RUSSIANS ON WATER WAGON

In the May American Magazine Captain Granville Fortescue writes an article entitled, "Battling for Warsaw." It is an account of the great war on the eastern frontier of Germany. Following is an extract: "When Russia went to war the Czar with a stroke of the pen put one hundred and eighty million people on the water wagon. And, believe me, this water wagon 'ikon is no bluff. It is harder to get a drink in Russia today than it is at Lake Mohonk. How wise was this edict of the ruler of Russia is now shown in the condition of his army. Their fighting effectiveness is higher than that of the French and fully equal to the English, measured by the physical fitness of the units composing the forces. On the other hand, the German soldiers nearly all carry flasks of whisky or other spirits. Ivan, the Siberian knows this, and I fear that the famous edict is sometimes broken when a batch of prisoners is gathered in. The flasks are certainly contraband of war."

There was no insurance on the Open building, but the owners of the other buildings carried some protection.

BEAUTIFUL RAIN MAKES US SMILE

The fine rain last Friday and Saturday was a most welcome one. While there was no particular need of rain at this time, it was very welcome and has put the ground in such condition that growing crops will come along rapidly. Wheat seeding was nearly all done before this rain set in and many had sown their oats and some barley. Coming just after wheat seeding it has soaked the ground up so that in a few days the wheat fields will be green. All grain sown is coming up nicely, and there has never been better crop conditions in the history of the country than there is at this time. Farmers and business men alike are smiling over the present conditions. It is very seldom that we note the trees all leaved out and grass and grains up and green in April in North Dakota, but such is the case this year.
