Forty-four votes were polled at the school election Tuesday, June 6. A. M. Mackie was elected to the board for the one year term and Frank Long was re-elected for the three year term.

Melvin Estleek of Deerfing still continues to make his weekly calls to the Guy Putney home as usual.

E. E. Diehl purchased a practically new McCormick grain binder of Geo. Hoover of Minot on May 30 and will run two binders on his 275 acre rye crop, if he expectations are as good around July 15 as at this time.

Guy Putney exchanged a fine draft team of horses for an Overland car, with his father-in-law, James Wilson of Minot. Mr. Putney will use his Ford now only when he is in a hurry.

Mrs. E. E. Diehl expects to leave June 21st for a six week visit at her former home in Joy, Ill.

E. Bivins has been on the sick list the past several days but is on the mend again; it is something unusual for neighbor Bivins to be laid up with sickness.

The Ladies' Aid meets at the Adolph Newman home Thursday, June 22. Adolph expects to kill the fatted calf and have a regular home coming day. If we are not too busy following corn we might go to the stew.

M. H. Putney was a Minot business visitor Wednesday and marketed two dressed veal calves for W. H. Wiedling.

Fred Taylor and Ira McNall have been doing jury duty in Minot the past several days and James Rusk, Mr. Taylor's hired man is getting pretty sick and tired of hauling manure lone handed, as David Taylor has gone to Bismarck to drive a truck and Charlie himself just won't work.

W. S. Seed who has been under Dr. Knapp's care of Minot the past six weeks for ulcers of the stomach and was unable to work a stroke all thru seeding, we are quite glad to report that he is gradually growing better.

F. C. Thornhill of Minot with a party of land buyers were looking over the crops in this township Thursday.

Ole Wallace says he is something like Rusk, Taylor's hired man, tired of hauling manure, he had a four horse spreader and Rusk had to use elbow grease and a fork to unload. But Wallace is done, having hauled out 200 loads for E. E. Diehl. James vows if Mr. Taylor expects to keep him in his employ next season he will sure have to invest a few dollars in a money making farm tool—a John Deere manure spreader.

M. H. Putney is still planting spuds a few years back Mr. Putney raised 175 bushels of very fine potatoes which were planted as late as June 28. Dad Brown of Minot planted 10 acres of potatoes recently and we guess they must about be up large enough for cultivation, as he is calling on us to bring his extra Dutch Uncle corn plow which he loaned out last season. Dad says he would rather give up his life, than that cultivator, we don't blame him, when you have a good thing stick to it.

Miss Opal Kringsen of Velva is visiting her lady friend, Miss Rozella Knutson who is employed at the Charles R. Seney home in Newman township.

Carl Swenson finished seeding wheat June 1st and has his oats, barley, corn and millet land yet to plow.

Whew, wasn't it hot three days in succession last week? Charles R. Seney reported his thermometer registered 97 degrees one day. Mr. Seney is an old timer and said that was sure something unusual for the fore part of June, but neighbor Hugh Woodiwiss was calling on us while engaged in running a weeder in a nice field of corn and made the remark that this was sure a corn climate and if the good Lord let him live another year he would sure enough plant a field of corn.

We know of a lady that was so proud of her 40 young turkeys that she took them to bed with her the first night. We think she was thinking more about that lump sum of money which is sure to materialize around Thanksgiving or Christmas time.

Sam Reed has been making plenty of kale. Monday of each week mining coal at the R. W. Beighle mine. Sam has out a nice crop of course, but he says a little pin money for a newly married couple on the side comes in mighty handy.

Saturday a. m., June 3rd, Ira McNoll in a great hurry undertook to run his Lizzie to Minot without any water in his radiator and unfortunately got hung up about a quarter mile from the city limits and pushed the unruly Ford to the road side and beat it to the court house afoot, as the hour was nearing 9, court would soon be in session. Being in the city that day we saw Ira about noon with a very downcast expression on his face and on learning his troubles and the fact that we were both fast friends and from Joy, Ill., we accompanied him with a pail of water and Ira wailed his way rejoicing.

"We find that competition among cream buyers has led to some abuses by which the patient farmer is given the worst of it while the cautious man the buyer is seeking to take from a competitor is discriminated against," said Mr. Flint. "As fast as inspectors report such discriminations orders of suspension will be issued."
