WEEK OF REST FOR LAWMAKERS

Legislators Give Committees Chance to Catch Up.

WORK OF SESSION TO DATE

Large Number of Measures Are Disposed of, a Majority of Them Being Killed.

Bismarck—(Special)—After having run at high pressure for twenty-two days, without recess with exception of one day for the house following the inaugural ball, the good resolutions of New Year's stay on the job and attend strictly to business fell by the wayside and the legislature adjourned for a week of rest. Perhaps there was some reason in the plea that the members would have a clearer view of legislation by getting home and talking the matter over with their constituents; also in the claim that this strict and close attention to legislation may have narrowed their viewpoint. But the fact is that a good many members were anxious to get home and look after personal affairs for a week and that a great deal of committee work must be done before much real progress can be made in passing laws, particularly appropriation measures, and both bodies must mark time till the committees can catch up.

The Casualties—Up till adjournment the house had introduced 227 measures and the senate 165, these aside from some concurrent resolutions. The house killed fifty-six of its own bills and had two killed in the senate; it passed forty-five of its own and seven of the senate's. The senate killed thirty-five of its own bills and had one killed in the house; it passed thirty-five of its own and five originating in the house. Thus there remain 122 house bills and 109 senate bills yet in the hands of the committees. If the new rule holds Feb. 9 is the last day that bills can be introduced. There will, therefore, be but seven days when the present recess is ended in which new measures can be introduced. It is easy to see that it is unlikely that a large number of bills can be introduced in that time, and the possibility of a last minute rush and scramble is diminished. The total result of the first twenty-two days is seen in the passage of twelve new laws, two of which have already been signed by the governor, one of which reduces the legal rate of interest from 7 to 6 per cent and the other making it a felony for a bank officer to make a false statement or entry with regard to the affairs of the bank.

Among the Dead—Of the house bills which have been killed may be found some of general interest. No. 38 would provide for personal bonds for county treasurers. Instead of surety, under certain conditions—a whack at the surety companies and their high premium rate. No. 44 would have taken away the $500 a year expense money from the judges of the supreme court; this matter is being taken care of by senate bill 142. No. 66 threatened to raise a religious question by permitting the inspection of convents, monasteries and religious schools and was therefore shelved. No. 74 would compel pool halls to close at midnight, but when some enterprising member tacked on an amendment requiring public dances to cease at the same hour nothing could save its life. No. 82 would have forbidden newspapers to hold subscription contests—and it died. No. 132 would prevent the employment of teachers who have only passed the eighth grade of the common schools; it would require something additional, each year; but teachers are scarce and wages are low and the qualifications could not be raised without increasing the pay—hence these tears. The majority of senate bills resting in the mortuary are proposed amendments to the constitution to affect the length of term of various officers. No. 63 would prevent the state treasurer from placing his own surety bond and would permit the state auditing board to handle it.

Rural Credits—A proposed constitutional amendment that is attracting wide attention among the farmers is that introduced by Senator Bond of Williston. Congressman Norton of this state has attempted to have the federal government take action along these lines and his example has been followed by United States Senators Gronna and McCumber, each of whom have followed Mr. Norton's example and introduced measures. Mr. Bond's plan promises speedier and prompt relief, for it involves the use of $100,000 of state money as a guarantee for the issuance of state bonds, money from the sale of which is to be loaned upon farm lands in the state, through the state banking board. The loans can be made payable on the plan of building loan association payments and the interest would amount to 4.8 per cent. There is money now on hand in special and sinking funds, which is deposited in banks that pay the state 3 per cent per annum for it, and in turn lend it to farmers at 8 and 12 per cent. Why should not the state lend it direct? It now lends money on farm lands through the State Bonding Department—Despite the fact that the supreme court held the 1913 law, which provided for the bonding of state and county officials by the state itself through a surety bonding department, to be unconstitutional, the law would provide for this. The new measure is said to remove the unconstitutional sections from the law.

money available from the university and school lands revenue. The security is ample, for North Dakota land will never be lower in price than it is now.

Finances—As demands for money come in upon the legislature the work of the special committee, whose duty it is to find where and how much cuts can be made in expenditures, grows. It is determined that about $157,000 is to be cut from the capitol clerk hire and maintenance and all departments are to be reduced pro rata. It is understood that state institutions will also suffer proportionate trimming and that every branch of the government will be put on shorter rations than before. Yet some legislators seem blandly unconscious of the conditions and we have bills appropriating $6,000 for a state business agent; $15,000 for another round of public accountants; $6,000 each for the state fair at Grand Forks and the state exposition at Bismarck; providing for the establishment of a state printing office, to erect a building and buy machinery and have it ready by 1917; for increasing the salaries of the state oil inspector and other appointing officers and such like. One redeeming feature is that proposed by L. L. Twichell, who would repeal all special mill tax appropriation laws and have the maintenance of the state's educational institutions come, as does that of the others, from a direct appropriation of a specific amount.

Investigations—The investigation into the charges made by the Rott resolution against the board of control would have resulted in a finding of "no bill" by the committee, but at the last moment new charges were preferred against the board by three citizens of Jamestown and as these charges were specific and sworn to by responsible citizens the committee felt it necessary that an investigation be made and so recommended. As a result a committee has been appointed to make full investigation. The charges include the claim that the board took $100,000 appropriated for a tubercular hospital by the legislature and spent it elsewhere and built no hospital; that it built a new hospital and then drove the patients out and lodged them in the poultry house and the amusement hall and took the hospital building for the use of the superintendent and his official family of two; that it charged two counties with insane patients when the patients were employed and being paid wages by the board; that it paid an architect $10,500 salary when the law provides he shall be paid $1,500. These charges are answered by the board by citing the proceedings of the emergency board, by whom they were authorized to diverge the money from its original destination; that they have used their best judgment in handling the affairs of the asylum and in accommodating a number of patients far in excess of the capacity of the buildings.

Oil Inspection—The old game diet hard. It is now proposed to tax gas oil and kerosene 7½ cents a barrel. Inspection is not needed, and the only reason for inspection is that it provides salaries for the inspectors.

Game Wardens—House bill No. 194 would abolish game wardens and deputies and the expense and require the sheriffs and deputies of each county to perform these duties. Economy here.

Mothers' Pensions—House bill 111 would give mothers with children from $5 to $15 a month. It would save many an innocent child from being sent to the reform school, to associate with young criminals, because the state has nowhere else to send it. But the state cannot afford it just now. It needs an exhibit at the San Francisco exposition.

Normal at Dickinson—Another state normal school. The concurrent resolution has passed both houses and will, therefore, be submitted to the people in 1916. Probably the voters will feel richer than the legislators do now.

The manufacturers of North Dakota should have small, attractive displays of their output on exhibition at the North Dakota building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco. Owing to the short time intervening before the opening day these exhibits should be sent by express prepaid, to the Secretary of the North Dakota Commission, North Dakota building, P. P. I. MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See its tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative" and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50c bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with content any other fig syrup.

BEARING ORCHARD TO TRADE

We are owners of a large acreage of bearing orchard ranging from 6 to 11 years of age, in the Wenatchee Valley, Washington. We selected and planted every tree because of its revenue producing possibilities and every tree is a high grade commercial variety.

We are not going out of the orchard business, but a 6 and 12 acre tract is not convenient to operate in connection with the main orchard. Will trade for first class North Dakota land.

If you are looking for a home in a mild climate in the most famous fruit growing district of the entire country, where peaches, pears, apricots, plums, grapes, sweet cherries, small berries, and the highest grade apples in the World are grown; with telephones, rural mail deliveries, electric lights, and daily papers delivered to your door, you may be interested in one of these tracts. 12 sq. write to,
