in the tonneau, as well as a pinch bar and hack saw. They left the car about half a block from the garage and no clew has been discovered that would identify the thieves. The Overland belonging to Geo. Lachner of Wales, was taken the same evening and has not been located. No doubt the same parties are implicated in both deals.

Judge Burr rendered a decision in the Falsen road case last week in McHenry county. Action was brought against Chas. Walhowe for obstructing a road that had been used for many years. Judge Burr held that the road in question was a legal highway and permanently restrained Mr. Walhowe, the defendant in the action, from obstructing it.

Wm. Gibb, who conducts a cattle and horse ranch ten miles up the Knife river from Sanish, was seriously injured one day last week while driving a wild broncho. In a runaway he was dragged some distance and finally in some manner got under the wheels of the wagon, which passed over his legs. The limbs were not broken, but badly bruised, causing much pain, and compelling him to go about on crutches.

Peter Peterson of Cathay left Oct. 25th for Malta, Montana, having been called there by a telegram asking him to come at once as his son, Ed, had shot himself. Later a telegram was received to the effect that Ed died Friday, Oct. 20. At the time of this writing we have been unable to ascertain whether or not the shooting was accidental. Mr. Peterson is one of the old settlers of Cathay, while Ed is well known there, having lived there until two or three years ago, when he moved to Montana. Ed was well liked by all who knew him, and the many friends of the family in that district will be grieved to learn of his death.

"Iowa Slim" and another man named Connor, arrested some time ago by the mounted police of Manitoba and now held by the authorities at Winnipeg, are believed to be the men who blew the safes in the Eckman and Melville banks in this state several weeks ago. Both are alleged to have criminal records and to have done jobs in several states. While circumstantial evidence connecting them with the burglaries in this state is said to be very strong, the authorities have not announced that they have anything direct on them as yet. Detectives are at work on the case and developments are expected.

George Frazier, six feet four inches tall, can never travel incognito. Frazier admitted this at the Minneapolis Central police station following his arrest by Detective Joseph Black on description at Third and Roberts streets. In a letter to Sheriff John Wagener, Sheriff James Taylor, of Cando, N. D., says that Frazier broke jail there following his arrest on suspicion of murder, arson and theft. It is alleged that Frazier was in a shack near Cando one night, when one man was killed and robbed and the shack burned to the ground. Frazier, police say, admits his identity and that he was trying to escape, when his height brought about his capture.

Last Monday morning Engineer Haseltine brot the south bound passenger train to a sudden stop just east of Mohall to avoid running over a man who was standing on the track wildly brandishing his arms and overcoat. Discovering that he was insane, Conductor Wynn took him on board, and on arrival at Truro 'phoned the chief of police at Lansford, who took the demented man in charge. So far as can be learned the man lived near Antler; he has a wife and several children. Reverses of the past season led to his losing his farm and it so affected his mind that he had wandered to Lansford; the authorities there were about to apprehend him late Sunday evening, when he became suspicious and made a get-away, apparently wandering over the prairies until picked up by the train.

Had it not been for Chief of Police Reynolds of Mandan Tuesday an Indian boy of the Indian school in Bismarck would more than likely have been killed. He was found about two o'clock p. m. lying across one of the railroad tracks in the yards near the Bingenheimer Mercantile company yard so intoxicated that it was utterly impossible for him to walk. He was taken to the city jail and kept there until he sobered. In the meantime a communication was sent to the Bismarck school as it was believed the boy belonged there. It proved to be the case and he was taken home.

Sam Smith, late of Parshall, who will be remembered by the early settlers of Parshall as having a claim vest of that town next the Bert Legg homestead, was lately left twelve thousand dollars in trust by the widow of Dr. Samuel Smith of St. Paul. Young Sam was always referred to as "Windy" Smith. In those days he stoutly maintained that through the influence of his father what is at present Parshall would be located on his homestead, according to his story. Dr. Smith being one of the heaviest stockholders in the Soo railway. There were people here at that time who were credulous enough to take stock in his story, notwithstanding he was well named "Windy." To hear of Windy at this time is like reviewing a chapter of the past.

Most Prominent and Brilliant Nonpartisan Worker and Leader Declares for Burke and Wilson

O. M. Thomason, author of the "Crafty" letters published in the Nonpartisan Leader, and one of the most brilliant and forceful speakers and workers in the organization of the league, has come out for John Burke and President Wilson, and is making speeches for them.

A Bare-faced Fraud

The article "Wilson Will Win In North Dakota," published as an advertisement in the Bismarck Tribune, Grand Forks Herald and Minot Optic-Reporter, was written by republicans and paid for by republican money. While it purported to be a democratic advertisement the purpose was to alienate support from Gov. Burke of nonpartisans by an attack upon Mr. Frazier. When it becomes necessary for Mr. McCumber or his friends to resort to bare-faced fraud, as in this case, it is fair to presume that they are hard pressed.
