FORCE NOT NEEDED IN AMERICA

There is in the fulfillment of the Nineteenth amendment a deeper significance than what 25,000,000 women of America will do with the ballot, now that it has been assured. In these days of unrest, idle talk of bolshevism, revolution and isms of all kinds, there is being enacted in this country, a lesson to all Americans—the lesson that the fundamental laws of our country can be changed without that kind of revolution which leads to bloodshed as its ultimate connotation.

The granting to women of America, for good or ill, full political responsibility after seventy years of agitation, purely of a political nature and without violence, is a vindication of that form of government conceived by our forefathers. The American constitution, called by Gladstone the grandest instrument ever conceived by man at one time, has grown elastic with the years through amendments and supreme court decisions, which "follow election returns" to a point where it is ever amendable to the true convictions of the people as a whole.

The American people can have under our form of government any kind of government they want, just as soon as they make up their minds what that kind of government is and how they want it: they can have anything just this side of a monarchy all the way to simon-pure Marxian socialism—if they really want it.

The 48 separate states which make up the union are all individual laboratories for governmental experimentation. One state tries a new experiment and the other forty-seven sit back and watch to see how it works. Another tries it and the forty-five still hold back and watch the wheels go round. Another arrives at a point where it is felt that the new scheme works; each one drawing something from the other. Then, a sufficient number eventually having reached the conclusion that it is the thing to do, national public opinion is quickly crystallized.

Without as much excitement as comes with a national election by itself, 25,000,000 people are given the right "of self determination" through the American form of government. To grasp what this means numerically consider the fact that in Ireland, which for centuries has been a battle ground, there are but a little more than four million people, and in Poland there are few more than twelve million.

The American people under the American constitution can have anything that they want just as quickly as they make up their minds they want it, whether it is suffrage, prohibition, bolshevism or any other ism; wholly aside from the merits of any one of these measures, this is the true significance of the victory of votes for women.

The people of North Dakota, under the constitution of the United States, staunch supporters of that constitution and defenders, whether it be in war or in peace, have set an example to all the other forty-seven states—and the other states are watching North Dakota. They are watching it so closely and intelligently that already an ever increasing number are following in its foot steps. The people, are awaking to the vast indifference the public has heretofore held to its own needs and necessities.

On November 2nd, North Dakota will vote to uphold the rule of the majority—and the people will be the winners and not the favored few, fighting now for their life breath of spoils.

Of course the American people can have anything they want, when they want it and how they want it, and North Dakota will show the world how true is that statement.

By the ballot, shall the monarchy of capitalism, not the individual capitalist, the profiteer and others of his ilk; so stingily, yet generously today pouring their millions of sop into the whirlpool of politics that spells ruin for their cause of unrighteousness, come to an end—Bloodshed never! if the cause is just and right Bloodshed never! if the cause is just and right.

SPIRIT OF RECKLESSNESS

A spirit of recklessness pervades society today. Reading any daily newspaper, one is impressed by the great number of accidents reported. Many of these are in connection with the operation of automobiles, not by any means the most dangerous, with their reference to politics, furnish topics for the other columns. The world is moving at a terrific pace. The war that it passed through helped to make its population restless. In this country high prices and high wages have put life on a different scale. A noticeable slump in morals and religion has robbed us of much of our poise and equanimity and made us careless in conduct and regard for law. We are paying a stiff price in the toll of human life and bodily injuries for our spirit of recklessness.

We are anxious to get back to normal in economic relations, but it is far more important that we lay again the foundations of right living and right thinking and right relations to man. And the spirit of recklessness, and in many cases heedlessness, will give way to caution and a regard for the common good when the fundamental cause of our feverish haste is removed.

VOTE FOR EACH LEAGUE CANDIDATE!

A study of the primary election vote as reported by the state canvassing board throws into bold and striking relief two phases of the North Dakota political situation that every voter, who intends to cast a ballot for the Nonpartisan League ticket, true Americanism and industrial democracy, should bear in mind at the election November 2. First and foremost, comes the absolute necessity of placing an X opposite the name of each candidate endorsed by the Nonpartisan league, no matter whether the nominee's name appears in the Republican or Independent columns of the ballot. Secondly, it is of prime importance, also, for league supporters to vote NO on all initiated measures that will appear on the ballot. These proposed laws were conceived by the Independent Voters Association for the express purpose of hampering and blocking the farmer-labor program of industrial democracy.

A NONPARTISAN FACTORY

Nonpartisans are being "manufactured" throughout, not only the state of North Dakota but throughout the great Northwest at as rapid a rate as the wheels of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce can be operated with the aid of subservient interests of various states affected. The enormosity of the production is astounding when it is considered that the methods of operation in the gigantic machine always were, and still are, intended to squelch all economic and political growths—almost before they were or are conceived. Yet today, the slashing of wheat prices below the level of costs to produce, the maintenance of the high cost of living over the country, the continued hammering to defeat representative government in the councils of states is surely serving that purpose—the opposite of what the great monied interests intend. Ramsey county carries its illustrations by hundred folds. Farmers never before affiliated with the Nonpartisan league are lining up with the great movement, some merchants are seeing the light, working men have long since awoke to their own interests. There is only one reason, opponents of the right of individuals to their own opinions, creeds and beliefs are forcing "their point" harder and tighter, compelling the awakening. The farmer wants harmony in all things civic, he wants to trade in his home town—but he reserves the right of man to his own political convictions—he grants his political opponents the right to their honest beliefs.

SAVING THE HOMES

Authorities in every village, town and city can aid the housing problem, which confronts every community, by inaugurating rigid campaigns against fire hazards. Every year thousands of houses are destroyed by fire. Devils Lake has been fortunate in this respect, with comparatively few losses. But: the fact remains that fire hazards jeopardize the homes of residents and business blocks. Insurance will protect the property owner from financial loss—but it will not, or at least does not, in the case of home-renters, provide shelter for families made roofless by fire.

Fall is here, fires are being started in furnaces, stoves and heating plants. It is the time of the year to make a careful survey of heating plants, remove trash and inflammable material that has accumulated—it may save a home for some family.

If perch swings rest mother and help daughter to get married they are entirely justified in being.

Loose purse-strings are the sign to the profiteer that he can go the limit.

What Europe needs is a few Irish policemen from New York to help her keep the peace.

F. P. MANN CRIES "SOCIALISTS!"

That place as in the opposition—but the farmer's publication in the issue of September 23d carried 60 inches while the I. V. A. "No-News" paper carried 48.

F. P. Mann has always been an advocate of newspaper advertising—and he has been right in his statements that circulation counted. The assumption of The World reporter was that the Fargo paper receiving so generous portion of Manns advertising has a wonderful circulation. The Devils Lake World, however, with the largest circulation of any newspaper in Ramsey county does not carry "Manns advertising".
