Underwear

From its very nature appeals with particular force to the womanly woman. When she picks it up, she realizes that she has found the underwear she wants. As she wears it, her opinion is strengthened.

Such daintiness, such perfect fit, such comfort without bulk, have never been combined in women's underwear previous to the manufacture of the line. One great point is that this beautiful, desirable Underwear costs no more than the ordinary, ill-fitting Underwear.

Daintiness, elegance, refinement without extra cost. Without doubt is the most desirable Underwear we have ever sold for women, misses and children. Many styles and fabrics.

WHEN you buy clothes it's a good idea to be sure about the Quality.

If you can see the importance of Quality, we can satisfy you that the best thing for you, is to come to our store for your clothes.

The Question of Quality is answered by the name ROEMER'S; it's the only name in clothes that so perfectly answers the question.

You don't need to be told of the superiority of All-Wool Clothes; that's a fact no man would think of disputing. These clothes, made for us by Hart Schaffner & Marx, are always absolutely all-wool, so you are taking no chances in that regard. Do you know of any other store around here where you can always be sure of the Quality.

We fit a man perfectly in these goods. There's no denying that lots of ready-made clothes don't fit very well. But we will fit you perfectly in these; and you may bring your most critical friend to judge for you, if you choose. We'll give you a fit that you'll be perfectly satisfied with.

See our rich display of the new Fall colors; beautiful shades of Browns, Gray and Blue.

AUTHOR OF GREAT WAR HYMN DEAD

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, author of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," died last Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott, at South Portsmouth, R. I., where she had been ill for some weeks.

Mrs. Howe was 91 years old, having been born May 27, 1819, in New York City, where her childhood days were spent.

For three generations she has held a foremost place in the ranks of America's great women, and ranked high in the literary world. She was the widow of Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe, who established the first school for the blind. Longfellow, Emerson, Harrison and Seward were her close friends during her life in Boston, where she lived for many years.

During the stormy days before the Civil War her pen did valiant service in the cause of abolition.

The beginning of her fatal illness was a cold contracted early in September.

For Constipation

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which are odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action.

They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, The R. E. Riley Drug Co., southeast corner Main and Market streets, Celina, Ohio.

Tried His Skill Once Too Often

John Seraldo, a Mexican, well known about town as Mexican John, sustained serious injuries when he was thrown from a horse at Fort Recovery last Friday night. Mexican John joined the Crawford cow boys, who were here two weeks ago showing at the Bijou Dream. Friday evening when giving an exhibition on the street his horse slipped and fell, throwing Mexican John to the street. He was carried in to the Swartz hotel and a physician called. His injuries, although serious, it is not believed will prove fatal. He was brought here Monday evening and removed to the infirmary, where he is being cared for.

CUPID'S VICTIMS

Herbert L. Schmidt, a prominent young school teacher of Montpelier, Ind., and Miss Bertha Lillibridge, a popular and accomplished young lady of this city, and daughter of Mrs. T. W. Ball, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. Charles Bennett last Monday afternoon. The young couple were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Elvira Lillibridge, and Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Myers, of Coldwater. Following the ceremony the bridal party enjoyed a wedding supper at the home of the bride's mother, and immediately after they left over the Lake Erie for their future home at Montpelier.

OBITUARY

Mary J. Real Copeland was born in Hardy County, West Virginia, April 11, 1854. She came with her parents to Mercer County, Ohio, in the fall of 1872, and on the 19th of September, 1874, she was united in marriage with Robert Howick. Six children were given to this union, three of whom died in infancy and three still survive her, Mrs. Henry Dysert and Miss Beatie Howick, of Rockford, and Mr. Christa Howick, of near Celina. On the 12th day of May, 1892, she was united in marriage with Ell Copeland, of near Rockford, and in the spring of 1905 Mr. and Mrs. Copeland moved to Rockford, where they have since resided. She gave her life in consecration to the Lord Jesus under the ministry of Rev. Thomas Coats during the winter of 1873, and in the winter of 1874 she united with the Center Methodist Episcopal Church. Soon after coming to Rockford her membership was transferred from the Center Church to the M. E. Church in Rockford.

She remained a faithful consecrated follower of our blessed Christ even to the very last moments of her life here, and throughout her long years of suffering, she seldom if ever murmured or complained, and on Friday evening, September 20, 1910, she was called to her reward. She was here 56 years, 5 months and 19 days; she will remain there forever. She was a true wife, a faithful mother, and her children can truly call her blessed. She leaves a husband, three children, three step-children, three grandchildren, a mother, one brother, four sisters, and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss. The funeral services were held from the U. B. Church, the Rev. W. W. Curl, a former pastor, officiating, Monday afternoon, October 3, interment in beautiful Riverside.

nary circumstances he would not have given the matter a second thought; but the words which he had just heard were still in his ears, a dear voice bidding him preserve himself from peril.

Instead of passing through the hall to the sitting room he softly entered the bedroom and crept across it to the curtained doorway. Silently he drew aside the curtain and looked in. A dim figure was crouching by the hall door, and something gleamed faintly in its hand.

There was a revolver in a drawer of the dressing table. Wayne turned toward the place, and the floor creaked under his weight. Instantly the man who was lurking in the other room rushed in upon him, but Wayne was ready. He evaded the knife thrusts and struck the assailant down with his cane. The man fell forward, then rolled heavily upon his back and lay still. Wayne sprang to the button that controlled the lights, and the electric lamps flashed. Wayne looked down upon a face that he remembered—the face of a convict, a man about forty years old, with curly gray hair and a scar across his eye.

Perhaps if the affair had taken a less serious turn Mr. Redmond might have veiled his share of it in the mysteries of occult science, but when summoned to the district attorney's office to explain his advance knowledge of an intended homicide he told the truth with exemplary frankness.

Shortly after landing from the steamer he had gone to the apartments of a friend, a young Englishman resident but a few months in this country. This man's windows looked directly across at those of the Saltsbury's, and he had naturally glanced over at the pretty girl with the sprained ankle. He had seen a man who looked like a lawyer in the room and the signing of legal papers; he had observed Wayne's visits and had chanced to learn who he was.

Redmond on the afternoon which he had spent with his friend had seen Wayne kneel beside Miss Saltsbury's chair and kiss her hand, the gentle climax of their first love episode. Later, on the street, he had encountered Wayne and had observed him with a natural interest. And, having eyes that were keener than an eagle's, Redmond had remarked the sinister figure of the convict slouching upon Wayne's trail. In European capitals, as an attaché of embassies, he had seen much of that sort of thing, and he knew that it meant mischief. Therefore he welcomed the opportunity to put the threatened man upon his guard through the agency of the woman who loved him, and if he had not been invited to tell Miss Saltsbury's fortune he would have disclosed what he knew in the ordinary way of conversation.
