The Tide Has Turned

THE time is ripe now if it ever will be for selling furniture. We have been waiting long for that flax crop and now that the farmer has been blessed with weather suitable for threshing it is high time that the money was converted into furniture. We had intended springing something like this months ago, but there was little in circulation and we did not have nerve enough to take that. Now nothing stands in the way, not even prices which have been reduced to a minimum at our store and will continue from Saturday, November 4th, until further notice.

We have a handsome array of furniture which might be advertised at thirty nine and forty nine cent prices, but we dare not deceive the public with bargain store prices, and Metropolitan ideas in an effort to dispose of our goods. Everything that we advertise is just as represented. It does not represent all that we have in our store and only a few are mentioned to convince you that every piece of furniture in our store can be had at prices equal or better than the prices offered elsewhere in this state. Our stock is complete and we only ask that if you have any idea of purchasing furniture you consult us before you buy.
