

WE HAVE ESTABLISHED A ONE DAY SERVICE IN OUR OFFICE

It is our aim to give to our patients the best possible service in the least time. With this object in view, we have engaged the services of an expert in our laboratory and can now do plate work, crown and bridge work in one day. You can have your impression taken in the morning and get your plate the same day, or if you have a bridge to be made it matters not how large or small it may be. We guarantee to give you not only the best work obtainable at a saving of a hundred per cent and over, but will in addition complete your work in one day. Every piece of work done is examined thoroughly and has to be perfect before it is permitted to leave the office. For honest work, the best of materials and expert operators, you can always rely on the Union Dentists. A guarantee in one office is good in all our offices.

Mrs. Jackson arrived from Winnipeg Monday morning to visit at the home of her uncle, W. S. Young, of Surrey.

The county's electric light bill for July was only $23. This beats the old way of manufacturing our own electricity.

The South Prairie Farmers' Telephone line may be extended in Tornado township to accommodate several farm homes.

F. A. Alber and wife arrived with a car from Chicago Saturday to visit at the home of their brother-in-law, W. C. Hutchins.

Craig Pinney has returned to Minot to live. Craig was married two years ago and is the daddy of a fine girl eleven months old.

Rev. P. W. Erickson has returned from the Minnesota lakes. Mrs. Erickson and son Donald are visiting with friends in Duluth.

Many prominent men thruout the state are attending the Northwestern Hotel Men's association in session at Davenport, Iowa this week.

Miss Emma Schow, the milliner at the New York store, has returned from eastern points, where she selected stock and studied the fashions.

Some fiend has been strewing tacks about the city to puncture auto tires. This is malicious mischief punishable by a term in the pen.

Mrs. M. T. Dalquist and Mrs. W. H. Parker, accompanied by Mrs. Perry of New York, are spending two weeks at the Murray Inn, Annandale, Minn.

E. C. Leedy, immigration agent of the Great Northern has a corps of photographers busy securing views of farming scenes throughout the state.

The City Employment bureau has placed over a hundred men among the farmers of this vicinity. It appears as tho there will be plenty of employes.

W. E. Mansfield, after pulling out black bass to his heart's content, in the Minnesota lakes, has returned to rest up a bit before the hunting season opens.

Oscar Olson, was brot in from Van Hook Friday night suffering from a broken leg. He is a resident of that county and will be turned over to those authorities.

John Stout, manager for the Northwestern Mutual Fire Insurance Co. for this territory, is attending a large insurance convention in Minneapolis this week.

Wm. Myers, the North Prairie farmer, is building a comfortable home in this city.

Mrs. F. J. Hartl and children are visiting with the doctor's parents at New Rockford.

The Independent force enjoys a large bottle of ice cold buttermilk furnished by the Minot Dairy Co. Get a man in the habit of drinking buttermilk and he loses all interest in the prohibition question.

Mrs. Ben Smith returned to her home at Glens Ferry, Ida., Sunday after spending a month with her father, Henry Stammen, and her sister, Mrs. Frances Botz. She stopped enroute to visit a sister, Gertrude at Joplin, Montana.

We were glad to see our old friend Al Campbell out riding the other day in an auto. Al has been receiving treatment in St. Joseph's hospital for several years for paralysis and while he will probably never be able to walk again, he loses no opportunity to get enjoyment out of life.

J. J. Kann has found farming in North Dakota very profitable. His share of a crop on a half section of land in this vicinity last year netted him $3800 and it appears good for as much more this year. He owns some good land in Iowa, but his returns in North Dakota have been fully as much acre for acre.

O. K. Spires started cutting a fine field of Marquis wheat Monday at his farm north of Burlington. He has over 500 acres in crop of the various kinds and has been kept on the jump looking after his grain as well as attending to a fine large herd of Guernsey milk cows.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Corey have returned from the west where they visited both expositions. They had an enjoyable visit with F. E. Graves at San Diego, saw Will E. Holbein and other notables at San Francisco and had a fine trip generally.

The Independent received a card from Harry Winters, the jeweler, who is attending to business matters in Chicago. Mr. Winters sent a picture of the Eastland and wrote: "Was out today watching them start to raise it. Going to be some hard job."

Dr. John W. Newlove has returned to Minot, after spending several months in other states, and will again take up his practice here. He spent the summer at Detroit, Mich., and was in California early in the summer. Mrs. Newlove and son are visiting relatives at Rugby.

Phil Meyers, had on display Wednesday a huge bowl full of great big luscious strawberries which he had just picked from the vines at his home in the western part of the city. Minot may not be in the banana belt but we can sure go some when it comes to strawberries.

The club proposes to build a concrete structure before next winter, for skating above and curling below. This is valuable property.

James Johnson has begun the harvest on his big farm at Burlington. He is cutting oats and barley and will soon be into the wheat fields. Friday's heavy wind and rain damaged some of his crop, lodging a third of it in some fields. He has ordered long fingers to place on the binder which will gather up most of it. He had just stacked ten tons of oats and millet and this was drenched, necessitating scattering out the feed to dry.

Harry Calhoun, who has been sojourning for the past three weeks in the city pest house, suffering an attack of smallpox, was released from his quarantine Monday. Harry says it's remarkable the care exercised by the authorities in the maintenance of beautifully graveled floors thruout the pest house, saying that a wagon load of the finest kind of gravel may be found spread over the floor of a single room.

SAVED MASTER FROM DEATH

Small Dog Is Petted as a Hero in the Paris Hospitals, as Reward for Faithfulness.

In one of the Paris hospitals lives a dog, a brown-and-white setter, named Fend l'Air (cleave the air), who is a real hero of the war. His master, a sergeant of zouaves, is a patient in the hospital, and he owes his frail hold on life to the devotion and intelligence of Fend l'Air. When the regiment left Algeria for France the dog was left behind, but the faithful little creature leaped into the water and swam along behind the ship until the captain, taking pity on him, had him taken on board. From that time he has never left his master.

During the fighting at Rochincourt, near Arras, an exploding bomb buried the sergeant and seven other men with earth. They were badly injured, and so deeply covered that no man had the strength to fight his way out. But, luckily, Fend l'Air escaped the bomb. He at once began to scratch, and he scratched and scratched until he had reached his master and dragged him out to safety. The seven other men died.

The wounded sergeant and his dog were sent from one relief station to another until they found permanent care in this Paris hospital. Good nursing has saved the man, but too much attention almost killed the dog; for the nurses and orderlies fed him so lavishly that promiscuous feeding had to be forbidden.

Now Fend l'Air lives in the hospital kitchen, where he has assumed the duty of guard, and growls savagely at anyone who enters the kitchen—unless they belong there. Every day a nurse takes him to the wards to visit his master, and Fend l'Air puts his nose on the sergeant's shoulder and stands contented as long as he is permitted to remain. The great affection that exists between the sergeant and his dog is very charming.

HIGH EXPLOSIVES IN WARFARE

Fearfully Destructive Shells Employed to Clear the Way for the Advance of the Infantry.

The shell question for our army in France concerns the supply not of shrapnel but of shell containing high explosive, says a writer in London Tlt-Bits. These high-explosive shells are strong steel cases with a fuse, usually placed in the base. The charge employed may be either lydite—which is a preparation of picric acid— or trinitrotoluol.

The metal in the shell is fairly thick. The explosion is very violent, and has a thoroughly destructive effect upon anything near the point where the shell explodes—concrete, walls, entanglements, steel shields for the trenches or for guns. The French and Germans use these shells to prepare the way for assaults on hostile trenches, demolishing with them all obstacles.

Shrapnel are quite different projectiles, and are serviceable against infantry in the open or lightly entrenched. They are thin steel cases containing a very small charge of low or moderate power explosive, which opens the cases and liberates a large number of bullets in them. These cover an oval area as they scatter and kill unprotected men. Shrapnel are useless against fortified positions, strongly built houses, or deep and well-planned intrenchments.
