Edson Parsons of Bathgate who is a customs office at Portal, and who has been on a vacation, returned this week taking with him the little daughter of Harry Gill who has spent the summer with her grandparents here. The vacancy left in the Gill household here is much greater than the size of the little one would seem to suggest.

We have a bunch of buckwheat, some of it six feet long, raised in town by Joseph Suaw for pasture for his bees. The luxuriance of this crop makes it probable that it would be a splendid crop with which to smother weeds. To look at it when growing it don't seem possible that anything else could find room or sun light sufficient to grow with it.

The Sunday N. P. flyer going south killed a man named A. W. Cunningham, near Grand Forks. He was either lying or sitting near the track and was passed safely by the engine, but staggered or raised his head, so that some projecting part of the passenger car caught him. He was under the influence of liquor. He was an old resident of Grand Forks.

The large barn on the old Bob Baskin's place, now the property of Mr. Flynn was struck by lightning on Saturday afternoon and completely consumed by fire which followed. The building contained a large amount of hay and some grain. All of the stock was removed except one horse which perished in the flames. The loss was about $1500, partly covered by insurance we are informed.—Pink Paper.

Postmaster Caviler announces that in response to a request from the patrons of this office, that hereafter the postoffice will close at 6:30 p. m. and open on the arrival of the evening train at 8:30 and remain open until 9:15. By this arrangement everyone will be able to get the two evening mails on arrival and still give the P. M. and his assistants some time for themselves in the evening. It is a good move for all.

The John Miller Grain Co. of Duluth and Minneapolis solicit shipments in a local advertisement in this issue. This old and reliable firm, since the death of Mr. Miller, has been under the management of Mr. N. M. Young, nephew of R. H. Young the former proprietor of this paper. Mr. Young since his removal from here in the early 80's has been connected with a bank in Casselton, but has now taken the position of president of the grain company. Many old residents will remember him.

The thermometer went to 35 degrees at Calgary on Sunday morning. It scared them some. Here after one of the most oppressively hot days the wind changed to the north and the thermometer went down to 47. Threatening clouds and a little rain and hail passed close to town, but did no damage. Farther south, at Larimore, Grand Forks, Hillsboro and as far as Fargo they had heavy rains and strong winds, which did considerable damage to crops and shocks, and blew down telegraph wires, etc.

The Auto Party Return.

The Winnipeg-Twin Cities automobile party that went south two weeks ago began to arrive Sunday forenoon and the last of the contingency—three cars—arrived here Wednesday in time for dinner. They were a tired lot, and from the appearance of the tourists as well as the cars they had had a hard trip. But like the hunter who trails after his spoil all day, they enjoy the experience and to talk about it afterward.

Mr. Adams who met with the mishap near St. Cloud, when his car was ditched, was among the first to arrive, although reports had him slated for the hospital for at least two weeks. He was bruised and lame. His brand new Ford light touring car was a dilapidated piece of machinery. The rear seat and running boards were tied on with ropes and another improvised repairs made so the car could complete the journey. Mr. Adams was not able to run the car himself but Mr. Maw who made the trip with him and who escaped without a scratch had charge of the wheel.

To a representative of the Pioneer Express the following story was told regarding the accident: The car left Minneapolis three hours after the rest, and it was the intention to overtake the others at Fergus Falls that evening. Three miles out of St. Cloud in a curve the automobile struck a lot of loose sand and turned completely over, while running fifty miles per hour, pinning the occupants underneath. The homecoming was enjoyed better than going as the roads were better and less rain.
