DE GROAT

Everybody seems to be taking advantage of the moonlight evenings and a few bright ones are trying to compose rhymes in honor of the moon.

Nels Bjugan, who has been the pleasant guest of Mr. and Mrs. Aadahl, left Monday for his home in Zombrota, Minn.

Mrs. John Rushfeldt and Miss Alma were Devils Lake visitors last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Overbo visited at the home of C. M. Ness last Sunday.

Miss Kate McIsaak was a Devils Lake caller Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Folk and Masters Harry and Eugene attended the auction held at E. Erickstad's in Bergen, last Monday.

Miss Gerie Sorenson, who has been staying with Mrs. C. Peterson for some time, returned to her home in Devils Lake, Tuesday.

The Ladies' Aid auction held at Mads Mikkelson's Friday was a grand success. A large crowd were present. The sum taken in was $204.25, which goes to the benefit of the Chain Lake Lutheran church.

Peter Gilberg returned recently from a trip to the twin cities.

Miss Nora Jacobsen of Leeds made her appearance in our midst this week. We are all glad to welcome her here again.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hegland, Mrs. George Hegland, Miss Hegland, Miss Mac Dunn and Hans Mikkelson all of Garske, attended the auction sale at Mads Mikkelson's Friday.

Joe Aadahl and Master Oliver Bjugan made a business trip to the metropolis, Saturday.

Services will be held in the Chain Lake Lutheran church Sunday November 26, Rev. Meisel conducting the services.

CLEVELAND

(Too late for last week's issue.) William Jordan was a Devils Lake visitor Saturday

Milo Jones and family of Sulivan township visited at the White home Sunday.

Mrs. Grunenwald's brother and nephew have returned to their home in Wisconsin.

Quite a number of Cleveland young people attended the dance at Nels Winton's Friday.

The farmers in this vicinity have resumed plowing since their forced lay off and say the ground is in better shape than before it froze.

Mr. and Mrs. Grunenwald, their daughter Ada and son Henry, Harry Skowe and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Regan visited at the Laird home Sunday.

Those who went on the excursion Sunday from this "neck of the woods" were Mr. and Mrs. John Dahlen, Christina Aaberg, Nels Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Laird, Mr. and Mrs. Skowe, Mr. and Mrs. Maloney, Lewis Frogner, Fred Duft and Ed. Olson.

The Ladies Aid of the Lutheran church were royally entertained by Adolph Olson last Thursday.

FORT TOTTEN

Sunday evening Supt. Davis announced that the position of Assistant Superintendent had been created for this place and that Mr. Tharkery, former principal teacher, has been promoted to the office which means an advance in salary as well as position. Mr. Davis spoke highly of Mr. Tharkery's work during his necessitated absence as overseer of agency affairs at Turtle Mountains. Though it was Sunday a round of applause greeted Mr. Tharkery's introduction under his new title, thus showing the good will and congratulatory spirit of the employees and school.

Miss Clark entertained a small number of friends at dinner Sunday. They were Misses Alice Battice and Goldie Williamson, Messrs. Mahoney, Mueller and Blake.

C. C. Pigeon, now teacher of the white school here, received an appointment as teacher at White Earth, Minn.

We've been wondering "what next" and Sunday we learned it is a novel way of descending crocus hill—think we'll have to give the promised three cheers and call "him" a hero.

Miss Tranter and Mr. Gusterhuse were in the Fort Saturday en route to Devils Lake, where Miss Tanter made final proof on her claim, Mr. Gusterhouse acting as witness. It is our opinion that more than one witness will be called upon before they return.

Ft. Totten people are usually hunting for something and now it's ideas for Christmas presents.

Percy Crewe left Monday. We understand he is intending to hang out his sign. Here's success to Percy. A university student has been appointed to take the place vacated.

WEBSTER ITEMS

Contractor Halliday from the Lake was in town on business Thursday.

Miss Armstrong, daughter of Rev. Armstrong, and her youngest brother arrived from their former home at Drayton the first part of the week. Miss Armstrong is very welcome among the circle of girls. Mrs. Armstrong and the other children expect to arrive in a few days.

John McAlpine left yesterday for his home in Alogon, Michigan, after a summer's stay among the Websterites.

Frank Williams returned to his home at Litchfield, Minn., this week to attend the wedding of a cousin.

Mrs. Norman Morrison was in Devils Lake Tuesday.

Mrs. Will Graham of Coykendal was the guest of Miss Hagel and her sister Taturday.

Miss Margaret Webster is visiting with her sister Mrs. McNaughton.

Will McKay came down from his carpenter work at Otmstead Saturday and spent Sunday at home.

Carpenters are employing the November hours in remodeling the Haig residence.

There is really no need of asking, "What can his intentions be?" now. Why, he's even collecting receipts for household happiness, such as "fudge" and other sweets. Very serious, but also interesting.

One tiny spark from a passing train caused several hours of excitement and work last Thursday. Only a day or two before, a gasoline stove explosion entirely destroyed the home of William Scroggs. The flames began in the prairie grass on the Hansbrough farm, and fanned by a strong western wind, swept steadily to the hay meadows on the Barandt farm, and it was only by the heroic efforts of the nearby neighbors that the residence of G. W. Barandt and about twenty-five tons of hay were saved, only one stack being destroyed.
