two cows: The men, two, who had them in charge were Manonites and said they had come from across the line, but as the day was very warm they had started for a few days visit at Forest River and late to have the cool of the evening. As beef has been very scarce lately it did not take long to strike a bargain, Mr. Epton paying the men forty dollars, which with the duty to be paid Uncle Sam in the morning, would still give him

> The next day, Tuesday, at noon, Mr. Epton heard that a couple of cattle were missing from the farm of C. W. Andrews, one belonging to Andrews and the other Andrews being informed of the purchase and looking at the cows, he identified them at once and Mr. Epton turned them over to the owner and immediately telegraphed Marsh Jackson, county constable, of the trouble. In the evening Mr. Jackson arrived and it only took him a short time to secure a clew to the direction taken by the thieves, and in company with Mr. Epton to identify the men, he left for Manitoba. The chase, while interesting, need not be detailed here, but it resulted in the running down of the criminals at Rosenfeldt and with the aid of a Canadian officer the men were brought back Thursday and lodged in the city jail.

> These men implicated Fred Joyce in the matter, stating that he had planned the whole thing, was with them just outside the stable when they sold the cattle and that they divided the money with him. As he left here the next day Officer Jackson immediately got on his track and found that he had bought a ticket at Plum Coulee for Alemeda and telegraphed the officer there to place him under arrest. Jackson left for Alemeda Thursday after his man, but at the time of going to press we have no news of his

> It is said the men acknowledge they are guilty, not only of this but of other cattle stealing and selling to Walhalla parties, which will probably come out at the trial which will take place early next week on Constable Jackson's return from his trip west.-Walhalla Mountaineer.
