A MICHIGANER says two bushels of wheat can be raised in Dakota to one in Michigan, and the Dakota wheat is the better.

MR. FERRIS deserves the larrioon badge for his excellent leadership. "I'll use Creel," said he, "and then drop him." Did the fall hurt you, colonel?

The announcement of John W. Maher will be found in this issue of the INTER-OCEAN. Mr. Maher hits the nail square upon the head in referring to the Creel convention.

A SUBSCRIBER and correspondent of the INTER-OCEAN writes from Humboldt, Iowa: "We like the tone and vigor of your paper, and with you say give us Blaine and Logan." You shall have them.

THE Ferris-Creel letters of recommendation helped to defeat their bearer at Grafton. Gentlemen who go to conventions and expect nominations should be careful not to have letters of recommendation from F. & C. about their persons. It was a downright mean trick to play on Frank.

The attention of Messrs. Ferris, Hunt & Creel is called to the following from the revised codes of Dakota, section 101, chapter 28:

If any county treasurer shall loan any money belonging to his county, with or without interest, or shall use the same for his own individual purpose, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offense a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars nor less than one hundred dollars, to be recovered in action at law at the suit of the Territory of Dakota, for the use of the county.

If it cost Mr. Ferris $500 to carry the convention Oct. 1, how much will it cost him to elect Creel and Hunt in November? And when he ascertains the total expenses of the campaign, how—even though the county funds may be deposited in his bank—will he get even on the profits there are in handling those funds?

It has been so long a time since Major Edwards was permitted to have a voice in Cass county affairs that he makes no pretensions at all as a county "boss." The Major attempted to manage the politics of this county not long ago, but the Pierre convention summarily sat upon him. The Major may be a success as the manager of a Protection Life Insurance company, but he certainly makes a failure of county politics.

The Democratic territorial convention, which met at Sioux Falls last week, nominated J. R. Wilson of Lawrence county as the Bourbon candidate for delegate to congress. Among the resolutions adopted by the convention we find the following:

Resolved, That we are in favor of the division of the territory on the seventh standard parallel, and we appeal to the Democratic members of congress to favor that said division.

Had the Pierre convention passed a resolution favoring division on the seventh parallel, the Sioux Falls meeting would have resolved for division on the forty-sixth parallel. The Democratic house of representatives will use this resolution as the basis of their opposition to division according to the wishes of nine-tenths of the people.

The case of F. G. Daniels, indicted for selling liquor without having procured a license from the county commissioners, came up in the district court at Redfield, in this territory. Daniels had obtained license from the common council of the city of Redfield, where he was in business, and made defense that the council of Redfield was by the charter given exclusive control of the liquor traffic in the city, and that the law was repugnant to and in conflict with the law now in force. The jury returned their special verdict, under direction of the court, and Daniels' counsel moved in the arrest of judgment. Judge Smith has sustained the position of the defense, and Daniels was discharged.

CAUSE FOR ALARM.

How any man interested in the permanent welfare of Devils Lake could associate himself in politics or business with the one individual who has been a positive detriment to the local progress and a standing disgrace to decency is a problem that must go down in our annals unsolved. That a leading business man occupying a financial position which has commanded the respect and earned encouragement from some of the most substantial citizens of the community should ally himself with the prime mover in every piece of local discord and a man whose record is totally inconsistent with good citizenship, is beyond the understanding of "the oldest inhabitant."

The convention held in this city October 1st was an unmitigated fraud upon the intelligence of the voters of Ramsey county. Mr. Ferris, president of the Bank of Devils Lake, laid aside the dignity that is supposed to belong to men of his calling and, with an energy worthy of a better cause, assumed the role of assistant politician under the management of a man who is totally devoid of principle and whose standing in the community is notoriously bad. The object of Mr. Ferris was purely selfish. He sought to handle and control the county funds. The result of the convention leaves both Mr. Ferris and the county funds at the mercy of Creel. Will the voters of Ramsey county permit Creel to use the county moneys as a bridge over which he may walk into power? Are there not in Ramsey county hundreds of better men than Creel?

LEGISLATIVE.

The Grafton convention made one nomination that every well disposed citizen in the Twelfth district can indorse—that of Dr. Henry H. Ruger, whom the convention chose as a candidate for the assembly. Dr. Ruger is well thought of in Ramsey county, and should receive the vote of both Republicans and Democrats. We believe him to be a clean man, and are confident that he cannot be corrupted by the legislative sharks who are in the habit of assembling at the Territorial capital.

We know little of the rest of the legislative ticket with the exception of the individual from Pembina county who received the nomination for councilman—Mr. Jud LaMoure. We know something of Mr. LaMoure's public record, and cannot conscientiously indorse him. He has shown himself to be a trading, trafficking politician who is in dispute in his own county; an habitue of the lobby of every legislative session that has been held in the Territory since the unfortunate day of his arrival in Dakota; a friend of the corporations if his friendship is worth anything; an enemy of the corporations if his friendship is not worth having. A strong influence has been at work to secure the nomination of LaMoure and Walsh, and the INTER-OCEAN, judging from their past records, predicts that three-fourths of the voters who will cast their ballots for them will regret their action before the next legislative session is closed—providing LaMoure and Walsh are elected, which is not at all certain.

Mr. McLaughlin, of Walsh county, the other nominee for the council from this district, is highly spoken of, as are also Messrs. Donald Stewart of Walsh, H. Strong of Pembina and P. McHugh of Cavilier.

Twelfth District Nominations.

The Republican delegates to the Twelfth legislative convention assembled at Grafton Tuesday, and the following nominations were made: For Council, Judson LaMoure, of Pembina county, and P. J. McLaughlin, of Walsh county; for the House, Donald Stewart, of Walsh county; H. H. Ruger, of Ramsey county, and P. McHugh, of Cavilier. The legislative district committee chosen is as follows: H. L. Prescott, Ramsey county; P. McHugh, Cavilier county; W. A. Cleland and I. Montgomery, Walsh county.

Queen City Items.

Special Correspondence of the INTER-OCEAN.]
Threshing time is at hand and from one to three steam threshers can be seen almost any day from this point.

Wheat is turning out from fifteen to thirty bushels per acre. Oats from forty to ninety bushels.

Potatoes and turnips are abundant. The foxes are storing up a winter supply of chickens.

Mr. O. B. Spencer has added another quarter section of land to his farm.

Mr. John Goose has shipped a box of North Dakota products as samples to England.

F. C. Lapham raised a turnip that measures twenty-nine inches in circumference. It grew upon this year's breaking and without cultivation.

The New Twins.

FIRST TWIN.
Said he to her, Now mind what I say,
The workmen must vote in just such a way,
Or I'm out.

SECOND TWIN.
Norskmen be—; I've played them so long,
Soft-soaping Ole is now an old song,
I've tried to drive them, but they always went wrong—
And I'm out.

FIRST TWIN.
Well, Heber, my friend, you need not get early;
You started to work the Norwegians too early,
They quit you because you were too "curly"—
That did it.

SECOND TWIN.
But think of the whisky, beer and cigars;
The drinks, Oheffer, outnumber the stars,
Or equal almost the horrible scars
I got in the army.

FIRST TWIN.
Well, I know, but keep quiet till canvassing ceases;
You know I'm a colonel—been hucked all to pieces;
With money, you know, popularity increases—
Scars don't count.

SECOND TWIN.
But just think of it—won't it be fun,
From the tiny toy pistol I'm now a great gun—
A county commissioner as sure as the sun—
Now mind that.

FIRST TWIN.
And I shall instruct you, when comes the time,
With discretion to make of the mine;
I'll scratch your back if you'll scratch mine.
Is that all right?

SECOND TWIN.
All right, Heber, we'll get there or burst;
But remember that you do your scratching first—
A different arrangement would give me the worst,
And I know it.

FIRST TWIN.
You are all very well for a man of your size;
No one expects you to be very wise;
You travel with me—tell some of the lies—
When I bid you.

SECOND TWIN.
You must tell the boys the way for to vote;
Keep the machine going, or you'll threaten not an oat.
Now, that is the plan, or you call me a goat—
Do you tumble?

FIRST TWIN.
All right, my dear colonel, I'll do as you say,
Let's stop 'round the corner and get a drink by the way.
I'll shake you the dice to see who has to pay—
For all the drinks.

SECOND TWIN.
Now what I've told you never again tell
To the rest of the devils we walk down in h—ll.
Good-bye, dear Heber; I love you so well—
You infernal sucker.

Woman's Life in Dakota.

Chicago Herald.
A broad shouldered, compactly built young woman with broad face and hard hands sat in the Lake Shore depot the other evening waiting for the departure of a train for the east. She had just arrived in town from Dakota.

"We don't waste any time in foolishness out our way," she said to a young man who seemed to be acquainted with her. "There is no love making on my half section. It's nothing but No. 1 wheat from May to August. That's what we are out there for. Now, I own and manage a farm of 320 acres, and this year I took out a crop of eighteen bushels to the acre and sold it, got the cash, put it in the bank, discharged all my men but one, who will look after things this winter, and I'm off for a little fun down east. Marriage!" said she, in response to some remark by her companions; "that's what all the good-for-nothing cranks of men that I see from plowing time to harvest can talk about. What do I want to get married for? There are more than 300 of us girl farmers in Dakota, and we will hold a convention some time. I never saw a man yet I would have around. I intend to farm it until I get money enough to live on comfortably, and then I'll see. I'm in the habit of doing about as I please. There was a nice young fellow in my neighborhood last July, who tried to be very gallant and wanted to help me whenever I did any work. If I chopped a little wood he wanted to do it. If I went after a pair of water he wanted to carry it. If I put a bag of grain on my shoulder he insisted on giving me a lift. He was a pretty nice boy, but he made me tired. One day I wanted the hay rick on the wagon, and I took hold of one end and clapped it up on the wheel so quick that it made him dizzy.

"Let me," says he, but he only threw the whole thing down in trying to get the other end up. He didn't have the strength.

"Says I: 'Oh, go away. You don't eat enough No. 1 wheat.' Then I put the rick up in good style.

"We meet lots of such fellows out there. They are good enough, I suppose, but when I want one I will send for him."

The Buffalo Head.

Dr. W. H. Lane, proprietor of the Buffalo Head at Coaling, desires to inform the citizens of the Coulees country that they can obtain anything they want in the line of groceries, provisions, drugs, etc., at his store, just opened with a large fresh stock. Give the pioneer merchant a call.

Board of Trustees.

The board of trustees held a special meeting Tuesday evening. Present, President Burnett, Trustees Dodd, Converse and Moore.

Mr. Dodd offered the lot on the east side of Kelly avenue, formerly occupied by C. O. Maloney, for $450, and after discussion changed his offer to $425, $375 in cash and $50 in a warrant on the general fund.

On motion of Trustee Moore the latter offer was accepted.

On motion of Trustee Converse the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the construction of sidewalks which have been ordered by the board of trustees in all cases where the owners of lots have been notified to construct the same and have failed to do so. Adjourned.

A regular meeting of the board of trustees was held Thursday evening. Present, President Burnett, Trustees Dodd, Converse and Moore. Minutes read and approved.

Plans and specifications for an engine house were adopted.

On motion of Trustee Dodd, the clerk was instructed to advertise in the first paper of publication for bids for the construction of a one-story brick engine house, according to plans and specifications on file in the clerk's office; bids to be opened at a special meeting to be held Saturday evening, Oct. 11, 1884, at the North Shore bank.

Moved by Trustee Moore that $375 be appropriated from the fire department fund for the purchase of a lot for engine house, and a warrant ordered drawn on said fund for that amount, and one on the general fund for $50, both to be delivered to Messrs. Moore & Dodd as soon as a clear title to the lot in question is furnished to the city. Carried. Trustees Converse, Moore and Mr. President, Trustee Dodd not voting. Adjourned.

Another Promise.

Last week the INTER-OCEAN gave currency to a well-founded report that the N. P. company would not build the Minnewaukan branch this season. The Sittings of last week printed a letter from Land Commissioner Lamborn in which the promise is made that the line will be completed some time in November.

More Plats.

Thursday's mail brought four more plats of towns northwest of this city that have been surveyed this season, as follows: Town 154, ranges 77 and 78; town 156, range 76, and town 155, range 76. These plats cover lands in the Mouse river region. The plats of town 153, ranges 79 and 80, and town 154, range 79, were received late last week.

The World's Exposition.

The undersigned, having been appointed a committee to secure and prepare an exhibit showing the agricultural resources of Ramsey county, to be sent to the World's exposition at New Orleans, would request of the farmers of Ramsey county that they bring to Walker's Implement Depot any specimens they see fit of the following articles, viz: Barley, rye, wheat and oats, in bundles or threshed. Corn and vegetables of all kinds. Wild grasses and fruits. This being the largest exposition of this kind in the world, we would urge the necessity of making a creditable exhibit of our county's resources, and by a very little trouble on the part of our farmer friends this may be done with slight expense.

MORRIS THOMAS,
ALEX. WALKER,
Devils Lake, August 29, 1884.

Political Announcements.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER—I hereby announce myself an independent candidate for the office of County Treasurer for Ramsey County, Dakota, subject to the will of the people of this county as it shall be expressed through the ballot box at the coming general election.

I do this as a republican who appeals from the verdict of a convention which was organized for the purpose of summing a fraud upon the republican voters of this county, after a sufficient number of their representatives had been induced by money and treachery to submit to the will of two men, and which arbitrarily excluded one-sixth of the regularly elected delegates without alleging in any case a reason for so doing and refused them the right accorded by all conventions of appearing before the committee on credentials or the convention itself, and being heard upon their right of admittance, and which has resurrected a political crank who has failed in every business undertaking on account of incompetency and seeks to place him at the helm in county affairs.

JOHN W. MAHER.

FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS.—At the request of a large number of voters I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of register of deeds of Towner county, D. T.

How Artemus Ward Once Lectured.

There are yet living in Pottsville, Pa., several gentlemen who never had the name of Artemus Ward without a smiling recollection of a pleasant night spent with that droll genius. In the winter of one of the earlier years of the war, Artemus Ward was advertised to deliver his famous lecture on the Mormons in the town hall at Pottsville. Much curiosity was excited by the announcement of his coming, and there was every reason to expect that the hall would be crowded on the evening of the lecture. But one of the fiercest snowstorms that ever visited the town raged without intermission all day, and the night was wildly stormy when the lecturer was driven to the hall.

He found waiting for him only five men, who had defied the storm. Advancing to the stage, and beckoning with the finger as if to a single individual, Artemus said, in an ordinary conversational tone: "Come up closer." Not knowing precisely what to do, the audience of five compromised with their embarrassment by doing nothing. Artemus changed his tone to that used by one who wishes to coax, and said:

"Please come up closer and be sociable; I want to speak to you about a little matter I have thought of."

Having succeeded in getting his audience to move up near to the stage, the humorist said:

"I move that we do not have any lecture here this evening, and I propose instead that we adjourn to the restaurant beneath and have a good time."

He then put the motion, voted on it himself, declared it carried, and to give no opportunity for an appeal from the chair, at once led the way to the restaurant. There he introduced himself to his intended auditors, and spent several hours in their company, richly compensating them for disappointment in the matter of the lecture by the wit and humor of the stories and anecdotes without number that he told. And that is how Artemus Ward lectured in Pottsville.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Trades for Young Men.

The fact that apprentices are becoming fewer each year has for some time been a fruitful topic of discussion. Some ascribe this state of affairs to the policy of the trades unions and others to the unwillingness of the rising generation to engage in any occupation less "genteel" than that of a dry goods clerk, or a bookkeeper, or a bank clerk, or a vendor of drugs and toilet articles. Parents are largely responsible for the increasing lack of interest in the various trades. They fail to study the character of their boys, and, above all, fail to inculcate in their minds a proper respect for the dignity of labor. Some people think they have done their whole duty when they furnish their children with the necessary books and send them to school. In truth their duty has hardly begun. In the first place the everyday life of the lad should be thoroughly familiar to his parents. If he shows any special aptitude the parent should be on hand to see that it is developed. As it is, the average boy becomes in a great measure his own master the moment he enters school. In time his ideas become inflated and at the time when he should be wearing the apron of an artisan he eschews trades and becomes little better than a mere looker-on in the world. Unless parents assume the responsibility that rightfully attaches to them, the skilled mechanic will be missing one of these days, and in his place will be found a foreigner. The bare thought of such a state of affairs should be sufficient to induce a decided change in the present methods of rearing the youth of the land.—Buffalo Courier.

Which Monument.

"Cannot you contribute a little something toward the monument?" was asked a New Yorker on the street.

"Now," he answered irresolutely, "don't bother me about the monument. I have heard enough of it."

"Excuse me, sir," remarked the petitioner, but this has nothing to do with the Bartholdi statue. It is a different thing altogether."

"What is it?"

"It is a monument to Adam, sir."

"A monument to Adam. Now that's something like it. You can put my name down for $20."
