sight. The many friends of Mr. Gay will hope that the sight will be finally restored.—Dan Brennan came up from Devils Lake last Friday by automobile. He was billing the towns along the route for the opening of the opera house at Devils Lake on Dec. 16th. A great deal of enthusiasm over the opening is being manifested in Starkweather and vicinity as the date approaches. Many will take advantage of the opportunity of seeing an opera such as could only be seen in the large cities under ordinary circumstances.—Starkweather Times.

Mr. Gustaf Rosenleaf of Washington but not unknown to many of the citizens of this place as he resided here in the early days where he was engaged with his brother Otto in the carpenter business, is in the city this week and informs The Sun he has patented a "fiber concrete for the construction of fire-proof buildings" one of the ingredients of which is flax straw, and purposes installing a plant here for the manufacture of the material. We have seen the letters patent and believe Mr. Rosenleaf has something that will revolutionize building in this country when he gets the plant in operation. He hopes to have the machinery here this winter so as to begin work in the spring, when he will need all the flax straw in the country. The frame of the building is erected and the space between the studding is filled with this concrete which consists of flax straw reduced to short lengths, a solution of sulphate of ammonium lime and a small portion of Portland cement or clay. It lessens the cost of material and at the same time furnishes a building fire-proof and much warmer than the ordinary frame building.—Miss Mabel McCormick and sister, Mrs. John McLean, of Devils Lake, left on No. 2 Wednesday evening for Kankakee, Ill., on a visit to relatives.—Albert Nelson and wife moved to Devils Lake this week, where Mr. Nelson has rented property on East Third street. Mr. Nelson's business is such that he finds it necessary to make this change. His village property will be occupied by Mr. Saxrud who will also have charge of his butcher business here.—Churchs Ferry Sun.

THE KAISER'S ARMY.

The methodical minds of the German people are no more spectacularly displayed than in the way the empire plays the war game. "We don't want to fight, but we are ready," is a conventional saying among the soldiers. How amazingly ready they are is well set forth in an article in the latest issue of McClure's magazine.

An army of 400,000 men and 800 guns can be rushed to the frontier on 12 hours' notice. Within two or three days, 1,000,000 fully equipped, armed and rationed, could be placed in the field. Two weeks after, the reserve of 2,000,000 would be prepared for service. Every soldier and reservist have secret instructions telling them in minute detail what to do and where to report when notified of the breaking out of war. A war chest, to be used only for the purpose of speeding the movements of troops in the first few days of hostilities, is maintained. Available soldiers' rations are kept cooked weeks ahead. The garrisons, barracks, forts, depots and supply stations are administered so that instant distribution of food and accoutrements can be made, without haste, waste, red tape or the usual aggravating fussiness of quartermasters and commissaries. The arms, as it is well known, are always in line with the latest invention. With the airship service, the minute information gathered by scouts and spies, and the preparedness of Germany's army it is plainly evident why the rulers of Britain wish the expected war to come before the German navy is brought up to her own standard. A wait to 1913—when the navies will be on a par—would mean indisputably the invasion of England—the first possible since the year 1066.

Showing How One May Get Too Much of a Good Thing.

Old Michael O'Hoolahan was walking in the vale of Avoca one hot afternoon, and he came to a spring. It was crystal pure. The sand it bubbled out of was as white as snow. Rainbow mists hung over it in the sunshine.

Old Michael knelt down and took a drink, and then, feeling remarkably refreshed, he turned homeward. Though he didn't know it, the spring in the vale of Avoca was the real fountain of youth, and it had lifted thirty years from his bent shoulders, and he was an outstanding handsome lad again. So, of course, when he got in the house his wife didn't know him. He looked in the glass at himself, cut a caper, and then he said:

"Shure, Kathleen, 'twas the blessed spring I drunk from in the vale of Avoca. Glory be, it's made me young again! Run, darlint, run for yer life! Ye can't miss it for the rainbow mists that float above it. It'll take yer fat away and yer lameness, and when ye come back you'll be the Kathleen I knowed when we were courtin'."

So Kathleen ran, and Michael lit his pipe and waited for her. But she didn't come back. He waited and waited. Then on toward dusk he hurried to the vale.

No Kathleen did he see anywhere, but the wall of a babe's voice weeping brought him through the dark to the spring, and sitting there on the grass was a little baby girl crying as if her heart would break.

"What's happened ye, acushla?" says Michael.

"Don't ye know me?" says the child, wringing her hands.

"Faith an' I do not," says Michael. "Who are ye?"

"I'm yer wife," sobs the baby.

"My wife!" cries Michael.

"Yes," says the baby. "I'm afther drinkin' too much o' the wather."

Those who wish to use strictly up-to-the-minute language no longer say a person "went up in the air." He or she "aviated" is the correct form.

ONE THING CERTAIN

One thing is certain and that is that the people of North Dakota are done with voting for men who cannot be depended on to stand by their pre-election promises, or men who take orders from the political boss or machine. This is the reason why Prof. H. H. Aaker will prove a popular candidate for governor and will attract to his support the best people in the state.

The Caloric Fireless Cooker

The Fireless Cooker has come to stay and has been demonstrated to be the greatest thing for the preparation of food that has ever been invented, and the best one on the market today is the "Caloric."

IT BAKES AND ROASTS, STEWS
STEAMS, BOILS

Every housewife should have a "Caloric" cookstove. It will prepare better meals, saving seventy-five per cent in fuel as well as time, labor, and discomfort. Do not confuse the "Caloric" with ordinary, so-called "fireless cookers"—there's a difference. The "Caloric" will save you the most money and do more than any other because it will take and roast food in its raw state without first heating or partially cooking over a fire, as well as stew, steam, boil, etc.
