ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Father Poust of Leeds and Father Ambrose of Ft. Totten, are business visitors in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lemke are the parents of a baby boy born on Monday, Sept. 18, at the General Hospital.

Mrs. Allen, who recently moved to Devils Lake, was called to Morris, Minn., Monday, by the illness of her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mercer and family, of Grand Forks, were visitors over the week end at the Robert McKay home at Grand Harbor.

The order of the Eastern Star had a meeting last night, at which balloting and initiation was held. Miss Mildred Brainard was initiated into the order.

Mrs. James Orchard and children of Clyde, N. D., are in the city visiting at the home of Mrs. Orchard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Grasser.

Miss Olga Leet of Webster a graduate of the General hospital is in the city for the alumnae meeting and the graduation and reception for the 1922 class of nurses last night.

Pat Kelly, who was postmaster in Devils Lake about twenty five years ago, has been visiting friends in the city for several days. He left Tuesday for his home in Chicago.

Walter MacDonald, states attorney of Benson county, and Hon. R. M. Stevens, attorney of Minnewaukan, were visitors in town Monday, on legal business in connection with the district court.

Mrs. Siver Serumgard has just received a notice to attend a Board meeting of the War Mothers in Chicago, on Sept. 28 and 29 and will probably leave for that city the first part of next week.

A round trip railroad ticket for the price of a one way fare for members of the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary, the women's organization, attending the national convention at New Orleans, has been granted on all railroads in the United States. Widows of deceased Legionaries are also entitled to the reduced rate.

Mrs. Foley of Bartlett will be hostess tomorrow at a chicken dinner at her home. The guests will be Mrs. Eugene Fenelon, Mrs. H. Kneeshaw, Mrs. D. J. Rapp, Mrs. Wilson Morse, Mrs. A. M. Powell, Mrs. Orin Trimble, Mrs. Ernest Emery, Mrs. Fred Mann, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Downey, and Mrs. H. B. Blacky.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harvey, of Toronto, Ont., are guests at the home of Mrs. Harvey's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace. They are on their honeymoon tour, having visited in Chicago and the Twin Cities, and will return by way of Winnipeg. Mrs. Wallace was formerly Miss Lotie Wallace.

John Solberg, George Solberg and Anton Biegen old time farmers and business men of Churchs Ferry were here Tuesday, being interested in a case of the District court before Judge Buttz. They are partners in a large mercantile business in Churchs Ferry, and as the affairs of the firm are not progressing satisfactorily, application was made to terminate the partnership and to appoint a receiver to clean up the partnership affairs. The firm is said to be in excellent financial condition.

The Knights of Columbus held a special meeting last night, at which the Supreme Agent Kjar, and District Deputy Murphy who were to attend, were unable to be present.

Lecturer Roglie arranged a very enjoyable program, consisting of solos skillfully rendered by James Donahue and Miss Mary Walters, Mr. Roglie presiding at the piano, and an address which was much appreciated by all present, was delivered by Mr. Fackler, head of the Boy Scout movement here. Out of town guests were Dr. Allen of Crary, Mr. Welsh of New Rockford, Frank Lippert of McVillie, James Orchard of Warwick and Mr. Connor of Fargo. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Imogene's Diary

By CLARA DELAFIELD
Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

March 19. Well, I've took the job. They don't pay no more than 50 per, but there's some class to it, believe me, Clara. Not that I think much of Mrs. Symes and that stuck-up, snooty daughter of hers, but Mr. Symes is a peach. He give me a frown last night that made my heart go pitter patter, just because I spild the ice cream over Mrs. D's new dress. Maybe I'll stay the week out but I don't do yet.

March 20. I told her today strait I gotta have a feather bed and a alarm clock if she wants me to get up in time to wash the breakfast things. They're the lusiest hulks I ever see in this family. She actually asked me if I couldn't get up in time to cook the breakfast if she lent me a dressing gown but she soon see I wasn't to be put upon.

There's a fellow called to see Miss Daisy this morning when he oughta have been at bizness. I don't like his looks much. I got my eye on him.

March 21. I give notice this morning on account of Mrs. D coming into the kitchen and telling me she don't burn gas when there ain't no cooking, but I guess I'll stay a little longer. I'm to have the use of the car three times a week and I've got riz to sixty for faithful servis. That's me, Clara.

That fellow was hear again last nite, sitting in the parlor with Miss Daisy with only one electric light burning. I call it scandalous and Mrs. Hudson who has the apartment below quite agrees with me.

March 22. The D car broke down when we was in the country and I had to walk half a mile to catch the trolley. The chauffeur, Mr. Winks, was fresh. The chauffeur put his arm round me. I'd have screamed only there was a house near by and I was afraid the folks would here.

I give notice as soon as I got home but Mrs. D says if I'll stay she'll raise me to seventy-five and she never had a girl she liked so well before. I've decided to stay. The D's are a nice family, all except Miss Daisy and her fellow. Mr. D's got thick black I lashes and looks as if he'd murder you if you say a word to him.

March 23. Well, it's all through and I'm going tomorrow. It's all about Miss Daisy and her bo. I told Mrs. Hudson they was sitting up together till past midnite last nite and she says, "Clara, why don't you do something about it?" So I spoke to them tonite and said I wasn't used to such goings on and I come of decent folks and eleven o'clock was quite late enough for any young fellow who was honest and ment bizness.

Mr. Page—that's her bo's name—smiled a kinda bitter smille and sed in that case he'd go. Miss Daisy was quite nasty about it and I had to put her in her place. When that fellow had gone Mrs. D come into my room—of course I'd told her I was going the first thing in the morning. She said she'd always liked me and if I'd stay she'd raise me to eighty per and let me have the car and pay for me to take lessons in chaffooring, and I could have every afternoon and evening off. So I sed I'd think it over. Now I dunno what to do. Ain't it hard on a lady when she's alone in the world with no one to advise her?

Anyway I told her I'd think it over, and she went out quick because she heard Mr. D coming back. March 24. Ten o'clock and I'll have to be getting up soon. It's queer Mr. D hasn't gone to bizness this morning. From where I lay I can here him walking up and down in his room, muttering. I guess there's been some family quarrel over that Page fellow.

I've decided not to stay after tomorrow. So I'm going to tell Mrs. D she can get a new girl tomorrow. Wild horses wouldn't keep me hear now.

March 24 (continued). It's terrible, terrible. I don't no what to do. I'm fired and my hearts broke and I shall go softly all my days. I can't write down the awful thing that's happened. When I went into the kitchen Mrs. D was there washing up the dishes and I tole her I'd decided to go and she said, "Is that so, Clara?" That nettled me and I said, "Yes that's so, Amelia," and she went out and called Mr. D whod been pacing up and down like a lion all the morning. He come in and—I don't no what happened but he sprung at me like a tiger and the first think I new I was lying on the kitchen floor with a punch in the I, and he was gone to bizness, and he sed if he foun me hear when he come back, he'd kill me. And Mrs. D's turned against me and won't let me stay, and I'm packing, and I got to look for another place. That's the reward of faithful service.

I don't mind the world's ingratitude, but Mr. D's the loveliest man in the world, and he'll never no how tenderly I could have loved and cared for him.

Ah well, such is life. She says I can have the alarm clock. My eyes turning a beautiful brown. I shall think of Mr. D every time I look at it.

The Ruling Passion.
"There's no hope, my friend," said the doctor, gently. "You must try to be resigned."
"I could be resigned to die, doctor, but for one thing."
"And what is that?"
"I've been following a serial picture for weeks at the Palace, and now I'll never know what became of Bertha the bandit queen."

Bars in Bundles, Emery in Engine, Lay Up Rig

Washburn, N. D., Sept. 20.—A new threshing outfit operated by Neuhardt & Albrecht, well known farmers, was put out of commission by the act of persons unknown, who placed iron bars in wheat bundles which caused several teed to be knocked from the separator cylinder, and also put emery dust in the cylinder of the tractor engine. It is believed that replacement of a new engine at a cost of about $1,000 will be necessary, while extensive repairs will be required to repair damages to the separator.

Child, 5, Unhurt by 63-Foot Fall in Well

Mountain, N. D.—Howard, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Soebly, escaped unhurt when curbing on which he was standing gave way, letting him fall to the bottom of 63-foot well. Threshers at a nearby barn saw him fall, and rushing to the well were very happily disappointed when the child clearly called up that he was all right. They lowered ropes and pulled him up.

Bandman is Charged With Embezzlement

Bismarck, N. D.—W. L. Dodson, who has been organizing a juvenile band in Bismarck, has been arrested, charged with embezzlement. It is alleged he took a horn belonging to the A. O. U. W. lodge of Bismarck and sold it for $40, retaining the money. In default of bonds, he is held in jail here.

AVIATOR ATTACKED BY EAGLE

King of Birds Breaks Neck Against Airplane Strut in Battle in Air.

Quantico, Va.—A combat in the air between an eagle and a marine corps plane, in which the king of the air lost his life, took place near Quantico.

Lieut. R. O. Sanderson, flying near the flying field, saw a flock of birds and gave chase. An eagle which had been hovering high over the flock wheeled on his approach and at top speed flew directly toward him.

The bird struck one of the wire braces of the plane with such force as to break the brace and the eagle's neck. The bird then was caught in the braces of the plane. The eagle measured seven feet between the wing tips.

NIXON

(From Staff Correspondent.)

This community was very much shocked Wednesday last to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Rhinard Kunkel at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schlickling of Ontario township. Mrs. Kunkel had been ill about a week with rheumatism but it was not thought to be serious until near the last. She was well known loved and respected by every one in this community having lived here nearly all of her short married life. The sympathy of the entire neighborhood goes out to her sorrowing husband and two little sons, parents and brothers.

Mr. Thomas Fahey is here now seeing after threshing on his farm. Miss Belle Cole arrived Tuesday from Calumet, Minn.

Mrs. Emil Rasmussen was on the sick list last week but is better at the present.
