COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS

Columbia superiority is measured by COLUMBIA TONE. The record played on the Columbia Grafonola is more than a record—it is a reality. Through the marvelous Columbia reproducer, every individual pulsation, every modulation of every note comes back with volume and warmth, the same as the original itself. Clear, natural, brilliant, true—these words are hardly enough to describe it. Only one word can truly tell all that "COLUMBIA TONE" implies—and that single word is: "LIFE."

Columbia Grafonolas $18.00, $20.00, $25.00, $35.00, $45.00, $55.00, $65.00, $75.00, $85.00, $95.00, $110.00, $120.00, $130.00, $140.00, $150.00, $160.00, $175.00, $190.00, $210.00, $225.00, $240.00

Any finish wood that you may want. We carry every record listed in the Columbia Record Catalog.

AROUND THE STATE

The man who wins is the man who works,
The man who toils while the next man shirks;
The man who stands in his deep distress
With head held high in the deadly press;
Yes, he is the man who wins.

A Lansford man lost eight cousins and nephews in the Halifax disaster.

The Parshall Leader claims to have a Bear, a Rabbit and an Eagle on its subscription list, and now wants to add a Wolf.

The British originated the phrase "doing our bit." An exchange suggests that this be Americanized to "Do Your Damdest."

Already plans are being made for the next Liberty Loan campaign in North Dakota. The date of the next loan is still indefinite.

Editor Varty of Bantry tells the ladies that Easter comes on March 31st this year. He wants them to have plenty of time to get their bonnets.

Dr. Kolb of Granville reports four cases of diphtheria in a farm home near Karlsruhe. The cases are of such a nature that it is doubtful if all will recover.

As Walt Taylor, the sweet singer from LaMoore puts it: "Winter is here—summer has went; some of us haven't laid up a cent."

The first sack of flour from the Deering mill sold for $5 and the five-spot was turned over to the Red Cross.

The Nonpartisan League has organized a new bank at Fargo and will put one in at Grand Forks. The more the merrier.

A two-days farmers' institute under the direction of the state department of agriculture and labor will be held at Velva the first part of February.

A Lansford lawyer entertained a bunch of friends at Christmas dinner and his wife was absent from home. No deaths or illness from gorging are reported.

Because she would not pay a bill which she claimed already paid, Mrs. Christine Weideman, aged and feeble, of Charleston, was severely beaten by A. Z. Tveten of that place.

Mrs. Susan Springer, a former well known society woman of Devils Lake, once well-to-do, highly educated and with plenty of money, was committed to the Jamestown hospital last week, after having been adjudged insane.

Talk about a mean disposition; Listen to this. A Chicago man's divorced wife sent him a photograph, showing him in the Prince Albert coat three-quart hat and foolish smile he wore, at his marriage with her.

Money taken in from the sale of furniture made by the children of the manual training department of the Gackle city schools, will go toward purchasing further equipment for this department.

The Souris Messenger breaks into the limelight when it remarks that knitting is proving to be a Godsend to the idle hands of the country, and adds: Now if we could find some employment for the idle tongues, we would be going some."

Alex Schauer, known to the baseball world as "Rube" Schauer, under manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, and who has a contract calling for his speed and curves in the games of the 1918 season, is visiting his parents at Garrison.

Olaf K. Fjetland, who was in charge of the Seranton Register at one time and for the past several years publisher of the Lemmon Tribune, is now in Uncle Sam's service, having enlisted in the aviation department several weeks ago.

All glory to the men of Van Hook. Henry Pfundheller, Pete Sheveland, Otto Ulrich and C. Cottingham have formed a knitting class and are doing "their bit" knitting sweaters for our soldier boys.

F. W. Fromke, president of the Ransom County Trust Co., and one of Sheldon's best business men, dropped dead at his winter home in Lake

Alfred, Fla., one day last week, heart failure being the direct cause. He had been a resident of North Dakota since the early 70's and was well known by many old settlers.

There are few papers that can boast of a subscriber that has "stuck" for 26 years, but the Hankinson News claims such an honor. Said subscriber should be entitled to sign himself "Old Subscriber" alright.

C. H. Samuelson, publisher of the Index at Leith, N. D., is happy at the announcement of the safety of a brother in the American military service, who was believed to have been lost in the sinking of the steamer Aetecoon a few weeks ago.

The news has been given out that the slacker industry, via the marriage route, has not been a very prosperous one in McHenry County. During the past year Judge Ellis at Towner issued 97 marriage licenses as compared to 106 in 1916.

New Year's night at the Hawkeye school house, near Sanish, a gas lamp exploded, blowing out the windows and door and otherwise demolishing the building, while a watch meeting was in session. Several people were badly burned about the face and hands, but not seriously.

The aeroplane that was reported as visible north of Jamestown early this week, has caused a further craning of necks in the city. Residents of the First ward claimed to have sighted it gyrating around in the distance.

Another school building burned this week at Grafton. School was in session when the fire broke out, but the children all responded quickly to fire drill and marched out in safety. The roof fell in within five minutes from the time the building was emptied.

Walter, the seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hillestad, sixteen miles southeast of Bowman, was badly injured last Friday when the little fellow attempted to drive some cattle out of a barn that day. In stampeding, the animals rushed to get outside and in passing little Walter a steer kicked him, injuring his head and breaking his collar bone.

Paul Patrick, an employee of the Washburn Lignite Coal company, was almost instantly killed while engaged in pulling pillars in the mine early Thursday morning. The fatality was purely accidental, a large volume of coal falling on the unfortunate man, after he had removed a prop. Patrick was about 35 years of age and leaves a wife and child in Austria, a brother, John Patrick, lives north of Wilton.

"If any man here," shouted the temperance lecturer, "can name an honest business that has been helped by the saloon I will spend the rest of my life working for the liquor people." A man in the audience arose. "I consider my business honest," he said, "and it has been helped by the saloon." "What is your business?" yelled the orator. "I am an undertaker."

The fellow who advocated the closing of the churches for a few hours on Sunday in the state didn't make much of a hit as a Hooverizer. There are a great many places of amusement, outside of the church, that run from twelve to sixteen hours per day, consume an enormous amount of coal, collect millions in money, exhaust thousands in light and do no good, that might be, with some degree of common sense, closed.

H. H. Lampman, old-time North Dakota newspaperman and founder of the Lakota Observer and the Netche Chronotype, who has for the past eight years been located in Oregon, is welcomed back to the Flickertail state. His new connection with North Dakota journalism is as editor and manager of the Bottineau Courant, published by a farmers' corporation, he having taken the place the first of the year. Mr. Lampman's first entry into newspaper business in this state was at Lakota in 1888. He is a gifted writer.
