DEVILS LAKE YOUNG MEN FELL FOR MAGAZINE COMBINATION AND HAVE LOST MONEY.

The following dispatch from New York will undoubtedly prove of considerable interest to several Devils Lake people who "fell" for stock in the Hampton-Columbian magazine. The advertising columns of the Hampton publication several months ago presented flattering inducements to investors in magazine stock and it was finally announced that Hampton's consolidated with the Columbian magazine under the name of Hampton-Columbian. A number of this city's prominent business men, particularly among the younger men, invested small amounts, ranging from $100 to $500 in stock of the company. The first inkling that anything was wrong came with the announcement from the news stands in the city that the publication for November had not arrived, although it is now long since due. The New York story indicates that the company has gone "bump" for the president and an attorney connected with the company have been arrested for fraudulent use of United States mails.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Frank Orr, president of the Hampton-Columbian Publishing company, publisher of the Hampton magazine and J. P. B. Atkin, a lawyer connected with the company, were arrested today by the postoffice inspectors, charged with using the mails to defraud investors in selling stock in the publishing company. They were held in $10,000 bail each for examination.

The alleged swindle will aggregate about two million, or about half of the company's capital stock, according to Assistant District Attorney Brown.

The complaints against the men are similar, accusing them of having induced various persons to send money for stock by falsely representing that the company was in good financial condition, and had a large surplus out of which it would pay a dividend in the near future.

Being unable to furnish bail they were remanded to the Tombs. The protested innocence.

DETAILS OF THE WRESTLING MATCH WHICH TOOK PLACE AT CRARY LAST WEEK.

Friday evening before a large crowd assembled in the Crary opera house, P. L. Gurrin successfully defended his title of heavyweight champion of the state against Al Powers of Grand Forks, in a hard-fought wrestling match in which Powers agreed to throw the drag at twice in an hour.

Powers secured his first and only fall in 27 minutes with a head lock and arm by but failed to repeat the act in the remaining few minutes.

Joe A. Miller of Devils Lake acted as referee and John McCab of Arvina acted as timekeeper.

The match was one of the closest and fastest ever seen in this part of the country and the spectators were held in continual suspense until time was called.

Mr. Powers clearly demonstrated that he is an expert in the wrestling game and a man of his cleverness and ability has never been seen before on the wrestling mat at Crary.

The champion was on the defensive nearly the entire time of the match and brought joy to the hearts of his backers by his cleverness in blocking and ability to get out of tight places.

The wrestling game has just opened and the boys from now on will see some good matches. Mr. Gurrin is in the pink of condition and has received numerous challenges from all parts of the state and any time that the big fellow is seen in action the lovers of the sport know that they will get their money's worth.

The preliminary to the big match was a fifteen minute bout by Mrs. Powers of Grand Forks and Mrs. Hanson of Grand Forks, the match resulted in a fall apiece for the ladies and furnished considerable excitement for the spectators.

Two blackthorn canes brought over from Ireland by Father Lee were won by Tom Maloney and Mike Shea. A quilt donated by Mrs. Barnes brought in $35. A beautiful set of knives and forks donated by Mrs. Peter Traynor brought in $22. A library table cover donated by Miss Lillian Nash brought in $15 and there were numerous other articles including a live pig that were disposed of with similar success.

Supper was served by the ladies of the church on both Thursday and Friday evenings and on Friday the guests enjoyed a dance that lasted until late in the morning.

Everybody votes the people of Starkweather royal entertainers and the success of the fair was a pleasure to all who attended.

WOMEN APPLAUD REDSKINS WHO AMUSE DINERS IN MARTIN'S POPULAR EATING HOUSE.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 11.—The whoops of Glacier Park Blackfoot Indians mingled with the cheers of richly gowned women last evening in Louis Martin's restaurant, at Forty-second street and Broadway. The Indians, their faces painted in war colors, whirled madly in their war dance for the entertainment of their hosts and many other diners, including "Uncle Joe" Cannon, formerly Speaker of the House of Representatives, and George W. Wickersham, Attorney General. It was a strangely contrasted picture, as the Indians in their moccasins, war feathers and suits of animal skin, whirled wildly, uttering whoops that could be heard a block away. One woman, in the interruption of the war dance, asked spotted Eagle why he painted his face and he answered "Like woman."

The Indians were the guests of Hoke Smith, who gave an after-theatre supper in honor of Howard A. Noble, general passenger agent of the Great Northern Railway. The Indians, who danced and danced, beside Spotted Eagle, were Horse's Ghost, Iron Whip, Crows Twice and Kills Twice. They are from Glacier Park in Northwestern Montana. Noble, who is representing the Great Northern Railway at the land and Irrigation Exposition, had many other railway men as his guests. "Uncle Joe" Cannon, among his proverbial black cigars, clapped his hand wildly as he watched the Indians dance.

COL. JOHN ARMSTRONG TO BE TRANSFERRED TO NEW MEXICO IN INDIAN CASES.

John F. Armstrong, who for the past two years has been in charge of the apportioning work for the Turtle Mountain Indians received word today that he had been transferred to New Mexico and Arizona, with headquarters at Santa Fe, New Mexico. Mr. Armstrong has been in charge of the Turtle Mountain work since Dec. 1st, 1909 and has been wonderfully successful during that time, winning a big majority of the cases brought up in behalf of the Indians. Prior to that time he was located at Helena in charge of similar work for the Rocky-Mountain Indians.

At Santa Fe Mr. Armstrong will be among the Navajo Indians and his work will take him to all of the Indian schools and land offices in New Mexico and Arizona.

Mr. Armstrong and his wife, while in this city, have been making their home at the Great Northern hotel and have a host of friends who, while they regret to learn of their departure, will congratulate Mr. Armstrong on the new location.

The work of the Turtle Mountain Indians is now in such shape that it can be left in charge of the Superintendents and does not need a special agent in the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will leave next week for their new home, going directly to Santa Fe.

MAN WANTED FOR JUMPING A BOARD BILL AT KENMARE WALKS INTO COUNTY JAIL.

Minot, N. D., Nov. 11.—It is getting so now that when Sheriff Kelly wants to arrest a man he just opens the jail door and lets the fellow walk in, and then turns the key.

Today a warrant was placed in Kelly's hand for the arrest of Slim Hanson of Kenmare, charged with jumping a board bill and stealing an overcoat. Hanson drifted down to Minot and this morning he went to the jail to see Dave Hall, jailor, and borrow some money. Just a few minutes before Kelly had told Hall to be on the lookout for Slim.

Slim walked up to the jail door and knocked.

"Who's there?" asked Hall.

"It's me, Slim Hanson from Kenmare," replied Hanson.

"All right," said Hall "come in," and Hall opened the door.

Slim walked in and started to tell a hard luck story. He had to have some money quick and wanted Hall to furnish it.

After Slim got through with his story, Hall told Slim about the warrant.

Slim's face grew pale and his jaws fell about six inches. As Slim was deliberating on the affair, Hall turned the key and assigned Slim to his cell.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

HOW KING HENRY IV. FOOLED THE LAWYERS.

By A. W. MACY.

The sixth parliament of Henry IV. of England met at Coventry in 1404. It was called the Unlearned Parliament by some, and the Illegitimate Parliament by others; while by others still it was disrespectfully dubbed the Parliament of Dunces. The reason for this was that it contained no lawyers. There had been much complaint that lawyers were in the habit of securing seats in parliament, not for the public good, but to further the interests of their clients and incidentally feather their own nests. Henry himself said that the members often spent more time on private suits than on public business. Availing himself of an ordinance passed under Edward III., he stipulated in the writs that no lawyers should be returned. He had the parliament meet in Coventry, so as not to be near the courts. Notwithstanding it contained no lawyers, and although it was called by derisive names as noted, it seems to have been as good as the average, and to have done some sensible things. Strange to say, though obsolete long ago, the ordinance excluding lawyers was not repealed till 1871.

MINOT ATTORNEY TO DELIVER MEMORIAL ADDRESS FOR THE ELKS SUNDAY, DEC. 3.

In a letter received today by Secretary Mitchell of the local Elks, Judge L. J. Pallen, Jr., of Minot, accepted the invitation given him to deliver the Memorial Address before the Elks and their friends on December 3rd. This is the date of the annual Lodge of Sorrow of the Elks lodge and an especial effort is to be made in this city to have it carried out in detail. The Opera House has been secured and will be appropriately decorated. An especially fine musical program is being prepared by the committee, which with the Memorial Address and the ritualistic work will make an impressive ceremony. The attendance will not be limited to Elks but the public is extended an invitation to be present and join with the lodge in commemorating the brothers who have passed away in this and other states.

SHORT CIRCUITS

One of the best crop stories we have heard yet comes by special correspondence from the western part of Ramsey county, as follows:

Our old friend, C. M. Conzet had a narrow escape the other day while picking corn. He lost his balance while picking the topmost ear and plunged head foremost downward. After falling two stories he caught another ear and hung on while a load of hay was pushed under him and he was rescued.

They are telling a story on a well known professional man of Devils Lake that is almost too good to be true—to those who know the winning ways of the man in question. Recently the man was traveling and at Crary two ladies took the train. They were unable to secure seats together so one sat down in front of the other. Wishing to have her friend with her, one of the ladies leaned across the aisle to where the Devils Lake man was sitting and timidly asked:

"I beg your pardon, sir, but are you alone?"

The man without turning his head the slightest, but twisting his mouth to an alarming degree and shielding it with his hand, muttered: "Cut it out, kid, cut it out—muh wife's with me."

As S. A. Hann rushed into the boiler factory he screamed:

"Two nice young men went in to see a very young and green M. D. Who sat alone with patience rare, But not a patient in the chair. The young men knocked upon the door, The doctor cried, 'I eat one more, When one boy said: 'I bet a cent That this is not the Doc-ument.'"

Good Deacon Jones sat down to eat, With ma and Willie, Jane and Pete. Says ma to pa: "A blessing say; Please pass the onions, Lettuce pray."

Night Patrolman James Macbeth has always been considered somewhat of a humorist but he succeeded in slipping one over on "The World" man yesterday that sounds pretty good. We were seated in Otto's cafe consuming an evening order of "coffee and" when James dropped in and joined the conversation. From one topic to another the talk drifted to mad dogs, probably the sight of the pup that James uses to protect him bringing it up. "Jim," we said, "what is your experience is the best way to tell a mad dog?"

"Well," replied James, with that twinkle that means volumes, "according to past experience I have found that if one really wants to tell a mad dog anything, the best way is to shoot him first and tell him afterwards."
