook and other points in search of a suitable location.

Chris Saugstad is enamored by the prospects of promised profits chicken farming suggests and will raise during the coming season, a thousand, more or less, feathered dollar developers. Should he decide to establish an auto delivery the chicken business may be sidetracked, however.

Friend Kuchenbecker, our genial elevator manager, takes pride in the fact that a disguised Socialist organization failed to get his signature, more especially when neighbors of all shades of political opinion bit and bit hard. But was our good friend passed up as ineligible?

Elmer Cook has been busy during the past week with several carpentering contracts and the good government of our town has in a degree suffered.

Curtice Cross, with the advent of spring, has felt the call of the land and when not busy grinding feed is planting "taters and other garden sauce. Next Sunday he will renew acquaintance with the Ten Commandments, with special reference to that which suggests a limitation on labor.

Ralph Oard, at the Sawyer Cash Store, is doing more to resurrect the town that was that most imagined possible. But Loganites can achieve most things they undertake.

Ernie Stredwick is farming the old home farm and Logan sees but little of him these days. Industry has its own reward, Ernie.

The lean Englishman has at last proved up and perchance the good neighbor whose charity has been so sorely taxed will now recognize that he is in Logan to boost Logan for Logan, and that the unchristian policy of misrepresentation, acts rather like unto the eccentric antics of the boomerang. Practice rather than preach if we desire the respect of others.

Mr. E. Saugstad and Mr. Vic Teets with Miss Winnie Bean and Miss Laura Teets, autoed north prairie ways last Sabbath afternoon.

Charlie Cline was a Logan visitor last week end. His car made one of seventeen we counted on Main street.

There may be some who through lack of opportunity have not aided the Salvation Army Self Denial Fund. Mrs. Earle Stredwick will be glad to receive local donations to a cause which is Humanity.

The Hotel Metropole continues to be the popular resort of traveling men and Host Bean can entertain all and sundry with many interesting anecdotes of pioneer days. His good lady is famed far and wide for a unique skill in catering to the inner man.

The Farmers Store at Logan is, despite Sawyer competition, handling an ever increasing trade. The three experienced clerks have but little leisure, and week ends the assistance of Ralph Oard is imperative if the business is to be put out.

Mike Mitch, who has represented the Soo company in this district for many moons, has been a sadly sick man at Minot hospital, but we are glad to learn that he will soon be permitted to take his discharge. Here's health to you, Mike.

Logan is to organize a ball team. That means good, clean local sport and the boys should receive every encouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tiegan, accompanied by Miss Tiegan, were among the elite of the Heavenly Sphere who autoed to Logan last week end.

The Good Samaritan Aid will be entertained by Mrs. Teets of Maple Hill Farm on Thursday next.

The Latter Day Aid met on Thursday at the residence of Mrs. W. Hecker. Many members and friends were present, a muchness of work was accomplished and an enjoyable visit was concluded by a lunch dainty, delicate and delicious.

There are a few who imagine that because business in the burg eastwards, which for months was comatose, is slowly reviving, the growth of Logan will be retarded. There is room for us both, but good service, convenience and courtesy is Logan's slogan and we live up to it. Our town is not yet big enough to need Sawyer for a cemetery.

Miss Sorenson of Velva and Mr. Joe Light were enjoying the hospitality of Dad Bean and his good spouse last Sabbath day.

Charley Cline has an automobile modern and comfortable. Ed Saugstad, while a good fellow so far, has relied upon the old fashioned means of transit—smart buggy, smart team. But the fair maids of the North Prairie love the modern wooer and Ed, after having no one to escort to worship last Sabbath, e'en swears by all that's holy that rather than lose the lady he will journey by motor now henceforth forevermore. Not "who is he?" but "what has he?" now days, Ed.

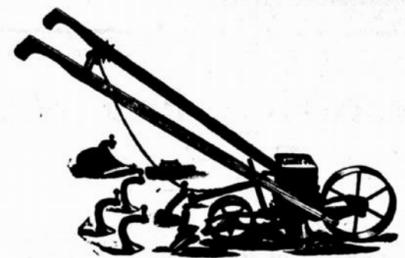

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kuchenbecker, with Masters Leicester and Norval Warner, autoed to the west farm on Sunday, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Christianson.

Miss Winnie Bean and Misses Laura and Gladys Teets, Vic Teets and Chris Saugstad journeyed on Monday evening to enjoy the fascinations of the Magic Sphere.

Elmer Cook is a bachelor and bachelors are ever anxious to change their sad state. Wednesday did he devote to papering and decorating the Nulph residence. Apart from a naturally industrious disposition, there's a reason, as Postum ads suggest.

Theodore Mostad has recently acquired a half section of excellent land near Malta, Montana and is this week shipping a carload of stock and effects from Minot.

Thorwald Mostad, deputy U. S. marshal, was a visitor Wednesday.
