There must be a good reason for this. It is because alum was found to be unhealthful.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

Peter Radford

ON THE AMERICANISM OF WASHINGTON.

In these days when men earnestly inquire what true Americanism is, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States afford a convenient touchstone for the citizenship. These documents promise the citizens the rights endowed upon them by their Creator and among these rights are mentioned life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. It is God-made and not man-made liberty that our government proposes to give its citizens. Our government denies man the right to create liberty or grant special freedom. We can only define and equally distribute them. Thomas Jefferson in writing the Declaration of Independence was so confident of the unity and patriotism of the people that he uses less than ten per cent of space in laying down principles of government and the remainder is devoted to complaints against King George. Our forefathers in framing government spent almost their entire time in constructing machinery for preserving and distributing liberty to the people and spent very little time in defining it, although we have since added fifteen amendments to the Constitution, each specifically defining human rights.

The Declaration of Independence was signed and the Constitution of the United States adopted by men who had dedicated their lives and their property to their country. Patriotism ruled the day and indifference to the public welfare was an unthinkable crime. But in this age, we have become so absorbed in business affairs that we have little time to kiss the Bible, salute the flag, read the Declaration of Independence or study the Constitution of the United States. The question uppermost in the minds of the patriots who founded the government was "What can I give to my countrymen?" But the predominant question of this commercial age is "What can I get from my countrymen?" These instruments of government have been compelled to do duty under both regimes. It is true we have had to re-write the Constitution, fought a war interpreting it and have placed fifteen patches upon it and have filled libraries with laws expounding it, but it has stood the test.

The Americanism of Washington places unbounded confidence in the people and trusts them and them alone with government and we elect men to serve, not rule, us. The citizen is made the sovereign and we have now almost twenty million kings—and a large number of queens—sitting upon the American throne and the responsibilities of government rest heavily upon their royal shoulders. The conditions now confronting the citizenship of this nation require that the traditions of Washington and Jefferson be fulfilled and that every citizen render allegiance to government, for when rulers abandon the scepter, fools hold court, and when a citizen of this nation neglects his duty to government, he abdicates a throne, surrenders his rights to the blessings of citizenship, mocks the patriots who followed Washington to victory and tramples upon the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

MOTHERS

You will be glad to know you can now buy a perfect shoe for your child

All leathers for Children; for Young Women

Professor Thomas D. Wood of Columbia University says:

"One million school children in the United States have spinal curvature, flat foot or some moderate deformity serious enough to interfere to some degree with health."

Dr. Evans in the Chicago Tribune says:

"One million school children are doomed to go through life more or less incapacitated, limited in their earning capacity and uncomfortable for the remainder of their lives."

THIS is a matter worthy of your most serious consideration. You must take the responsibility for the health and comfort of your child. In offering the New "Selz Waukenphast Jr.," you are urged to accept these shoes with fullest confidence. They are the result of years of experiment on the part of the best designing talent available in the great Selz factories, those possessing scientific knowledge of the human foot. The feet retain perfect repose in these shoes, and have plenty of toe room.

These scientifically constructed shoes are now displayed in our windows and ready for your closer inspection in our store
