H. J. SMITH THE INVENTOR WILL TEST HIS MACHINE JULY 11 ON BIG DAY.

MARKET DAY CELEBRATION IS ARRANGED FOR LAKOTA—BIG BAND THERE.

A market day celebration has been arranged at Lakota to take place July 11, at which H. J. Smith the inventor of an aeroplane who resides at that place will make his first flight. The Luther college band will be in attendance and a program of sports is being arranged including several baseball games, Devils Lake being on the list for a diamond contest.

The Smith aeroplane is in design similar to the Morane monoplane built in France but is a little lighter than the French machine and also has less air resistance. It is driven by a two cycle motor of 50 horsepower which weighs 165 pounds. It is the lightest motor for its power ever built in the northwest.

The forward part of the Smith aeroplane is built of steel tubing with all joints securely brazed, which not only gives a light and rigid construction but also adds greatly to its appearance as there are no cumbersome joints in view. This trimness also adds to the speed by lessening the air resistance. The rear part of the frame work is of laminated spruce trussed with piano wire. The forward part of this machine is covered with thin wood panels that protect the driver from the wind and also lowers the air resistance. The lighting gear cannot be further simplified as it is composed of only one moving metal part on each side of the machine and a rubber band that furnishes the spring to reduce the shock of landing. The trailing wheel is also provided with a spring to reduce shock. This lighting gear is so designed that it offers no extra air resistance. The wings have a sustaining surface of 150 square feet and are so well trussed that the entire weight of the machine, which is only 450 pounds, can be lifted from its outer ends. Whenever it is necessary to run the controlling wires over pulleys or around corners a steel chain is used as this eliminates all danger of these most essential parts breaking while the machine is in the air. The lateral control is by tips at the ends of the wings and it is believed that feature will in no way infringe the Wright patent.

The machine is now about ready to fly and as a great many people have expressed a desire to see its trial flight, Mr. Smith expects to try it in some town in this state that is going to have a Fourth of July celebration, providing suitable grounds are available for this purpose. Mr. Smith expects to keep this machine in the exhibition business but will devote little of his time to it as he is intending to take an active part in the perfecting of the aeroplane.

E. A. STEWART AND E. C. GINN TAKEN IN CHARGE AS SUSPECTS OF JURY VERDICT.

FAMOUS SKELETON CASE IS BELIEVED TRACED AFTER MONTHS INVESTIGATION.

Neche, N. D., June 27.—E. A. Stewart, United States Immigration agent at Winnipeg and E. C. Ginn of this place were arrested today supposed to be the murderer's of Worrall who's skeleton was found here in March. The verdict of the coroners jury has finally been directed to these two prominent men after months of investigation which has cost a vast amount of money, several inquests having been held.

The famous Neche skeleton case was first brought to light Oct. 15, 1910, when Worrall disappeared from the detention hospital at Neche. The report was first circulated that Worrall escaped and it was not until March 15 of this year that the matter was brought to light again when a skeleton the remains of Worrall was found. Investigations were started and a series of inquests were held which resulted in the admission from two girls who said that on the night Worrall disappeared they saw two men carrying a body across the field. The reason for the supposed murderous performance is not known and because of the seriousness of the entire affair little can be given out.

OPERA HOUSE WILL PROBABLY SHUT UP FOR SUMMER—BIG BILL THIS WEEK.

The Grand opera house as a winner to be presented this evening and as this may be the last week of vaudeville the local following should not refrain from taking advantage of the performances. Shale and Cole direct from the Orpheum circuit are billed for a singing and dancing act that is said to be whirlwind. In addition to this there will be an exceptional lot of moving pictures and the usual pictured melody by Mr. Foster. The opera house will probably close its doors for two months next week as has been the custom, although no definite announcement has been made.

Washburn, N. D., June 27.—Immediately after the submission of the case to the jury an adjournment will be taken on account of the reunion here. The jury will not begin deliberations in the Bickford case until nine o'clock tomorrow morning.

At 10:30 this morning Attorney Engerud for the state concluded argument for the jury, talking three and a half hours. Attorney Bangs for the defense began argument by stating that Attorney Engerud had made many willful misrepresentations in final argument. Bangs argument was brief and the case went to the jury shortly after noon after a lengthy charge by Judge Crawford.

July 5 is the date that has been fixed by Judge Kneeshaw for the calling of the term over which Judge Burr will preside and at which Reilly will be tried. The Milto physician has previously been in court several times on charges and it is supposed that that fact was responsible for the filing of the affidavit against Kneeshaw.

TRIED TO KILL THOMAS, WHO STRUCK OUT THIRTEEN OF THE LOCALS.

SECOND GAME CAME NEAR GOING BY WAYSIDE AFTER MANKE HAD PICKETTS SHUT OUT.

The champions fell down and stepped on their thumbs in the first contest with the Picketts at Grand Forks yesterday afternoon and whether the tall buildings had an effect on the locals or too much confidence has not been ascertained, nevertheless they lost in a painful accident by a score of 6 to 2.

Twelve hundred fans turned out to see what was doped up as a victory for the Lakers, for they must have felt the champions would win, as there was only a half a dozen that would chip in a couple of dollars apiece to take ten dollars that the Lakers were anxious to get rid of. The Lake backers did get rid of it and were thankful that the Pickett followers had cold feet for there was hundreds of dollars of Lake money that was left uncovered.

Caylor was sent to the mound in behalf of the home team while Thomas, a whirlwind from the South, held the artillery for the Picketts. He was effective with a speedy ball and a lot of mixture, but due to the fact that the locals endeavored to make a home run every time one stepped to the pan, may be given as the chief reason for the loss of the game, and this, together with a few boots put Devils Lake off the map for the time being.

On the other hand the Picketts climbed Caylor's feeble frame and landed on the sphere at opportune times, playing errorless ball, aside from the first inning when they were taken unawares. It can only be said that the Picketts were loaded with the best aggregation that has appeared on the Grand Forks diamond and while the Lakers had every bit as good a team they did not play as good baseball.

At the start off it looked as though the champions were going to walk away with the contest, but the Picketts evened matters up in their half of the initial inning and with Thomas playing the entire game, he won out, holding the champions to two scores, while the Picketts piled up two more in the fourth and two in the fifth as a result of hits and some slow playing on the part of the Lakers. The detailed score:

Summary—3 base hits, Foss and Evans; 2 base hits, Caylor, Toot Thompson, E. McIlraith and Roy; stolen bases, Chief Thompson, Zaluzki 2, Hallet and E. McIlraith; earned run, Picketts 1; bases on balls, off Thomas 3, off Caylor 1; struck out by Thomas 13, by Caylor 5; Double plays, T. Thompson to Lipps; Time of game 1 hour and 45 minutes. Attendance 1200. Umpire Sandlie.

With Thomas off the mound and Leigh in his place the Devils Lake team had a big chance for the second game and started out to win, pinning faith in Manke, who occupied the mound for the champions. It was an excellent contest until well along to the last and was only marred by the fact that the umpire made a couple of rash decisions which "Scrappy" Lipps took exception to and after saying something which did not appeal to the ears of his majesty, ruler of the fraacs, Mr. Lipps had the can tied to him and was sent to the bench, Mr. Caylor replacing him on the initial sack.

After a run in the first and in the fifth the Lakers looked all to the good, Manke pitching stellar ball sufficient to shut out the Grand Forks aggregation. Three more runs were added in the champion's first half of the ninth and thank goodness they were added, for the locals blew up so high that the And the Picketts could not hit Manke. Picketts landed four scores in their half of the ninth and with a man on second looked as though they might even matters up.

Losing the first game and nearly losing the second after having a clean shut out took the stock of the home aggregation down considerable, but at that the Picketts had an entirely different team than performed at the game the locals won early in the season. The score:

Deering Ideal Self-Dump Hay Rake

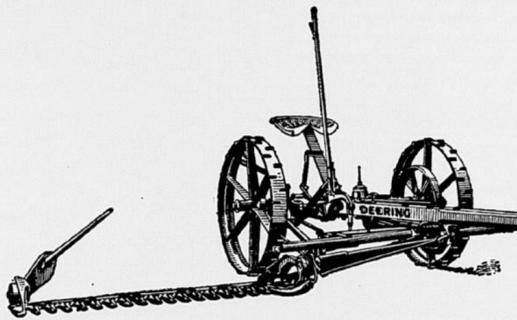

The Ideal self-dump hay rake is exceptionally durable, 95 per cent of the material used being the highest grade steel. When this rake is used to gather the hay crop the hay grower can feel absolutely certain that he has gathered every part of the crop in the best manner and in the shortest time. The rake is designed especially for clean raking, for strength and for durability.

The rake head is made of high carbon angle steel and is connected to the hound by malleable hangers. A truss rod is used on the larger sizes to strengthen the head and prevent sagging. The wheels are high so that the rake is well adapted to bunching heavy windrows.

The frame is constructed of the best angle steel, strongly riveted instead of bolted. This eliminates any possibility of the rake getting out of repair at critical times due to loose bolts.

Deering New Ideal Vertical Lift Mower

For cutting on rough or stumpy ground or hillsides a mower with a vertical lift for the cutter bar is necessary. The Deering New Ideal vertical lift mower has proved very satisfactory for cutting under these conditions. The vertical lift with the foot makes it possible to place the cutter bar in three distinct and different positions. First by means of the foot lift the cutter bar may be raised horizontally to the height necessary to clear ordinary obstructions. Second by means of the hand lever the outer end of the bar may be raised until the bar assumes a vertical position. Third by means of both the foot and the hand levers the outer and inner ends of the bar may be raised—the outer in advance of the inner end.

When bar is raised to a vertical position, the machine is automatically thrown out of gear, thus avoiding the danger of breaking the knife head.

This mower is a compined push cut and draw cut machine. This construction holds the inner shoe firmly to the ground and overcomes any tendency of the wheels to raise from the ground in heavy cutting. It has external gears with improved ball bearings.
