Mrs. G. P. Wartchow, 715 Valley St., Minot, says: "My back ached a great deal and got so weak that I couldn't lift the lightest weight. At times I had sharp pains through my kidneys. The pains were always worse if I tried to stoop and when I brought any strain on my back. The kidney secretions were in bad shape. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me." (Statement given October 27, 1910).

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Wartchow said: "I have seldom any need of Doan's Kidney Pills, as they put my kidneys in fine shape years ago."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wartchow had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

BRIEF STATE NEWS

Advice should like a drug be used. Though sometimes it acts quicker. A little should not be refused. Too much will make you snicker.

C. J. Carlson, formerly of the St. Paul Dispatch, is the new local manager of the Plaza Pioneer in Mountrail county.

A booze peddler at Hatton tried to induce a farmer in the vicinity of that town to buy his goods, but got cold feet and hiked out, evidently fearing arrest.

Stanley, the county seat of Mountrail, will have a flour mill. The site has been secured and the machinery ordered. The enterprise is backed by prominent business men of that city.

The Odd Fellows at Sherwood gathered in large numbers at a meeting one night last week and worked the third degree in full. After the work a program and oyster supper was the wind-up.

Larimore had some grain thieves who caused the farmers in that locality lots of trouble until last week, when the officials overhauled a number of them and landed them in the county jail.

The annual corn show at Dickinson this year will be held on December 15, 16, 17 and 18. A poultry show, under the auspices of the Stark County Poultry association will be one of the leading features.

The routing of the railway mail clerks in the state has been changed. Heretofore they ran from New Rockford to Havre, Mont.; the change starts them at Grand Forks and lands them at Glasgow, Mont.

The Williston Commercial club held a special session to discuss ways and means of constructing a pontoon bridge across the Missouri river into McKenzie county, and the erection of a new hospital for the city of Williston.

The local freight train of the Sherwood branch ran into an open switch at Mohall one day last week, derailing the engine and water car. Traffic was delayed for a few hours. The wrecker at Minot went out and fixed things up.

As an indication of the splendid crops grown in northwestern North Dakota this year it is shown that three hundred and fourteen cars of grain have been shipped out of the little town of Sherwood and less than a third of the season's product has so far been marketed.

A can of gasoline exploded when Frank Beasley, of Fairdale, attempted to thaw out a frozen pump, at his home in that town last week. He was severely burned about the face and it is a ten to one chance whether he will lose one of his hands or keep it in a crippled condition.

Druggist Dan McNeil, of Bathgate, nearly had his eyes burned out. He was shaking a bottle of carbolic acid when he accidentally broke the bottle, the entire contents being dashed into his face. Neutralizing applications is all that saved him. His face was burned beyond recognition.

United States District Judge Chas. F. Amidon refused to adjourn U. S. court on Thanksgiving day, and as a consequence, court was in full blast in Devils Lake. It was deemed necessary to continue in order to get to Grand Forks on the day set to hold a session in that city a few days later.

Dickinson has received official information that the 62nd Congress set aside an appropriation of $80,000 for a federal building to be erected in that city. At the same session Valley City got an appropriation of $75,000 and Jamestown a like amount. Dickinson gets the additional amount because they have a land office which requires extra rooms.

Harry Woodward, who forged checks in different cities in the state this summer and fall, and escaped to Minnesota, has been captured and brot back by Sheriff Morgan, of Foster county, where most of the crimes were committed. He was grabbed at Mankato, Minn., as he was about to alight from a train. The officials had been on his trail for some time.

While returning to his home near Buford last week, John Renville, a breed, was fatally shot. Two Renville boys were riding with a farmer named Corbett, and when near the Renville home the trio got into a quarrel which resulted in C. C. Corbett, a farmer, shooting the oldest Renville thru the hip. Renville is in the Williston hospital in a serious condition.

While N. W. Carlson and his son Elmer, who live on a farm near Sherwood, were out for a load of hay one day last week, the father had his cap shot full of holes from a shot gun which the boy had taken along to kill rabbits. The gun was accidentally discharged, almost the full charge striking the father in the head gear, but the distance was so great that only a few of the shots entered his face. Two of the shot pierced his left ear and a number lodged against the bone in his forehead.

Drugs and whiskey are said to have caused an Aneta doctor to go running for a man against whom he had an imaginary grudge.

Killed by a horse's kick, while trying to get the animal out of the mud where he had been stuck in a slough, the body of James Kennedy, of Wyndmere, was found by school children. Philip Bratzel, Jr., of Hebron, has for the past four years owned a valuable herd of pure-bred Hereford cows. Theodore D. Ding, one of his neighbors, has at the same time owned a "mongrel, ill-bred, and unregistered bull of a roaming disposition," says a complaint filed in the court of that county. Bratzel is suing Ding for $4,000 damages because the bull jumped the fence.

While driving a four-horse team hitched to a heavy grain tank, across the Soo track at Fordville, Elmer Nests narrowly escaped with his life. The team belonged to a farmer by the name of Skibicki, for whom Nests was working.

The state's attorney of Williams county has announced that all teachers in rural schools will be compelled to comply with the law in regard to holding fire drills twice a month or they cannot draw their salaries. State's Attorney Owens has issued instructions to all school boards of that county to withhold salaries due teachers until they have signed statements to the effect that they have complied with the law in regard to fire drill.

Very likely when you pick up the Ward County Independent you will not have time to read all the good things you would like to go over with care. Every page and every column have subjects of interest which you do not want to miss. Take particular care in reading the advertisements. Care from missing them put aside the various sections for careful and thorough reading during the week. This will make many a leisure hour pleasant and profitable.

Several months ago M. J. Tweite of Sargent county was found insane by the insanity board and taken to Jamestown, where he has been confined until a few days ago, when he succeeded in making his escape by the aid of his wife, who was allowed to pay him a visit at the hospital. He returned to his old home in Sargent county, apparently all right, and the authorities allowed him to remain. A couple of days ago he had to be taken back, having had another outbreak.

A new swindling stunt was recently pulled off in Dickinson. A fellow giving his name as Carl Peterson, walked into one of the local banks and left a check of $35 drawn on the First National Bank of Great Falls, Mont., for collection. He asked for a receipt and was given a slip stating that such a check was left for collection. The receipt was deposited at a rooming house, where the fellow obtained free lodging for two nights, taking good care to leave the city before the word "no funds" came back from Montana.

What is claimed to be the greatest newspaper advertising stunt pulled off in North Dakota was inaugurated last week when E. W. Gilbertson, a merchant of Devils Lake, used 10,080 inches of advertising space in forty-two newspapers in the northern part of the state. "I have learned," says Mr. Gilbertson, "that the successful man of today is the liberal patron of newspapers. Freak schemes have been tried, but for consistent results there is but one medium—the newspapers."

At Williston, in Williams county, a grain crop this season is valued at $4,500,000, according to figures compiled by R. F. Flint, the state immigration commissioner. These figures reveal the production of Williams county to be on a large scale. With a population of 20,000 the per capita production is $225, while if the rural population alone is considered the per capita production for men, women and children is about $400. In addition to the grain, Williams county has a live stock production with a valuation of about $6,500,000.

"Bound for Glory," writes "R. M. G." of Jamestown, Pa., to M. J. George, of Grand Forks, in which he confesses stealing a valuable robe of George twelve years ago, and for which another man was convicted of the crime. "R. M. G." proposes giving $5 to the church of which he is a member—if it is agreeable to Mr. George. The Grand Forks man wrote "R. M. G." that the proposed settlement was perfectly satisfactory to him, while another letter went to the supposed thief in which the true story of the incident was revealed.

Sheriff John Ross, of Cass county, thinks that the man who robbed the Farmers Security Bank of Chaffee several days ago has been captured, as a counterfeit $10 gold piece and some revenue stamps taken from the bank were found on Fred Milbrandt when he was arrested near Casselton charged with attempting to cash a forged check. The bank referred to was entered on November 19. Milbrandt appeared at the Casselton bank and attempted to cash a check signed by August Schwartz. The cashier of the bank knew that Schwartz had no money in the institution.

C. R. Shorb, manager of an elevator at Portal, was severely injured one day last week. He was at work oiling the shafting when his clothing was caught in the pulleys, whirling him around several times, his clothes finally letting go from his body, stripping him to the skin. He managed to crawl to the phone in his office and call central, informing her that he was badly injured, and she summoned a physician. He has five ribs broken, his watch and chain were ground to dust, and he had many bruises about his body. His shoes and stockings were all the clothing left on him, the balance being wound around the shafting.
