AMERICAN RED CROSS TO GIVE RURAL HELP

Program for Public Health and Community Welfare Is Now Well Under Way.

Rural communities and towns of less than 8,000 population benefit in a very large part by the public health and community welfare work of the American Red Cross. Almost all of the 2,600 Red Cross chapters have some rural sections in their territory. Therefore the Red Cross Rural Service.

Briefly, the purpose of Rural Service is to assist people to get out of life more health, wealth and happiness. In this purpose public health instruction and general educational progress of both children and adults play a big part.

Recreation is found to be one of the biggest needs in rural life. There is lack of sufficient play-life for the children and social life for the adults. Picnics, pageants, debating clubs, baseball leagues, community singing and other social events which bring the people of surrounding communities together have been organized and carried on under the guidance of Red Cross rural workers to great advantage. In many instances solving recreational problems and getting people together proves to be the awakening of the community to other conditions which may be improved by united action.

As a result of community organization, townships in which there had been neither plans nor interest in community progress have been organized to work together with the united purpose of bringing their community up to the most enlightened standards. Lecture and musical entertainment courses have been started by a result of community meetings, as well as circulating libraries, Red Cross schools of instruction in Home Nursing, Care of the Sick and First Aid. In the large towns the need for restrooms and public comfort stations is being met. Playgrounds for the children have been established and recreational activities worked out for the year.

In order that there may be concerted effort in carrying on the programs of the various welfare agencies in the rural districts, Red Cross Rural Service helps the organizations already on their ground. The main object of the service is to lend a hand everywhere and take the lead only where necessary.

JUNIOR RED CROSS ACTIVE IN EUROPE

Garden seeds for Polish orphans, milk for anemic Greek babies, car-seats for Czech-Slovakian children—these are only a few of the gifts that young Americans are sending to the war-crushed children of the Old World.

Through the Junior Red Cross the boys and girls of the United States are giving a fresh start in life to little war-stricken children all over Europe. They have sent up packages of toys in France, book stations in Belgium and Macedonia, and day schools in Albania.

They are sending boxes of young British, Hungarian, Rumanian, and Italian children to the United States and are helping them to get a normal education in this country.

STRIKING PHRASES FROM HARDING'S PEACE LEAGUE ADDRESS

"I rejoice that America is still free and independent and in a position of self reliance and holds to the right of self determination."

"Time was when an American did not hesitate to proclaim himself a patriot. To do so now, I am well aware, is sometimes to invite the anathema of cynicism."

"We needed only the outbreak of the war between Poland and Russia to make us realize at least one of the things which, in the words of Secretary Lansing, we would have been 'let in for,' but for the restraining hand of the senate."

"We know now that the league constituted at Versailles is utterly impotent as a preventive of wars. It is so obviously impotent that it has not even been tried. It could not survive a single test. The original league, mistakenly conceived and unreasonably insisted upon, has undoubtedly passed beyond the possibility of restoration. The maturer judgment of the world will be that it deserved to pass."

Junior Red Cross to spend the cold months in warmer parts of France. At the same time five thousand little Belgians were having a hot lunch every day at Junior Red Cross school canteens.

American school children have already raised something like a million dollars for these enterprises, and they are still hard at work.

In China, through campaigns of education, the Junior Red Cross is helping to combat widely prevalent blindness and cholera.

RED CROSS RELIEF IN CENTRAL EUROPE

But for timely assistance of the American Red Cross during the last year, a large proportion of the 20,000,000 population of the Balkan States might have starved, or perished from disease or exposure. Six million dollars worth of food, clothing and medical supplies have been sent to the Balkans—Roumania, Bulgaria, Albania, Montenegro, Serbia, Bosnia and Greece—since the beginning of Red Cross relief operations in Central Europe while millions of dollars worth of food alone has been sent to the needy in these states.

The money expended by the Red Cross in this stricken portion of Europe has been used to set up hospitals, orphanages, dispensaries, mobile medical units and to help in the general reconstruction of devastated areas. American tractors and other farming implements have been sent to the agricultural regions where aid has been given in plowing the land.

By the last of this year probably all American Red Cross Agencies administering relief in Central Europe will have withdrawn. By that time, it is believed, the people will have approached a normal state of living and will be able through their own agencies which the Red Cross has helped set up to provide for themselves.

Thomas H. Maloney, Candidate For State Senatorial Election

Voters of Ramsey county will have an opportunity on election day, November 2nd, to elect to the office of state senator, a man who stands out clearly as one of the most representative farmers and business men of the Lake Region—Thomas H. Maloney. Mr. Maloney was nominated for the state senatorship on the Democratic ticket at the June primaries without opposition.

For over twelve years, Mr. Maloney has served Ramsey county as one of its most efficient commissioners, conducting the affairs of his office in a manner that has, so far as is known, never called for even the criticism of political opponents. He has been one of the staunch supporters of the principles advocated under the new order of things in North Dakota. He has, however, carried on the political fight of the state, which he has made his fight, in a clean cut manner and is generally given credit for his stand, by political friends and opponents. No one, so far as any information is available, has ever questioned the business judgment of the candidate in affairs of the county—or commercially. Mr. Maloney's success as a farmer bears out his business ability.

During a long regime as a leading member of the board of county commissioners, the candidate for election as state senator has stood for road improvements of every form, for at election after election with almost the solid support of the voters.

Of interest to the public, the Maloney farm holdings, operated by Mr. Maloney himself as the working head of the property, are located in Cleveland township about twenty miles northeast of Devils Lake. Visitors are always welcome at the farm home which has for years been a central gathering place for scores of meetings of political, business and social nature.

In seeking election following an urgent appeal of hundreds of voters over the entire county, Mr. Maloney does not do so as a Democrat alone, he does it in the belief that he will be able to represent his district, fairly and squarely and with the promise of serving the best interests of the taxpayers of which he is among those paying a heavy income to state and county government.

A vote for Thomas H. Maloney, candidate for election as state senator at the polls, November 2nd, will insure to every taxpayer in Ramsey county, a man in office that will represent the voters and tax payers in every sense that the word representation might imply.

TURKISH WOMEN BREAK CUSTOMS

No Longer Shy, Veiled Creatures, but Work With Men in Many Lines.

SPECIAL SEATS FOR WOMEN

Only the Very Old Men Fish Enough to Sit Down in the Same Car Seat With a Turkish Woman—Leaders Educated.

Constantinople—Turkish women are no longer the shy, veiled creatures who passed their time in the seclusion of the harem and were never seen by foreign men. They still cling to the veil. But the streets in Constantinople and other larger Turkish cities are filled with women who have their veils thrown back from their faces. They are highly ornamental and becoming. Most Turkish women don't want to abandon them in favor of hats. But there are many sorts of veils and the smart, black silk veils which some of the women wear are very fetching when draped artistically over their hair.

Car Seats for Women.

In the railway and street cars there are special seats for women, but the flimsy curtains which are supposed to screen them from the gaze of men are usually drawn back and it is not uncommon to see men standing in the compartments for women. Only very old men, however, are rash enough to sit down in the same seat with a Turkish woman. Turkish women seldom go to a theater where there are men. Special matinees and evening performances are arranged for women only.

The war has done much to break down the barrier between Turkish men and women. The women were needed so badly as nurses and relief workers that the government had to avail itself of their services. And now it is regarded as quite proper for men and women to be associated in all sorts of charitable and educational works. Consequently many women who were formerly forced to content themselves with seclusion in a home where fancy work and French novels were the only diversions are devoting their time to hospitals, orphanages and other philanthropic institutions.

Educated Women Leaders.

Women who have been educated abroad or in the foreign schools in Turkey are the leaders in this movement for greater freedom for their sex. Their broad experience in war work has interested many women in politics and they have openly played a great part in the nationalist movement. In the Constantinople American Woman's college the Turkish girls take great interest in basketball and other athletic games, and the effect upon women who have come under foreign influence is making the old life of seclusion and inactivity unattractive to younger Turkish women.

At the meeting which chose Mrs. Toomey for its leader, Mrs. A. M. Powell presided. Mrs. William Bagby was elected secretary. According to reports of the meeting, the organization is composed of leading members of nearly every woman's club in the city and is sponsored by those bodies.

To Fight Leaguers

A published report of the organization declared: "It was decided that a committee composed of a president of every woman's organization in the city, with Mrs. A. E. Toomey, chairman, to hold a meeting to formulate plans for the organization of the women of Ramsey county for the purpose of supporting the anti-Townley ticket at the general election in November."
