

REAPER AND THRESHER.

Those from the Harvest Field, and Items Furnished by Pioneer Express Reporters.

Drayton, Walhalla, Cavileer, Bathgate, Crown Center, Baltimore, Ernest, Rockwell Place and Neche.

DRAYTON.

Look out for your land claims! Just now is a good time to live on them. United States Land Detective Rhodes has been in town for several days and will probably spend a few weeks in the county.

Drayton is now the northern terminus of the Red River steamboat line. The Selkirk came in Monday with a heavy cargo of goods for our merchants, and the Alsop a short distance behind with a heavy stock of lumber and other goods. The Selkirk left two barges to be loaded with wheat.

Drayton is booming. Our merchants are doing a lively business. Some thousands of bushels of wheat have already been marketed here, and greenbacks are being freely circulated. The commercial prospects of the town were never better, and our merchants are laying in unusually heavy stocks of fall and winter goods.

On Sunday a flock of 1223 sheep passed through the village in charge of two men and two Coolie dogs. The drovers said they left Oregon in April and expected to reach Winnipeg about Sept. 20. The average cost of the sheep was $2.50 and the owners expect to sell for $6.50 each. It was interesting to notice how carefully and quietly the dogs drove the animals along the roads between grain fields.

Harvesting and threshing are progressing rapidly, and we get reports of fine work done on various farms. Judge Tweedie informs us that two machines with three horses each harvested forty acres on his farm in one day. The four steam threshers of Wm. Moore, A. Almas, James McArthur and Robert Allen are turning out from 1100 to 1300 bushels of No. 1 hard each per day and most of it is being turned into cash at W. A. Anderson & Co.'s elevator.

The wheat crop in this section is better than the farmers anticipated, yielding largely in proportion to the straw. The first threshing of No. 1 hard was at Wallace Brothers' farm, on McArthur's machine threshed 1134 bushels the first day. At E. A. Healy's they threshed 713 bushels in four hours and forty minutes, the wheat weighing 62 lbs. to the bushel. Some other farms in the vicinity expect to make a still better showing.

The death of Mrs. J. H. Jamieson on Wednesday last cast a gloom over the community. The deceased lady was greatly esteemed in family, social and religious circles. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. A. Healy at the M. E. church, of which she had been a member. Our warmest sympathy is extended to the bereaved husband and three children. Mrs. A. W. Edwards, of Crookston, only sister of Mrs. Jamieson, arrived here but a few hours before death occurred.

Strangers visiting this town frequently remark their surprise at the large congregations at the Drayton church. On Sunday last the house was full both morning and evening. Rev. James Woolner preached an admirable sermon in the morning, as did Rev. H. P. Cooper in the evening. A church supply with such excellent preaching should flourish. Next Sunday Elder Wardwell will preach morning and evening, and will conduct sacramental and reception services in the afternoon.

Drayton Lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, has been organized less than three months and numbers between fifty and sixty members, who hold regular meetings. Next Monday evening an "Open Meeting" will be held, and the public generally are invited to attend. An excellent programme has been arranged, consisting of an address on Temperance by Rev. H. P. Cooper, readings, recitations, songs, choruses, &c., by members of the lodge. An enjoyable evening is promised and doubtless the school house will be crowded.

Mr. E. E. McCrea started Tuesday for Hamilton, Minnesota. He carries with him the good wishes of hosts of friends, among whom he has spent a pleasant vacation. Mrs. Tyndal and her daughter, Miss Ashley, of Rockford, Ill., are spending a few weeks with relatives in town. Mr. Chas. Moore, the Pembina photographer, has been in town this week with an eye to business. An artist's gallery may be opened here soon. Mr. Robinson, of Goderich, Ont., has been the guest of Mr. R. Jamieson for several weeks. He is so pleased with the place that he proposes to invest in town property before leaving. County Supt. Jackson visited the schools in this section during the week. Mr. N. Upham, Register of Deeds, of Walsh Co., instead of worrying over official duties at Grafton has been harvesting his No. 1 hard at Drayton this week.

BATHGATE.

On an average about one car load of steam threshers has come to Bathgate daily.

Mrs. Cherrier has been quite sick for sometime, but is reported much better at this writing.

The Presbyterians are making a strong effort to erect a church building this fall. If we mistake not the lumber is already ordered.

Postmaster Armstrong has made some very noticeable improvements in the arrangement of his office within the past few days.

Robert Ellis was taken suddenly and seriously ill a few days since. He recovered after a few days suffering with a disease of the lungs.

The Railroad Co. it is expected, will run an excursion train from Crookston and Grand Forks in the morning of the 18th, and return in the evening.

There are some strangers in town. They look like well fed eastern men. Rumor says they mean business, but the writer does not know what branch of business they represent.

The carpenters who were building the new section house were unexpectedly called away to Minneapolis leaving two days work undone. They were called upon to do bridge work.

We are sorry to note that some of our most respected farmers are becoming so much in the habit of drinking too freely, that they lose self control and, in some cases, even consciousness.

Your correspondent is seriously contemplating a trip to Turtle Mountain, and should the regular correspondence from Bathgate fail to appear next week or should it come from another pen you will know what cause to attribute it to.

A very fine evening entertainment may be had almost any evening at the Grand Union. A good many musicians have accidentally been thrown together in Bathgate lately and they make fine music with their various instruments.

We are informed that David Ferguson has the contract for a building to be occupied by Mrs. Tiffany. The building will be on the west side of Garfield street between Fourth and Fifth streets. Mr. Ferguson has also the contract for a building to be erected on Fosters addition.

There will be a meeting of the directors of Pembina County Agricultural and Industrial Association at the school house in Bathgate on Thursday, Sept. 20 at one o'clock p. m. The fair this fall will probably be held on Oct. 17 and 18. There will probably be the most complete showing of machinery and stock ever exhibited in North Dakota.

Iko Foster has turned up again. He says we can't get rid of him so easily. Mr. S. R. Rosetter, of LaFayette, Ky., is being spending some time among us. He is working in the interest of D. M. Osburn & Co. and has made many friends during his stay here. Mr. Sheffield returned from the south, Sunday night. J. W. Works has been building a stable back of the restaurant. That very obliging and polite clerk at Johnstone & Swinton's store is Sandy Park. He spent Sunday at home.

Justice McLean has his hands full with good prospects of more to follow. Between sick horses and missing wagon seats Dr. Boylan is kept busy.

Mr. H. Fennel is busy finishing his fine dwelling and will have a very comfortable residence.

Dan. McGuer intends building an addition to his drug store to make room for his large stock of drugs and fancy goods.

Public school will re-open Monday next. Principal Hart has been making hay while the sun shines by gathering in the golden grain on his farm.

County Supt. Jackson made a short call on his return from the Grafton Teachers' Institute and promises to make a longer one in a few days.

Harry Joy and Fred Winter made Walhalla a visit last Sunday, no doubt to enjoy the beautiful scenery to be found in that locality. Harry especially is very fond of mountainous scenery.

Harvesting is well on the way and another week of fine weather will see nearly all the grain in this section cut. Quite a number are finished and report the crop more than usually heavy.

Mr. Sheldon is building a handsome dwelling on Third street, 20 x 30. Contractor Webber is pushing the work with a large force of men and intends to have the building ready in a few weeks.

Mr. A. McLean is fitting up his large building on Second street for a hotel. It will present a very fine appearance when finished and will answer admirably for the purpose. When finished it will be occupied by Mrs. Droom as a boarding house and restaurant.

Mr. Wm. Randall returned a few days ago with a number of the finest carriage horses ever brought to the county. It is his intention to open a first-class livery in connection with the sale stable and the public need no guarantee that everything will be of the very best description.

It is rumored, but very few people can be found who think it likely, that our Public school board is going to build a platform and steps to the school house. Perhaps they would prefer waiting until some of the children are injured making the perilous descent, and the parents prosecute them for damages.

A large number of dwelling houses are likely to be built shortly but as most of them are only the consummation of many interesting events we must wait for developments. But one thing is certain, there are too many single men in Hamilton for the town to prosper either socially or financially, and if about a baker's dozen of them would marry and settle down the town would be the gainer.

Mr. H. A. Mayo, of Walhalla, was here on a business trip last week.

Mr. James, of Bathgate, was here looking after his large machinery interests. Quackenbush & Stewart are receiving large invoices of all kinds of building material.

Mr. Thoms, of the new Elevator Company, is building a neat residence on Sixth street, west side.

Messrs. Trotter Bros. have their large store building nearly completed which they will soon stock up for the fall trade.

Hon. N. E. Nelson and family were here a few days since looking over this friendly city. We hope he will conclude to stay.

Nelson Fraick had the further misfortune to lose a fine hog.

Daniels & Snyder's new steam thrasher is doing good work.

The heavy frost on Friday night killed corn, vines and flowers. Extremely late ripening grain was slightly damaged.

Mr. W. Fullerton of Hamilton is out attending work on his farm.

Mr. Clark of Joliette has just arrived with an outfit to commence improvements upon his claim here.

Mr. Johnson of Crystal City, Man., passed through this place Sunday last on his way to visit friends at Cavileer.

Rev. K. Wait is agitating church matters in this neighborhood. A congregation has been formed and the matter of church building has been broached to its reading members.

Some of the fine grain grown on the table lands of the Little Pembina is being harvested. Settlers have been rewarded by a good yield, as well as an evidence of the land's fertility.

Better mail facilities are required here. The slowness of the transmission of mail is proverbial. By accident we now and then receive some account of what is going on in the lower world.

Phillip Vogt has the sympathy of his neighbors, because of the death of one of his horses just in the busy season.

R. Walker's team has at last satisfied the hopes of all tender feeling people by going the way of all flesh. No more pity will be wasted on the poor miserable brutes.

There was quite an interesting trial before Justice Grow on Tuesday. On complaint of Annie Hernen, James Greenwood and Eddie Greenwood, James was charged with forcible detention of property—holding possession of a house on a disputed claim. G. H. Megquier of Pembina conducted the case for Miss Hernen and the Territory and Mr. Bevin, deputy collector of Customs, for the defendants. The defendants were held in a nominal sum to appear at the next term of the district court. Counsel on both sides showed a good deal of talent for repartee and there were several passages between them that caused much amusement to the spectators.

The Rev. E. Nethorpe will preach in the school house next Sunday evening at six o'clock.

One minute later and James Savage must have been seriously injured by the falling in of Geo. Carscadden's granary a few days ago, but as it was he escaped unhurt.

On Tuesday Mrs. Detlor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schram, returned to her home in Goderich, Ont. Her departure is much regretted by a large circle of friends, who during her ten weeks' visit learned to esteem her very highly.
