

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN IN NORTHWEST

Governor Cox Receives A Large Number of Requests

GOVERNOR PLEASSED

California Democrats In Belief They Can Win State

Dayton, O., July 15.—The west may be developed into one of the chief battle grounds early in the national political campaign, was an inference drawn from a conference here. Governor James M. Cox, the democratic candidate for president, stated many requests that he open the campaign in the west have been received and in his talk with newspaper men, the governor left the impression that he, at least was interested in the proposition of early invasion of the west if not, in fact favorable to it. He stated, however, that campaign arrangements are in the hands of the national committee and that he could say nothing definite until he has conferred with the committee.

W. W. Blaine, president of the Corn Palace, Mitchell, South Dakota, headed a delegation that called on the governor urging him to accept an invitation to speak at the festival, which is from September 27 to October 7. The Minnesota state fair management also has wired asking him to speak there. Charles E. Morris, the governor's private secretary, telegraphed from San Francisco that he was being besieged by California delegations urging that the campaign be opened in that state. Mr. Morris told the governor that California's democrats are certain they can carry the state for him.

Considerable interest now is centering in the conference of the national committee with the governor on July 20. It has not been established whether the meeting will be held at the governor's home at Traill's End, or in Columbus, but the governor said he would wire Chairman Cummings that the plans made for the committee meeting here seemed satisfactory to him. The date and place of holding the official notification ceremonies are expected to be determined at the conference. Governor Cox intimated that some time between August 15 and 20 would be a satisfactory date for the notification.

BIG INCREASE IN COAL PRODUCTION

Washington, July 15.—Bituminous coal production in the United States from the first of the year to July 4 totaled 262,272,000 tons, an increase of 44,173,000 tons over the production figures for the same period in 1919, the geological survey announced tonight. Production, however, has not equaled the amount mined in 1918 or 1917, in which years on July fourth, 288,000,000 tons and 278,000,000 tons, respectively, had been produced.

The geological survey's figures bear out recent statements at interstate commerce commission hearings as to an alarming decrease in shipments via the Great Lakes for the Northwest. "Total lake shipments since the beginning of the season" the Survey said "now amount to 4,130,000 tons, as compared with 8,561,000 tons in 1918 and 10,953,000 tons in 1919. With more than one third of the season of navigation gone, the lake movement is thus nearly four and a half million tons behind 1918 and nearly six million tons behind 1919."

We have a fairly complete stock of ordinary sizes and we will have odd sizes made for you as quickly as possible.

IS YOUR GRANARY ROOF SAFE FOR ANOTHER YEAR?

You will soon have to store a lot of new grain. You can't afford to have any rain or snow get into it. You won't have much time when harvest is on to look after such repairs.

A square or two of roofing bought and used now may save you a lot of trouble and expense later on. We have the roofing—get what you need here.

John A. Percival Who Died July Sixth, Much Thought Of

Old timers of Devils Lake were shocked and grieved to learn of the death of Hon. John A. Percival, who died very suddenly from heart failure at his farm home near Heart city July 6.

Mr. Percival was born in Vermont in 1848, and came to Devils Lake in 1883, and took a pre-emption claim of a quarter of land which now comprises a part of the Clark M. Kelly farm east of the city. He was later appointed register of deeds and ex-officio clerk of the court of this county when it was organized and his deputy was C. W. Greene, now secretary of the Elks lodge of this city. After filling this position for about five years, he was appointed bank examiner and served in this position for some time, and later was appointed receiver of the U. S. land office, which was then established in this city. After retiring from this position he engaged in the banking business in this city and became president of the Merchants National Bank, and later this bank failed, but Mr. Percival paid out in full, although it took every dollar he had accumulated. After closing up his business here he went to Fargo and became a partner in the Weum, Watt, Percival Co., a wholesale notion house, and later sold out his interest and went to Minneapolis and engaged in the wholesale cigar business. He finally became interested in mining and organized the Consolidated Interstate Mining Co., and, as the mines he owned and controlled proved very valuable properties, he soon became rich and was rated as a millionaire. He lived for several years in Duluth, but later moved to New York city to manage his mining properties, being president of the company. Many Devils Lake people are interested in some of these mining properties. Mr. Percival was very active in politics during his residence in Ramsey county, and ex-senator Hansbrough really owed his election as U. S. senator to Mr. Percival more than to any other one man.

John A. Percival was a likable man, and numbered his friends by the hundreds. He was always very ambitious and was a hustler and it was through his vim and push that he amassed a fortune during the later years of his life. He was a member of all the Masonic bodies of Devils Lake, including the blue lodge, chapter and commandery, and held a life membership in the local blue lodge.

He leaves an aged widow and one daughter, Mrs. John S. Macnie, wife of a prominent physician of Minneapolis. His other daughter, Blance S. Percival, died in this city January 16, 1894, and was buried in the local cemetery, but later the remains were removed to the family burial grounds at Jerico, Vermont. The funeral of Mr. Percival was held at Jerico, Vermont, Friday last and the remains were laid to rest beside those of his daughter.

The many old friends and associates of Mr. Percival who still live in Devils Lake and Ramsey county will regret very much to learn of his death.

The couple went for a boat ride late in the evening and when they failed to return a search was started. The bodies were found the next day about 100 feet from shore where the water was about eight feet deep. Martin's parents reside at Sutherland, Ia.
