All the surrounding community flocked to the little city to participate in the great festivities as this was one of the greatest days in the history of the town. From early morning until mid-day the main highways into the city were crowded, people coming from all directions and from far and near, that they might celebrate Independence Day in a fitting manner. There were two ball teams present the "Yellow Gophers" and the "Pumpkin Centers". They played two games, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. We do not know what the scores were but it was evident that the Yellow Gophers carried off the honors of the day.

After the first ball game in the afternoon there was races and sports of all kinds, carnival attractions on the streets and the crowds could find something to amuse themselves with every moment of the day. The ladies of the Methodist church were on hand at supper time with a fine lunch which is always welcome at a celebration. After supper the Gophers carried away the honors in another ball game, and after a very pretty display of fireworks the remainder of the evening and until the wee small hours of the morning was spent in dancing on the splendid bowery which was erected in the lumber yard. Great credit is due to the people of Derrick for the fitting manner in which they celebrated the day which is dear to all liberty loving Americans.
