ANTI-ENLISTMENT LEAGUE FORMED. New York, Nov. 3.—An anti-enlistment league, pledging all male members over 18 years of age to refrain from enlisting for any international war in which the United States may be become involved, is forming at 61 Quincy Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., not far from the Navy Yard, where hundreds of United States Marines are held in readiness to leave at a moment's notice for any part of the world where American interests are threatened.

And the Marines are all "het up" over the matter, too. "Telling it" to them has its drawbacks, for, as "Johnnies-on-the-spot," they form the first line of the national mobile defense, and they cannot get the viewpoint of the peace-at-any-price propagandists who have established headquarters close by.

The Illinois Daily Newspaper Association, in session in Hotel La Salle, today indorsed simplified spelling in the following communication sent to members throughout the state: "The Illinois Daily Newspaper Association, in session in Chicago, Oct. 19, and 20, desiring to co-operate with the Simplified Spelling Board in its efforts to accustom the general public to the use of simplified spelling in print, expresses approval of the list of twelve words proposed in 1908 and in use since that time by the National Education Association and Endorsed by the Illinois Teachers' Association, as follows: Tho, altho, thru, throout, thoro, thoroily, thorfare, program, progol, catalog, decalog and pedagol. "The Illinois Daily Newspaper Association furthermore adopts the simplified spelling of these words in printed matter and in correspondence of the association and urges their adoption by the individual members of the association for use in their respective publications."

The list of words indorsed by the Illinois publishers today has been used by The Post for years.—Chicago Evening Post.

State Marine Corps (which is neither the army or navy), has a scant ten thousand men with which to hold the foe at bay in the early stages of an invasion. These ten thousand are ready to a man and a button, but instead of ten we should be fifty thousand strong, to insure against war and as a means of protection against an unjust aggression. Perhaps if New York was bombarded by a foreign fleet the headquarters of the anti-enlistment league would remove from 61 Quincy Street, Brooklyn, to—the Navy Yard, maybe. Stranger things than that have happened."

CANNOT BEAT NORTH DAKOTA

257 BUSHELS OF SPUDS PER ACRE.

O. M. Rognlien of Walum, this state whose farm is located less than two miles southwest of that town, can easily claim the coveted distinction of being the champion potato raiser in this section of the state. He has just completed digging a crop of tuber beauties which for size and soundness cannot be excelled anywhere. From four acres a total yield of 1,028 bushels resulted, thus making an average of 257 bushels to the acre. On one quarter acre 99 bushels and 25 pounds were secured. Four of these potatoes weighing five and three-fourths lbs., are on exhibition at the Farmers' State Bank at Walum.

GIRLS! HAVE WAY THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments try this!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair rots, falls out and dies; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

THE NARROW BOSPORUS.

At Its Greatest Width It Measures Only 9,838 Feet.

The Bosporus contains few dangerous submarine rocks or shoals. The locality of these few is indicated by lighthouses or buoys. The water is only slightly tinged with salt and is marvelously clear. The sands, glittering apparently near the surface, may be twenty feet below.

On a map, of whatever scale, each of those familiar straits, which cleave lands and continents asunder, seems hardly more than a silvery thread. Yet as one sails over their famous waters the opposing shores on either hand sometimes appear far away. The strait of Gibraltar, which wrests Africa from Europe, is sixteen miles wide; that of Messina, forcing its way between Italy and Sicily, is from two to twelve; that of Bonifacio, which, like a blade of steel, cuts Corsica and Sardinia apart, is seven miles in width at its most contracted point; even the Dardanelles expands from over one to four.

But the illusion as to distance created by the map is reality as to the Bosporus. Of Bosphorodere, where it attains its broadest breadth, its hemmed in waters largest to only 9,838 feet, or about one and four-fifths miles. Between Roumel Hissar and Anadol Hissar they shrink to one-sixth of these dimensions, or to 1,641 feet.—From "Constantinople," by Edwin A. Grosvenor.

THE MUDDY MISSOURI.

How the River Lowers the Surface of the Land It Drains.

The Missouri is the muddiest river in the Mississippi valley. It carries more silt than any other large river in the United States except possibly the Rio Grande and the Colorado. For every square mile of country drained it carries downstream 381 tons of dissolved and suspended matter each year. In other words, the river gathers annually from the country that it drains more than 123,000,000 tons of silt and soluble matter, some of which it distributes over the flood plains below to form productive agricultural lands, but most of which finds its way at last to the gulf of Mexico.

It is by means of data of this kind that geologists compute the rate at which the lands are being eroded away. It has been shown that the Missouri river is lowering the surface of the land drained by it at the rate of 1 foot in 6,036 years. The surface of the United States as a whole is now being worn down at the rate of 1 foot in 9,120 years.

It has been estimated that if this erosive action of the streams of the United States could have been concentrated on the isthmus of Panama it would have dug in seventy-three days the canal which was completed after ten years' work with the most powerful appliances yet devised by man.—Geological Survey Bulletin.

Quarantined.

In one of the little mountain towns of the south a Chautauqua meeting was held last summer for the first time. The fact was advertised for some distance round the town, but the older negroes especially did not understand what it was all about.

Across the front of the little hotel of the village was hung a banner bearing the one word "Chautauqua." Up to this hotel one day drove an old negro in a one horse wagon containing a few vegetables, which he hoped to sell to the proprietor, as he had done on former occasions. But when he saw the banner with its ominous word he was seized with fright and would not go into the building or even get out of his wagon. When the proprietor appeared the old fellow inquired nervously, "What disease is you all quarantined for, boss?"—Youth's Companion.

Tossing in a Blanket. Tossing in the blanket is a very old sport or punishment. "Blanketing" Ben Jonson called it, and in Hollinshed (1577) we find a denunciation of "jesting, plaining, blanketing and such other filthy and dishonorable exercises." The French have a special verb, "berner," for it, "berne" being the name given to the sheet or blanket used. The verb "berner" is also used for the Moorish punishment, in which four men hold the victim by his ankles and wrists and send him as high as they can—presumably with no blanket to catch him.

By Comparison. "Dukkins is a great comfort to me." "I don't see how you can say that. He's the most tiresome chump I have ever met." "That's just it. Although I don't amount to much, it's true, every time I look at Dukkins I feel that I could amount to less."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

His Favorite Play. Edith—That Mr. Phan is conversationally impossible. Ethel—Why so? Edith—We were talking about the theatre, and when I inquired what was his favorite play he said if he had any favorite it was seeing a man steal second.—Boston Transcript.
