MINOT and VICINITY

Editor W. E. Krick of Berthold was in the city Monday.

Several Minot carpenters are demanding $7.50 wages a day.

Dr. J. L. Devine went to Lansford on professional business Saturday.

A fire call was sent in Monday on account of a blaze at the dump ground.

John Brant of Valer, Mont., has been visiting with his brother-in-law, Geo. Benno of the Benno Drug Co.

H. L. Winters, the jeweler, has returned from Chicago, where he spent two weeks buying stock for the store.

Olaf L. Larson, who has had charge of the section for Jim Hill at Aurelia for several years, has moved to Minot.

Gilbert Teien, the versatile editor of the newsy Aneta Panorama, was in the city Friday, enroute to Plaza on a land deal.

Mrs. J. A. Sorenson, wife of the superintendent of Elmwood Farm, returned Sunday from Clinton, Minn., where she spent five weeks visiting with her parents. She arrived just in time to save J. A. from a bad case of indigestion, for he has been cooking his own meals.

Edgar Bailey of Sawyer, who drew No. 365 in the Berthold opening, was in the city Friday and filed as No. 280. He selected a valuable piece of land three miles north of Van Hook.

James Morrison, the old time sign artist, has returned from Mississippi, where he spent the winter months. Mr. Morrison has traveled extensively since leaving Minot and he declares that the old town is a world beater for her size.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Davis of Lansford, were in the city Tuesday on business. Mr. Davis is managing the big Davis farm adjoining Lansford, and reports that they will have about 1500 acres of crop this year. This will be about 100 acres under last year.

The Association of Commerce recently printed some cards calling attention to the city of Minot as a desirable location for wholesale houses and agricultural implement warehouses. Some of these cards have been sent to almost every manufacturer of implements in the middle west, and it is expected that good results will accrue. This week the Secretary received a request from Milwaukee for 300 of these cards, and they will be distributed personally in that city.

Vic Noble came down from his Bottineau county farm Monday to transact business. Among other valuable property, Mr. Noble owns a number of fine islands in Lake Metigoshe.

T. A. McGrew, of Sawyer, was in the city Monday and drove home with his new Maxwell car purchased from Todd & Emerson. Mr. McGrew is planning on spending the winter in California and expects to make the trip in his car. He drove his old car 40,000 miles in the past six years.

The yard office of the Piper-Howe Lumber Co. has been transferred to the Auslander block, across the street from the yard. A gang of men are employed in tearing down the old office building, and the work preparatory to the erection of the large office building of the Piper-Howe Lumber Co. is well under way.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Dyar of Antler, were in the city Tuesday interviewing an architect in regard to the erection of a fine home to be built for them this year in Antler. Mr. Dyar is one of Bottineau county's most prominent business men, and reports that the farmers in his part of the county are getting their crops in in fine shape.

The heavy wind which prevailed last Sunday blew in a couple of the large plate glass windows at the Sons of Norway building on Central avenue. The wind played havoc in many parts of the city but beyond the above occurrence there was no damage of consequence done within the city limits. Reports from the country districts indicate that silos suffered most from the gale and several were overturned.

R. W. Dalziel, from north of the city, was in Minot Tuesday. Mr. Dalziel states that he has 80 acres of wheat seeded, while a year ago at this time he had 240 acres of wheat in his fields that he could not seed, but he intends going in later and putting in oats, being certain of a big crop of feed. Many of the farmers will seed wheat close up to the first of June. Many are seeding on stubble, after burning off the stubble.

Visitors to the sales rooms of the Champlin Implement Co. on First St. N. E. are at once impressed by the clever cartoons which are displayed on the walls. These are all the work of G. C. Humphreys, the book-keeper, whose pen-and-ink sketches are exceptionally clever and show unique conception as well as true artistic ability. The Studebaker Corporation are arranging to use some of Mr. Humphreys' sketches in their publication, which is issued monthly.

Geo. Sidener and wife of Lansford were in the city Monday. Mr. Sidener is chairman of the board of Bottineau county commissioners.

Geo. Gould of Glenburn is carrying a stuffed club, hoping to run across the fellow who entered his garage and stole a casing and a tire rim.

Mett Dille, who operates the Spear-Head ranch at Tagus, was in the city Wednesday. He informs the Independent that he already has 175 acres seeded to wheat, and that most of the farmers in the Tagus country are pretty well along with their spring seeding.

Wm. Ward of Glenburn suffered a crushed hand which got into some well drilling machinery. Two fingers were broken and the hand was badly torn.

H. P. Bearman of the Bearman Fruit Co., went to Valley City Sunday to spend several days looking after business affairs.

J. B. Taylor is in St. Paul conferring with specialists. About a year ago Mr. Taylor was seriously injured by a fall and for a time it was feared that he would never recover. We are glad to state that he is getting along remarkably well and expects to discard the support for his neck within a short time. Few men have gone thru such an ordeal, but he has borne his affliction with fortitude and his many friends rejoice that he will in time be as well as ever.

C. C. Reimers, proprietor of the Atlantic Cafe at Max was in the city Monday. In company with his wife and family they are on their way to Waterloo, Ia., for a visit with relatives. C. C. tells us that many of the farmers in the vicinity of Max are still threshing, and in some instances wheat from the shock has produced as high as 27 bushels per acre. On account of grain in stacks being too damp as yet the farmers have not done any stack threshing.

MOTHER'S DAY.

Mothers' Day is May 14th this year, and of course you will want to honor your mother by wearing a flower, whether living or dead. If living, no matter what part of the United States she is living in, we can deliver to her a beautiful bouquet on Sunday, May 14th, if you will place your order now. Carnations for Mothers' Day will be $1.50 per dozen; roses $2.50 and up to $5.00 per dozen, Marguerite Daisies, per bunch 50¢, and other flowers at low rates. We have the largest Greenhouses in the state and can supply you with all you want if you will place your order early. Here is the rule to follow in buying flowers for Mothers' Day:

A White Flower if your mother is dead.
A Bright Flower, either pink or red, if your mother is living.
Order now from our agent, if we have one in your city, or direct from us, if we have none.
