Save Waste-Keep Food Products Cool
Insulated Refrigerator

Milk, eggs, butter and other food products can be kept at a temperature of 55 degrees Fahrenheit by the use of an iceless refrigerator. The cooling effect of the iceless refrigerator depends on evaporating water. An open framework of shelves is surrounded by a cloth kept moist by means of a large pan of water on top, from which cloth wicks extend down over the sides. Water is drawn by capillary attraction through the wicks and saturates the cover. The greater the evaporation the lower the temperature secured, therefore, the refrigerator works best when rapid evaporation takes place. In order to secure this a good current of air is essential. The refrigerator must be kept in the shade if low temperature is to be maintained. For directions for making iceless refrigerator write to Agricultural College Extension Division for Farmers' Bulletin #27.

N. tracks at the outskirts of the city. Macanniffo was placed in the city jail and the Montana sheriff

New Law to Cause Higher Prices.

The North Dakota stores, restaurants, hotels, laundries, etc., are having an interesting time this week trying to adjust themselves to the new eight hour law for women employees. The employers say it will cost them more to do business under the new arrangements, therefore we may expect higher prices to prevail in some lines. Many of the places are replacing female help with males. Advance in prices may be expected, particularly in restaurants, bakeries and laundries.

Flaxton Couple Injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Swennes were on their way to Minot last evening to spend the Fourth at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Victor Sandberg, when the car ran into a bad ditch in the road two miles west of the city. Mrs. Swennes suffered an injury to one of her lower limbs and Mr. Swennes was bruised. The ditch ought to be looked after by the Harrison township authorities at once, otherwise someone will be in for a big damage suit.

"Miss Clara Barton, Nurse"

In many different ways our people are and to be appreciated from the soldier to the old and young workers of the farm, serving, giving their gratitude for what is being done for them in every place and in every possible way.

When members of the eastern army boys meet a troop train many of the boys have letters and postcards mailed. One day not long ago a member of the service, in going over the mail, saw one postcard addressed to "Miss Clara Barton, Nurse." Something unusual in the address attracted his attention, and on looking closely through the card he saw that it was addressed to "Miss Clara Barton, Nurse" and signed, "A Soldier."

That was a tribute to her and had been from the heart of one who had wanted to give some sign of appreciation. No costly wreath could bear a more fragrant and exquisite message than that one card.—Southern Woman's Magazine.

How Legs Saved Him.

Not every man is boastful or proud of possessing bowed legs, but when said crescent-shaped member limbs have saved him from possible serious injury or death from an attack of a vicious butting ram, he is apt to take a different view of the matter during his after life.

A resident of Brasier, N. Y., started across the Miller farm to go to the cider mill on the Tannery road. When nearly in the center of a large pasture an old ram started for him. The man ran, but soon realized that he could not make the nearest fence. As the next best maneuver he made for a large bowlder a few rods away.

Just as he reached the rock the ram overtook him and with lowered head butted through the fugitive's legs. He hit the bowlder and crushed his skull.

Peel Chicken.

Three-year-old Ruth came from Chicago to visit her grandmother on a farm in Knox county. Everything about the farm was a novelty to Ruth, of which she never tired. Another pleasant thing about the visit was grandmother's constant questioning of "Now what shall we eat today?" One morning she asked the usual question as to the menu. Little Ruth studied a minute and then made answer: "Oh, grandma, won't you please catch a chicken and peel it for dinner!"—Indianapolis News.
