BRIEF STATE NEWS

February 7th and 8th will be North Dakota Dairyman's days at Mandan.

Fort Clark is in line for a village band consisting of twenty pieces.

The bachelors of Shields are "sprucing up" preparing for a leap year ball.

Frieds of John H. Worst, the deposed head of the Agricultural college, are planning a move to have him reinstated.

The Boy Scouts of Casselton are gathering old papers and rags to secure funds to pay for their equipment and camping expenses.

August Greul, a pioneer, living near Lynchburg for over 33 years, fell from his hay mow last week, sustaining injuries from which he died three hours later.

The Wahpeton schools are to have a visiting nurse, Miss Farley of that place having been engaged for the purpose.

Thieves entered the barnyard of C. A. Lunde, living west of Nansen, a few nights ago, and not only stole about 200 bushels of oats, but butchered a fat hog and carried it off, too.

If there is anything that a North Dakota rural carrier dearly loves during the cold weather it is to have to take off his gloves and dig around in a metal mail box for two pennies that someone has left there for the mail man to stamp their letter with.

The editor of the McVillie Journal assents to the Nelson county editors who are fighting for membership in the Ananias club. Case avers that he is somewhat interested.

Governor Frazier announces the appointment of N. A. Mason of Wimbledon as his private secretary. Mason was formerly engaged in the furniture and undertaking business and will be in fine shape to care for the "stiffs" that may haunt the office of the new governor.

John Andrews, for four years deputy secretary of state under Tom Hall, goes to Washington, having accepted a position as private secretary to Congressman Norton. John is one of the best of the "tribe" in the newspaper game of North Dakota.

A few miles north of Michigan occurred a fatal shooting accident last Thursday when Olaf Kampen, who worked on his brother's farm was killed. The brothers were going for a load of hay and Olaf was standing in the rear of the rack with a shotgun. What caused the gun to discharge will never be known. His brother heard the report and turned to see Olaf fall. He lived about half an hour but did not regain consciousness. The discharge entered the face near the nose.

W. J. Ratkin of Oakes, is building an ice boat in the Salzer Lumber company's yard. The boat is twenty-eight feet long and Mr. Ratkin expects to start from Oakes by way of the Jim river and go all the way to St. Louis in his new boat.

John McLeod of Wales has been awarded a five passenger touring car for the best bushel of wheat that has been sent to St. Paul. This wheat was raised here in Dresden township and John is mightily pleased about it.

Miss Louise Pety, at one time matron of the Florence Crittenton home in Fargo, but recently matron of the Y. W. C. A. at Pasadena, Cal., was knocked down by a motorcycle in that city recently and killed. The rider of the machine was the son of the sheriff of Los Angeles county.

Arthur L. Sandin, boss farmer at the Fort Totten Indian agency, has been canded by the government on the charge of being interested in some way in dealings with the Indians—at least that is what Cate Sells says, they say.

Mrs. Silas A. Wilcox, who lived west of Mohall, died at a Kenmare hospital following an operation. She was fifty-nine years of age. She was the mother of twelve children, two of whom died. Her husband survives.

Paul Shorb of Surrey, who is taking the law course at the state university, is back for the holidays, visiting with his parents, Elder and Mrs. D. M. Shorb. Paul is business manager of the college paper, The Student, and as such is making a big financial success.

Tritt Harris, colored, aged 80, for thirty years a resident of Bismarck, froze to death in his log cabin here during Tuesday's big storm and the body was discovered today. Tritt was born in slavery and was regarded a wizard by members of the local colored fraternity.

About five years ago J. C. Field, county surveyor at Williston conceived an idea for the improvement of guiding torpedoes. He laid his ideas before the navy department at Washington and the experts of that department have been working on the plans. A few days ago Mr. Field received a call to hurry to Washington to witness the working of his device. It is claimed it may prove a great invention.

Parshall Leader: As was to be expected the German peace proposals were seized upon by the grain gamblers to pound down the price of wheat. We have heard it argued over and over again, generally by someone in the grain business, that grain gamblers conduct to the farmers' good, a palpable falsity. While it is true that the grain gamblers have the price up and down, in the ultimate effect thousands of them cop off a fat living at the business, and their profits come from the farmers and fools who imagine they can beat them at their own game. Were grain gambling and grain gambling devices made impossible it would be for the betterment of all—excepting the grain gamblers alone—it would put them out of business.
