The Democratic Party.

The result of the State elections, this fall, fully demonstrates the fact that the Democratic party is not dead, nor even sleeping. We know that it is the kernel of the Republican papers to speak of the Democratic party after a temporary defeat, as though it had been utterly annihilated, and would give its opponents no trouble in the future.

For a dead party, the Democratic is the hardest one to conquer that the Republic has ever come in contact with. Though defeated to-day, it is as formidable as ever to-morrow; and this in the face of the immense amount of money, the overwhelming power of political patronage, and the Herculean efforts of a proud and defiant opposition.

While the Republican party has been held together by the "cohesive power of public plunder," the Democratic party, for the past five years, has been firmly united on principle, and not all the streams of insane passion, dignified by the name of "patriotism," nor all the influence of official patronage; nor all the power of millions of money put forth to corrupt and control the masses of the party; nor arbitrary arrests and imprisonment, nor mob law and brute violence, backed by a tyrannical and despotic administration of the general Government, have been found sufficient to dissolve, or even discourage the old Democratic party—the party of the Constitution and the people.

It still lives! and though in the minority in the Northern States, it was never, in all the essential elements of its organization, stronger or more hopeful than it is to-day. It stands in solid phalanx in every State, united, determined, confident—the same every where—animated by the same spirit and inspired by the same undying principles. The principles of the Constitution as our fathers made it, are its principles, and while they live the Democratic party will live, united in sentiment, action and spirit every where. The storm and trials through which it has passed during the last five years, have purified it from the dross and relieved it from the weight of a class of men who only acted with it from contempt and venal impulses. They have taken refuge in the bosom of the Republican party, and the Democracy may congratulate themselves that they are at last free from an incubus that was always poisoning and destructive in its influence.

Royal Horse Stealing.

Many horses were taken from Southern plantations during the war by raiders and individuals, and brought North. These horses have never been lawfully confiscated, but are held without authority. The President has given orders that all such property may be taken by the owners wherever found. And more recently, Quartermaster General Meigs has issued orders directing officers on duty in the various military departments to seize and turn over all animals which have belonged to the United States, and all those impressed in loyal or disloyal districts; all captured by the enemy from the U. S., unless the persons holding them can show a legal right to them; and a reward of $15 will be paid for information that leads to the recovery of such horses; but persons holding them cannot receive this reward. The N. Y. Commercial Advertiser says:

The truth is horse-stealing from the Government was carried on by the wholesale during the continuance of the war; nor was this species of theft confined to our own armies, but in a very short time, to look upon horses as common property, and whoever could get the best animal out of the quartermaster or anybody else, was too commonly regarded as the cleverest fellow. From general to private down nearly every one may be said to have become demoralized on the subject of horse flesh. As a result of this laxness, very many were the expedients resorted to for swindling the Government. Attached to every body of men, of any considerable number, was a corral or inclosure of fresh horses to supply the wants of the riders. It was very frequently the custom of mounted men to procure by purchase or "confiscation" a poor animal, and then turning it into the "corral" receive a good horse in exchange. In this manner Government was defrauded out of thousands of dollars every year. Animals so obtained were taken home by officers, at the expiration of their term of service, and are now scattered all through the country. Almost everybody came in time to regard this species of stealing as merely sharp practice.

The signs are hopeful and encouraging that the Democratic party will soon again be in the ascendant, and be called upon by the great majority of the American people to direct and control public affairs—to bring peace, system and order out of the chaos produced by Republican misrule. The President has been compelled to adopt its principles in the very beginning of his attempts at reconstruction and restoration, and the people of the whole country will yet be compelled to plant themselves upon the principles of the Democratic party, if they ever hope to see and rejoice in a restored and peaceful Union of the States.

Treason.

If it is disloyalty to advocate the taxation of National Securities, then the Republican Legislature of Vermont must first be put upon trial. That body, after an animated discussion, in both branches, has just passed into a law a bill to levy a tax on the incomes of citizens derived from U. S. bonds as well as on the stock of National banks within its limits. In what direction shall we hear the political howl of "separation?" Will the Republican working majority of the Ohio Legislature, when that body convenes, have the hardihood to follow the example?

In the absence of any light on this Republican branch of the question, probably it will not be regarded as entirely unwholesome to hear how it is regarded and discussed out here in the West. For instance, on the democratic side, the Indianapolis Herald, estimating with something like accuracy, that there are and will be three thousand millions of Government bonds in existence of which one hundred millions will probably be held by Indiana capitalists, holds that according to republican notions of Constitutional obligations, these bonds ought to be repudiated, unless the holders will agree to their being taxed.

And we now and here notify the bondholders that one of three things must take place: 1. These bonds must be sold to persons out of this State, and the proceeds of them become taxable property in the State; or 2. The holders must agree to their taxation, and they must be taxed for State and municipal purposes; or 3. They must not and will be repudiated, because they can not and will not be paid by taxing the property of other people alone to pay them.

We do not state these propositions as our individual sentiments, but as the sentiment of the masses. They reason thus: If it was right to provoke the South into rebellion by refusing to fulfil Constitutional faith to her, it is right to drive others into rebellion by refusing to keep unjust legal faith with them. It is idle to talk about the matter. It is idle to conceal the fact from the bondholders. It is idle on this subject to be evasive by a circumlocution of words and phrases. Every man who hears the conversation on this subject among the masses of the people, knows that it is upon all their tongues, these bonds shall be taxed or repudiated, and we know the Republicans have taught the people, in the last few years, that compacts and Constitutions are not to stand in the way of what they see fit to do.

The Election of United States Senator.

The Columbus correspondent of the Commercial expresses the opinion that the election of United States Senator, to succeed JOHN SHERMAN, will be postponed by the Legislature until the next session. He says:

"There is a quite general disposition manifested to postpone action until the adjournment session, as was done in the last case, when Mr. Wade was re-elected. As the term of the present incumbent does not expire until March, 1867, it is thought to be unwise to rush into an election of his successor one year in advance, when that year may be a period of events which would have great influence upon the choice of members. Inasmuch as there will be ample time for the election at the second session, it is thought that a majority will vote to postpone it till then."

It is none of our funeral, therefore we may be intruding if we suggest that those illustrious rivals for the position, Messrs. SCHENCK and SHERMAN, will not exactly like so much delay—a delay that may be productive of bringing other royal contestants into the field, and possibly to affirmate the contest as to indefinitely postpone the claims of both; for, although they, just now, seem to claim the field as exclusively their own, it is not to be disputed that there is any quantity of patriots in the State, just as ardent to "achieve honors and emulations as they, who would not "put away the crown" more than half a dozen times, if offered them."

A Good Move.

They have formed a free-trade league in New York. Its views and objects are thus set forth: "The league holds that men should have the right to exercise their industry, to dispose of its fruits in any market which to them shall seem best, and with the proceeds to buy whatever and wherever they please. "It protests against the 'paternal' interference of government with private pursuits, being convinced that the less government is felt and seen the better for all concerned. "It believes that 'protection' to the producer is robbery of the consumer, with the added hypocrisy of pretending to look after the latter's interest."

AN ASSASSIN ARRESTED.

One of the desperadoes who robbed and terribly beat Col. HOFFERMAN a few days since at Nashville, was arrested on the 24th. He was to be tried by drum-head court martial, which means, as he has been recognized six or eight years of reliable rope. The "mysterious prisoner" whom Stanton has got in the castle at Washington, is Major Goe, who had charge of the Salisbury Prison. We presume his death has been resolved upon by the magnates of power, and that he will be turned over to Lew Wallace and his co-conspirators.

THE TEST VOTE.

A bill will be introduced into the House, at the opening of Congress, to test the policy of reconstruction. It is expected by the Republican leaders to alternate, during the progress of this bill, all the shaky material of their party, and to force the President to show his hand. Mr. Johnson will probably take the wind out of the sails of these agitators by compelling them either to support or oppose what he will recommend, and it is not improbable that the men who propose to themselves to run the Congress on their own account, and in their own way, will find themselves not only in the opposition, but before long in the minority.

The Times' Liverpool letter tells the Shenandoah was in a very filthy condition when surrendered, and indicated that the officers had no control over the crew. There was a large quantity of flags of all nations on board, and the crew said many more had been torn up for cleaning guns.

Rise of the Negroes.

Very serious alarm prevails in some of the Louisiana parishes respecting the present attitude of the blacks. Mischievous men, no better than fiends, have induced hundreds of them to believe that a general division of land is to be begun on Christmas, when all of them will be converted by the Freedman's Bureau into first-class planters. The local papers report that large numbers, through some mysterious means are becoming possessed of different kinds of small arms, while a hostile feeling against the defenseless whites is every-where manifest. We have no doubt that could a second Jamaica horror be enacted down there during the winter, all enlightened and christianized New England would send forth its laudations.

A letter from Shreveport to the New Orleans Crescent thus describes their condition and habits in that vicinity:

There is not an hour of the night, from dark till daylight, in which you can not hear them dancing, quarreling and carousing, and firing off their guns and pistols in all parts of the town, and see them prowling in squads of from three to a dozen, around the back doors, kitchen and cabins of the private residences—stealing poultry, stealing hogs, stealing wood and axes, and every thing else they can lay their hands on. During the day (every store is closed here at dark) four or five of them will enter a store, and while some are parleying with and engaging the clerks, another will walk off with a bolt of goods, a coat, hat, pair of pants or boots, or any thing else he or she generally happens conveniently carry away. Such is the blessings of "Liberty" Sambo is now enjoying in that portion of the South, and yet every morning nearly, the "Freedman's Bureau" sends us over the wires the most exalted praises of their improved physical and moral condition!

Crime in Boston.

The Social Science Association held a meeting at Boston last Friday evening. The chairman, J. H. Stevenson, stated that from 1,500 to 1,800 children were annually sent to prison in that city for crime. The Hon. Edwin Wright said that in the years 1862 and 1863 there were brought to the city prison each year 1,500 children, under the age of fourteen years; and he asserted that there were now 5,000 children in that city treading the paths of crime.

Now, we submit, in all sincerity, whether this same Boston is not one of the widest fields that can be found in any country—Africa, Asia, Oceania, and "Cheesedom"—now demanding the urgent attention of Christian benevolence! Where are healthens so in need of spiritual food as the Boston heathens. We call the immediate attention of all home missionary enterprises to this deplorable picture of the "Hub of the Universe." Let the Hottentots wait a little longer for the moral pocket handkerchiefs, attend to the pagans of Boston. Let the Feejee's postpone for a period their favorite feast of white missionary—save Boston!

THE PROFITS OF A DETECTIVE.

An excellent model which, after seven or eight months is being built in Lansing, Michigan, by an officer prominent in the Government detective service, who was not worth a dollar before the commencement of the war—Exchange.

A highly respectable member of the New York bar asserted some time since that a certain Colonel, a brother of a certain Major General in the service of the United States, who had been down South for about six months, was found to be worth, upon his demise, seven millions of dollars! When he first went into the service, he was reported as being worth scarcely the equivalent of a pair of sporrans.

Wreck of a Vessel—Terrible Scene.

Few more terribly thrilling stories of wrecks have taken place before the public than that of the wreck of the Duncan on the coast of Brazil. It was at 5 P. M. and the crew of "Breakers ahead," was answered only by the horrible crash of the keel on the coral reef. Through the smoke, black with light of October 7, the ship, reeling to and fro, and the passengers could not even see whether any part of the reef was above water, but knew surely that the ship must go to pieces before morning. The men and women behaved well. "It is impossible," says the report, "to speak too highly of the conduct of the ladies at the time the vessel struck, and during the whole of that most fearful night. Not a scream was heard, and with perfect resignation and quietness they awaited the termination of that trying state of things, whether it should result in their preservation, or their being swept into the dark and horrid waters around."

THE TEST VOTE.

A bill will be introduced into the House, at the opening of Congress, to test the policy of reconstruction. It is expected by the Republican leaders to alternate, during the progress of this bill, all the shaky material of their party, and to force the President to show his hand. TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY.

Two white men, named John M. Brown and Christopher C. Reese, having been convicted by a military commission of the murder of a negro named Nellie West, in Tallferro County, Georgia, were sentenced to be hanged. The President has approved the sentences, and ordered the execution to take place on the first Friday in January next.

Governor Holden, of North Carolina, is beaten for Governor by Worth by about 10,000 majority.

The rebel rascal Stenwall has arrived in Washington, where she will be inspected by the court-martial which is trying Commander Craven for not capturing her.

A novel official document has been received at the Indian Bureau. From it it appears that the cost of killing an Indian has been about $1,000,000 a head, and for a squaw $2,000,000. This shows the economy of the Government.

A Cuban has been arrested in New York upon suspicion of being engaged in the murder of Otero. He was on board of a ship about to sail for Havana. The circumstantial evidence against him is said to be very strong.

The Matamoros Banderos of the 16th says, despite the reports to the contrary, there is not the slightest apprehension of another attack on the city. No Liberals have been seen or heard from for three days, within a circuit of five miles. The only reason for supposing them near is the reported presence of Cortinas.

A terrible tornado on the 18th swept over a large portion of the eastern part of central America. Immense destruction of life and property resulted. The entire town of Bluefield, with the exception of the King's residence and the missionary building, was completely demolished, and many persons killed for miles along the coast. All the houses disappeared before the storm. The plantations were covered with five feet of water, and all the grass crops destroyed.

In the foreign files by the Chius, from London, the New York Daily News of the 24th says that the order concerning the crew of the Shenandoah stipulated that all who were not British subjects should be liberated. The men on being called up claimed to be residents of Southern States, or Spain and France. None acknowledged to be British subjects, though many had Scotch and Yorkshire accent of the broadest character. All were released. Their baggage was noticed to be particularly heavy.

Peter Thompson, an old citizen of Cincinnati, a liquor merchant, and a native of Scotland died in that city on Friday. He was 68 years of age.

Thad. Stevens, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, is now in Washington, talking out loud. He denounces the policy of the President without stint, and will take an early opportunity on the resumption of Congress, to announce his own views. There is considerable pressure to prevent his re-appointment to the Chairmanship of the Committee.

Robbers got into the First National Bank, at Charleston, Greece Co. on Wednesday night, got partly into the safe and then suspended operations.

FOUR—On Monday morning Nov. 27th, Cassius M. Youngs, daughter of David V. and M. J. Fottle. Funeral services at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, at the residence of her parents, 600 South of Sixth.
