GIRLS, DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try This, Hair Gets Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful at Once.

Immediate!—Yes. Certain!—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through the hair taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, dry, faded, brittle and thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and itching hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks use when you see new hair fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

STOCK HOGS IN WINTER.

Scant Feeding a Mistaken and Costly Idea of Economy.

The stock hog is an easy victim of disease in certain cases. He is generally "roughed" through the winter. He doesn't receive a balanced ration in many cases. It often happens that the stock hog's owner wants to get the animal through the winter at small expense. The owner intends to wait until spring before doing any systematic feeding.

This is a grave mistake. The feed given the stock hog need not be as expensive as the feed given the hog in the fattening corral, but a ration which will supply the proper kind of nourishment should be given. A ration which will promote good growth can be formed by combining corn, oilmeal, shorts, bran, alfalfa hay and tankage. When oilmeal is fed tankage can be dispensed with. When alfalfa hay is fed bran can be dispensed with. The alfalfa hay will take the place of bran; the oilmeal will act as a conditioner the same as tankage. While tankage contains about twice as much protein as oilmeal (tankage contains 90 per cent protein, and oilmeal contains 34 per cent), oilmeal contains 6 per cent fat and 9 per cent fiber. Oilmeal is a very desirable feed for roughing hogs through the winter. When oilmeal is fed regularly the stock hog does not have a rough, unthrifty appearance when spring comes. He will be sleek and smooth even if he is not fat.

DISINFECTING THE DAIRY COW BARN

It is always good practice where a contagious disease of any kind has gained access to the herd to disinfect the entire stable. In fact, this is often imperative if it is desired to stamp out the disease. Disinfection is absolutely necessary where tuberculosis has gained access to the herd. Bulletin 123 of the Pennsylvania State College of Agriculture, recently published, gives a plan for disinfecting the stables which is valuable for this as well as for some other diseases:

First.—Remove all manure, litter, loose dirt, loose, rotten boards and scrape the floor clean.

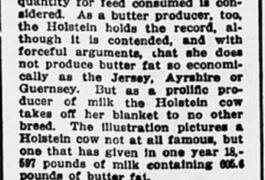

Second.—Sweep the ceilings and walls free from cobwebs, dust and dirt.

Third.—Wash the feed boxes, mangers, stanchions and partitions with hot water containing enough lye or washing powder to cut the dirt. Scrub all these objects vigorously with a stiff brush.

Fourth.—Spray the walls, ceilings and floors with bichloride of mercury solution (one one-thousandth) or a 5 per cent carbolic acid solution (not crude).

Fifth.—Flush the floor with a saturated solution of iron sulphate or a solution of chloride of lime (one pound to three gallons of water).

Sixth.—Spray interior of feed boxes, mangers, stanchions and partitions with the 5 per cent solution of carbolic acid. This is done for the reason that there is danger of poisoning the animals if the bichloride of mercury is used for spray upon those structures which the animals can lick with their tongues. The carbolic acid is absolutely harmless if used in a 5 per cent solution.

Ration to Prepare Animal For the Lactation Period.

The care of a cow before freshening usually has a very marked influence upon the work she will do during the coming lactation period, says Hoard's Dairyman. Cows that are run down in flesh should be given a ration while dry that will build them up and prepare them for the work of the coming year.

Immediately prior to freshening the rations should consist of light feeds that are not too heating in character. If the herd has been cared for in some such manner we would suggest that they be worked up gradually to a ration consisting of about twenty-five pounds of corn silage, twenty pounds of roots, with as much clover or alfalfa hay as they care to consume twice each day and corn fodder once a day in such quantities as will be consumed without unnecessary waste.

This roughage could well be supplemented by a grain mixture of 300 Give the Hogs a Chance.

Hogs will make the cheapest growth when they get three-fourths of their feed from pasture. This pasture should not be grass, but some legume or rape. Hogs grown on such pasture can be brought to the pork stage for from two-thirds to one-half the cost when on dry feed. They have better bone and muscle, fewer lice, and instead of lying down and breathing dust they are nosing about among the herbage and breathing pure air. They are healthier and stronger. The sows will have more pigs and better ones, and the danger of chlamydia is less.

MOTHER, IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour. Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross or feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily full of cold or has a sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels and you will have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled.

NATURALIZATION ARRANGEMENT

Some readers may be interested in a new arrangement for holding naturalization hearings which Judge Buttz has decided to put in practice. Under the naturalization law no hearing can be held later than thirty days prior to an election, and for the accommodation of applicants for second citizen's papers, so that they may be able to take part in the primaries in June, the Judge will make an extra trip to each of the counties in this district in May. Hitherto it has usually been necessary for applicants to secure their papers at the regular terms preceding the election, thus causing them inconvenience and sometimes shutting them out altogether from the election. This new arrangement will not only prove an advantage to the applicants, but also considerable time and expense to the various counties will be saved because of holding the examinations at a time while there is no regular term of court, thus avoiding delaying juries in their work. At the same time Judge Buttz will also hear motions, default cases and take care of other chambers matters which the attorneys may care to dispose of. This will undoubtedly be appreciated by both attorneys and clients as the expense and time of trips to Devils Lake in these matters will in many instances be saved.

The dates on which these various hearings in May will be held are: Ramsey County at Devils Lake on Wednesday, May 20, 1914, at 9 a.m. Towner county at Cando, on Wednesday, May 20, 1914, at 3 p.m. Rolette county, at Rolla, Thursday, May 21, 1914, at 5 p.m. Benson county, at Minnewaukan, Saturday, May 23, 1914, at 9 a.m. sharp. Eddy county, at Now Rockford, Saturday, May 23, 1914, at 1 p.m. Applicants should be careful to have their applications filed at least ninety days before the date set for the hearing as this is one of the requirements made.

A large delegation of Edmore people came over and took in the Mid-Winter fair this week.
