will result; that the finer sense will be developed and the character of those who do the work will be strengthened; that a love of the beautiful will be imparted which will last through life, and manifest itself in the homes which these pupils shall build in future years.

The Youth's Companion believes that this work of adorning the grounds of rural school houses is one which will exercise an important and lasting influence for the good of the national life.

From almost every rural school have gone forth into the world men and women who have won success in life. We are very sure that many of these, if they were made acquainted with your plans, would be glad to share with the pupils of to-day in the honor and pleasure of embellishing the grounds of the old school house.

Brown Endorsed All 'Round.

Bisbee Gazette: Devils Lake did itself proud by electing Wm. H. Brown, its best known business man and rustler, mayor of the city. We will look for a big boom in that quarter this summer.

Willow City Eagle: William H. Brown, the rustling real estate man of Devils Lake was elected mayor of that hustling little city last Monday week, and now the city thinks it has done it up brown.

New Rockford Transcript: Wm. H. Brown, the hustling real estate agent of Devils Lake, was elected mayor of that city last Monday. If Brown is as great a success as mayor as he is selling land the city is to be congratulated.

Drayton Echo: "Brown's in town" now at Devils Lake where he was elected mayor on Monday. You can't squelch "the Browns."

Pierce County Tribune: Mayor Brown, of Devils Lake, was the recipient of an enthusiastic demonstration on the evening of his election.

Dewey and Davis.

Milton Globe. Admiral Dewey and W. E. Davis are the two most-talked-about candidates for office now before the public—the former for president of the United States and the latter for governor of North Dakota. While both are supposed to be Democrats, Dewey believes in fusion, but Davis does not, although both are ardent expansionists. Ex-President Cleveland has expressed himself as being enthusiastically in favor of Dewey's nomination, but what his attitude toward Davis may be has not yet been ascertained.

Then Came the Explosion.

Bismarck Tribune. The Fargo papers contribute some very interesting gossip to history in the case of Captain Sigbee. It is stated by them that when the Maine was blown up—the captain was reading over some old letters and ran across one that his wife had given him ten months before to mail—and just then came the explosion.

Easter Offerings.

There is nothing so touches the hearts of the suffering than that they are remembered on festival days. On such occasions those who are stricken down by illness and unable to participate in the joys with their more fortunate brethren, recognize in a friendly visit or an act of kindness a gift more precious than brilliants, for it stimulates them with joy and a feeling of happiness beyond the burst of song.

On Easter Sunday, their esteemed and helpful friend, Rev. C. Turner, with his usual loyalty, devotion and Christian spirit of doing good when and where the opportunity presents itself, visited the hospital and distributed among the patients a most bountiful supply of oranges, lemons, candies and cakes of various kinds.

Mrs. J. W. Maher also kindly remembered the patients by packages of candies, etc.

The visit of the members of the Presbyterian Junior league, in charge of Mrs. E. S. Eich, conveying flowers, etc., was very pleasing, touching and highly appreciated, the little ones seeming delighted at the pleasure their remembrances brought to the sick.

Mr. A. E. Hodgkinson sent a supply of most beautiful Easter lilies with which to embellish the tables in the sick rooms.

To the above kind hearted and thoughtful benefactors, the Sisters of Mercy, on behalf of the patients, sincerely hope their reward will come from heaven, as they feel no earthly thanks ample to repay them for their thoughtfulness.
