

Where is BESSIE TURNER? She ought to confess.

For superlatively grand party management, commend us to bob.

It is still there—the Ohio Legislature at the Capital.

BECKER can be said to be again hanging on the "ragged edge."

Many of our banks commenced paying out gold last week, but it won't last long.

Even many of the Murphys are in favor of punch—the Moffett Register Punch.

BICKHAM, of the Dayton Journal, has poked, and of course bob will take a swallow.

Like the lingering of winter in the lap of spring, doth the Ohio Legislature stick to Columbus.

bob wants to know if we approve of the election of the new Door-keeper of the House. Of course we do.

Taking the Middletown, Xenia, Germantown and Dayton scandals, Brooklyn and Detroit don't beat Ohio very much.

We had a Cincinnati Breakfast Table last Sunday morning. It was the squarest and cheapest meal we have had for some time.

JOE GROEN is lecturing on "Fools." It is said his tickets of admission read thus: "Lecture on Fools—Admission one!"

When the fraudulent President appointed an ex-Confederate General to a Cabinet office, why didn't he make a fuss about it?

We wish the Cincinnati Enquirer's Sunday special train could shoot across this way with its daily. The day wouldn't be half so long.

Hon. W. E. ORRIS, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, died in New York city, on Monday evening last.

If PETER COOPER is worth $10,000,000, he would be a bully plum as a candidate for the next Presidency. In this event, put us down for PETER.

We hope the people around here will keep in mind that bob is a gentleman of no "proportions." He stalked them on the late election and lost.

We hope bob won't get so crazy that he will be compelled to quit the Register. We want his party management this fall. It produces excellent results.

The Democratic members of the Ohio House of Representatives have resolved against church taxation, so that question is settled for the present.

Since the voters of Eaton knocked the large "proportions" out of bob, by setting down on his little arrangement to run the town politically, he is not happy.

Gen. SHIELDS telegraphed to Washington city that he did not want the position of Door-keeper. Those "briny tears," shed by Republican quacks, were all lost!

WM. ALLEN, of Greenville, will certainly be the Republican candidate for Congress in this District, and JOHN A. McMAHON will tan his hide most beautifully.

The 16th of May is the time said to be named by our statesmen at Columbus to adjourn. The Lord willing, we'll endeavor to live over it and fix it with our people.

NANNIE DICKLEY and FANNIE RICHARDS will never go back on their words. When a western female says yes, you can then bet your bottom nickel on it.

Every body knows now that HAYES stole his way into the Presidency, and he should follow the example of O'Conner, the Montgomery member of the Legislature, and send in his resignation.

It was all right for the fraudulent President to put an ex-Confederate officer in his Cabinet, but a terrible outrage for the Democrats to elect one House Door-keeper! Ain't that thin?

The bill to tax church property was introduced into the Ohio Legislature by REESE G. RICHARDS, a Republican, and it received the solid vote of that party. This should not be forgotten.

The leading Republican newspaper of the country says of Hayes: Not for years has there been an Administration so destitute of popularity. It awakens no sympathy, wins no favor, commands no respect.

The editor of the Dayton Journal made a very pusillanimous retraction of the lie he started, about Gov. BISHOP dictating the appointment of Superintendent for the Dayton Insane Asylum. It is characteristic of Republican editors, never to retract charges against a political opponent, no difference how destitute of truth.

GEN. SHIELDS.

The hypocrisy and cant of the Republican journals over the defeat of Gen. SHIELDS, as Door-keeper of the House, is the thinnest thing we have seen for a long time, and to read articles of pretended sympathy for him from such creatures as Bob Williams, is enough to make the soot on the devils cheek turn scarlet. The crocodile tears and hypocritical pretences of these fellows, is not really for Gen. SHIELDS, but to make party capital for a rotten and defunct organization, as Hon. JOHN A. McMAHON conclusively showed in the discussion in the House over the election of the Door-keeper. The fact in this debate was developed that while the Democrats had ever been and still were ready and willing to honor and reward Gen. SHIELDS, the professions of a similar readiness upon the part of the Republicans, were nothing but hollow mockery, wind and cant. It was shown that while the Democrats had elected Gen. SHIELDS to Congress from the Kansas city District, in Missouri, by a majority of thousands, the Republicans had proscribed him and given his seat to the man whom he had beaten, and that this canting old "spoon thief," BRUCE BURTLE, who now denominated that the Democrats should make him Door-keeper, had actually voted against him—that during the long years that the Republicans held all the positions, legislative and executive, they had never done anything for him, but had never missed an opportunity to wrong him foully! And this is a specimen of the hypocritical, canting, dough-faces, who are howling about the ingratitude of the Democratic party to soldiers and Gen. SHIELDS—the party that in days gone by had honored the veteran soldier by electing him to the United States Senate, once from Illinois and once from Minnesota, and once to a seat in Congress, which he was cheated out of by Republican votes, and wound up by placing him in his old age in the retired list as a Brigadier-General, worth double the amount the insignificant position of Door-keeper.

This hypocritical pretension of "love for the soldiers," by leading Republicans and political pismires and camp-followers, of the Bob Williams stripe, has been so frequently uncovered and exposed in its hollowness, that it deceives none now but the most pitiful objects of party slavery, and any effort to further exhibit the deception would seem almost superfluous, but the following from Mr. McMAHON's remarks we give as a clincher to all their quackery:

In 1865, at the close of the war, the Republican party was naturally full of love for the Union soldiers, and it passed the following law, to be found in the Revised Statutes, section 1754. It has become so obsolete in practice that I doubt if many members have a recollection that such a law was ever passed:

SEC. 1754. Persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty shall be preferred for appointment to civil offices, provided they are found to possess the business capacity necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of such office.

How has that law been kept? Go through the Departments of the Government and see for yourself. Out of the eighty-five thousand men in the employ of the republican party, how many are disabled and crippled veterans? The Veterans say that, compared with the army of lusty politicians that are to be found stowed away in the fat places, you can almost count the disabled soldiers on your fingers and toes.

If the fellow who stole the Cincinnati Enquirer from our office, on Saturday last before we had read it, attempts the business again, he will wish himself in Beecher's "place of disbelief" before he gets away from the Democrat office.

Nobody but an idiot believes that Gen. SHIELDS wanted to be Door-keeper of the House at Washington city, and no person who is not bordering on lunacy would undertake to make political capital out of the fact that it was not given to him.

Hon. R. M. MOORE, Mayor of Cincinnati, our thanks for a copy of his annual message, which is neatly got up and filled with excellent information. When we get to be Mayor of the city of Eaton, we'll pattern after the present American Paris Mayor, and return the compliment.

Poor bob is wonderfully distressed because Gen. SHIELDS, a veteran Democrat, did not get to be Door-keeper over another Democrat. It is a melancholy fact, that bob's love and mental distress for Democrats who are disappointed in not getting positions, will some day land him in the Dayton Asylum, unless his friends take charge of him.

JOHN O'CONNOR, the Democratic member of the Ohio Legislature from the Soldier's Home of Montgomery county, has come to grief and resigned his seat in that body. O'CONNOR was a Republican when he committed all his crimes, and only came in to the Democratic party to get an office. The disgrace will learn the Democrats of that county to be more careful in picking up Republicans and putting them into honorable positions. Look up their pedigrees.

Death of Ex-Auditor William L. Barnhisser.

We are pained to announce this week the death of our friend and fellow-citizen, ex-Auditor WILLIAM L. BARNHISSE, who died at his residence in Eaton on Monday evening last, of Consumption, in the 37th year of his age. Mr. B. had been in delicate health for a long time, and it was hoped that his indomitable energy and will would prolong his life for many years, but death had seized him, and with relentless grasp pursued him closely through every lane of life to final victory. He served two terms as County Auditor of Preble County, and we but utter the sentiments of all parties, when we say that a more gentlemanly, obliging, honest and correct officer, never filled a place in Preble county. We regret his death—we loved BILLY BARNHISSE—everybody loved and will lament his loss—for his uprightness, his integrity, his honesty had endeared him to all who knew him. He has gone from among us, and will sleep well beneath the clouds of the valley, while affections tears and the remembrance of his many many qualities and virtues, will keep green the turf above his resting-place, and all who linger at his grave in after years will say, "here lieth an honest man, the noblest work of God." From a life of change, with all its weariness and suffering he has gone to rest, leaving a young wife, a father, sisters, brother, and a host of friends, to mourn his departure. May the early flowers of spring deck well his grave, and may his wife find consolation in the thought that his spirit is with Him who gave it.

His funeral will take place to-day, (Thursday) under charge of the Masonic Order, and his remains be interred in the West Alexandria Cemetery.

The revenue collector of whisky, rum and tobacco for the Third District, and the botch cooper of the editorial pages of the weekly Register, unable to rise to the dignity of a gentleman, makes a very sickly attempt to be witty over our appointment as one of the Trustees of the Dayton Insane Asylum. The one idea that appears uppermost in the hazelnet that is supposed to hold the spoonful of brains possessed by this Darwinian specimen of a man, is that like himself under similar circumstances, we swelled out of "proportions." It is a pity that bob's vanity and lack of brains, so often leads him into the same ridiculous position of the monkey, that undertook to climb the pole.

The fact that there were six applicants for Superintendent whose papers were not opened seems to justify our statement that Bishop had dictated the appointment of Dr. Morse when he appointed the Board.

The fact is Mr. BICKHAM, you lie under a very great mistake. The papers of every applicant for the position before the Board, were opened by our own hands and examined by the Board, having been appointed for that purpose. We hope this will satisfy the editor of the Journal, and that he will turn his brilliant talent in some other direction, or use a little more diligence in obtaining the correct facts.

Does the editor of the Eaton Democrat approve the election of a Confederate General over a Union soldier for Door-keeper because the Democratic caucus ordered it? Now is the time to rise above a "damphool."

Did bob approve the appointment of the Confederate General Keys, Post Master General in the fraudulent Republican President's Cabinet, over hundreds of Union soldiers, because Mr. HATES ordered it? Now is the time to rise above a "damphool."

bob puts this question to us: "Was Door-keeper Polk guilty of conduct rendering him unworthy of the confidence of the people and demanding his removal from office." We haven't the least doubt of the fact, bob, or he would not have been dismissed. You see, bob, when a Democrat in office becomes crooked, he is "bonned" immediately, and that is the difference between Democracy and Republicanism.

The ex-Auditor and Deputy Treasurer of Trumbull county, prominent door nob in the Republican church of that county, were both arrested for stealing the public funds, but bob hasn't astonished the readers of his electable sheet with the intelligence as exultantly as he did about the bogus $10,000 steel charged on DONAVIN. He sings mum on Republican rascality.

After bob served two terms as Treasurer of this county, his "proportions" grew big, likewise his head, and Eaton became too small to hold him, so he moved to the city of Dayton. The fate of the fabled frog that undertook to swell itself to the size of an ox, was the same as befel the conceited bob.

Some striking testimony relative to the success of Gov. Hampton's administration in South Carolina is furnished by a correspondent of the Springfield Republican.

Dr. Roseman the postmaster at Charleston, a colored man of good Northern education, said the blacks had no complaint whatever to make. The colored postmaster at Columbia was equally well satisfied, and by an old incident both these negroes, who are said to be among the best representatives of their race to be found in the state, added to their praise of Hampton the remark in almost the same words: "I can't help regarding it as providential that Wade Hampton became Governor of South Carolina. God only knows what would have become of us if things had kept on the way they were going." The few respectable white republicans to be found in the state, agreed perfectly with this view, one of them volunteering the statement: "It's all a mistake these stories that sometimes get into your papers up north about the republicans of South Carolina being unhappy under Democratic rule. The fact is, we republicans here are as happy as bugs in a rug; never had such a good time before, since the war." We should now hear just such exclamations from all parts of the country if the nation had been allowed, like the people of South Carolina, to have the administration of its choice.

A bill has been introduced in the Ohio Legislature which provides that real property ordered to be sold in execution, shall be sold without appraisal to the highest bidder. The bill also provides that where a homestead is ordered sold by a Court on execution that it shall be valued and appraised as follows: The debtor shall select a disinterested freeholder, the creditor one, and these two shall appoint a third. The three persons shall then appraise the property, and report their proceedings to the proper officer, who shall advertise the sale for thirty days. All sales of homesteads shall be made upon the premises, and no homestead shall be sold for less than seven eighths of its appraised value. If the sale should fail for want of bidders who will bid this sum, then it shall not be offered for sale for two years from that date, provided the debtor permits or suffers no waste and pay all taxes on the property as they become due. The bill also contains a provision that it shall not conflict with any of the homestead laws now on the statute book.

The Columbus Dispatch says that Johnny Sweetman, an ex-professional teacher in "the many art of self defense," now living in Columbus, in addition to being a paralyzed invalid, is suffering from mental depression on account of the disappearance of his son, Thomas W. Sweetman, April 28, 1877, at Mineral Springs, Mich. Clements, Michigan, where his father was taking baths for his present physical trouble. Gov. Bishop, of Ohio; S. H. Rosecrans, Bishop of Columbus; J. H. Heitman, Mayor of the city; Edward F. Bingham, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas; John M. Pugh, Probate Judge; Colonel Richard Nevins, Trustee of Waterworks, and others who have been made acquainted with the facts, join in asking a liberal circulation of the same in the press. The father, who is to be pitied in his present condition, may be addressed at Columbus, Ohio.

The $10,000 steel that Radical editors were gloating over, charged on SIX DONAVIN while acting as Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms, turns out to be no steel at all. Mr. MORRISON, Chairman of the Investigating Committee in which the funds were said to have been misappropriated, says, "it is all humbug," and that "there was no chance for any such thing." The Rads are spoiling to catch a Democratic thief in power, but there isn't a ghost of a sight for them to be gratified.

Detroit has a scandal sensation equal to the BECKER-TILTON, involving a no less person than SAMUEL A. McCOCKER, for more than forty years Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan. The Bishop is now seventy-four years of age and recently resigned, intending to sail for Europe shortly for his health, and it looks like a very fishy scandal.

The office of the Door-keeper of the House is worth only twenty-seven hundred dollars a year, yet the election of an ex-Confederate to that office fourteen years after the war, has caused more talk and excitement among the Republican blow-hards, than the stealing of the Presidency, only one year ago!

In the case of the State of Ohio against CHARLES E. DIMMITT, for the robbery of the Clermont County safe of $24,000,000, the jury brought in a verdict of "guilty." The attorneys for the defense gave notice of an application for a new trial, and the Judge agreed to hear arguments on the first of May.

We see by our last week's Eaton Democrat, that Bro. Gould has been appointed Trustee of the Dayton Insane Asylum. Mr. Gould is well qualified for the position and will be an honor and a great help to the Board.—Arcanum Visitor.

COLORADO LETTER.

PUEBLO, COLORADO, April 16th, 1878. Ed. Democrat—A little less than a year ago I wrote you concerning this place, and now, after a winter's residence here, I desire to write an appendix, and correct some impressions I have made. While still adhering to the truth of what I then wrote, there has been a wonderful change for the better. A fresh snow has taken possession of the people and things are moving with life. Within the past six months a foundry and machine shops have been erected, and a large rolling mill is in full blast, furnishing railroad iron for the two railroads at this point, both of which are pushing their lines into New Mexico. Arrangements are about completed for the erection of rail works and a blast furnace. The latter is a fixed fact, and this is an excellent locality, as coal and iron ore are both to be found near here. Thus you will see that Pueblo has been born again, and now aspires to be the Pittsburg of the Rocky Mountains.

This is undoubtedly the best winter resort for invalids in the State. It escapes the mountain storms and the Colorado Springs both are subject to. This is a fact that is little known in the East, as the two latter places have done an immense amount of falsifying on the subject.

The hopes of the few farmers of this locality are raised by the fact that there were no grasshoppers last year, and this year they are sowing a full crop of grain.

The readers of the DEMOCRAT will be surprised to know that in this great cattle raising section we can scarcely get beef fit to eat, but it is true. They never feed cattle, and at this season of the year they become very thin. Indeed, it is said that they have to tie stones to their tails to keep them from blowing away.

This is the new mining town, which is attracting great attention in this State. It is predicted that spring will witness as great a rush to that locality as to the Black Hills. Even now reckless prospectors are braving the mountain snows and storms at the risk of their lives to get there first and secure advantages. Leadville is not a new locality at all, on the contrary it is one of the oldest mining districts in the State, being in the famous California gulch, which has already produced such great quantities of gold. The ore just found is of quality hitherto unknown in the State, called "ear boniferous" is very rich, of a dusty reddish color and easily worked. It seems strange that it should have been worked for the past 20 years and its value never known. It is supposed that the mountains of that locality abound in it, and what is stranger, is that your correspondent was through that neighborhood last summer and he didn't find it himself.

I suppose there are more Micawbers to the square mile in a mining country than any other place on the face of the earth. They generally come expecting to gather gold and silver like huckleberries, if they can once reach the place, but when land there they soon realize that they must begin to dig the "precious" for themselves in the soil, or starve. However, they never get discouraged, for there isn't one of them but expects to strike it rich some day, and talk of going back to the States and living in ease. Consequently every new discovery starts these micawbers to see what has "turned up." Some realize their expectations, but by far the larger number are employed again as "micawbers" in a new discovery, and they throw up their "job" and start on the "tramp" again.

One of the more peculiarities a stranger or "stranger" notices, is the wonderful difference between the spelling and pronunciation of names of places. His attention is first attracted by being laughed at over some word, and it is not long before he will refuse to open his mouth to name places. Most of the old towns and rivers have Spanish names, some are correctly pronounced according to that language, but by far a greater number have become garbled by the Medicans and followed by the settlers. A few instances may not prove uninteresting: The San Juan country is called the San Wan; the towns of La Junta and Sanchoche are respectively called La Junta and Sancha; the Huachuca and Purgatoire rivers, the Warfano and Picket-wire. The latter is as bad as the old woman who called Vermig's street in Colorado Springs, "Vermifuge street."

Not the least in the amusing line is to look over the advertisements in the papers. They all partake of the "loud" style. The saloons are among the best advertisers in this country, and they do it in their own peculiar style. Especially are the names of saloons often amusing; for instance, what could be more appropriate than that of one in Central City called "The Elevator." I expect there are more men "elevated" there than in the Grand Hotel elevator. A Del Norte dealer advertiser calls his "The Water Proof." One in Cheyenne assures the public that his square deal is "guaranteed" at his house. These are only a few of the many which attract the attention of the reader, but enough to show that even advertisements are interesting out here.

L. G. GOULD, Esq., editor of the Eaton (Ohio) Democrat, has been appointed, by Governor Bishop, of that State, Trustee of the Dayton Insane Asylum. Mr. Gould is a native of Carlisle, and learned the art of printing in the VOLUNTEER office. We congratulate him because the appointment came to him entirely unsolicited.—Carlisle (Pa.) Volunteer.

The recent session of the Louisiana Legislature cost $200,000 less than any that have been held since the State was "reconstructed." It was made-up of Democrats instead of Republican carpet-baggers, and that is the reason of the economy.

On motion Council adjourned to meet next Monday evening at 7:30 sharp. FRANK MITCHELL, Clerk. Bro. L. G. Gould of the Eaton Democrat, has modestly accepted from Governor R. M. Bishop, the appointment as Trustee of the Dayton Insane Asylum. Bro. Gould will make a good Trustee.—Van Wert Times.

The income tax agreed on by the House Committee of Ways and Means provides for a tax of two per cent. on all incomes between $2,000 and $3,000; three per cent. on incomes between $3,000 and $5,000, and four per cent. on all over $5,000. It is believed that the proposition will fall in the House, and the matter will be compromised by suspending payments to the sinking fund for five years. The Chicago Times says that two agents of the British Government are engaged in buying horses at St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Kentucky, as well as in Illinois. The horses bought are just such as would be picked out for cavalry use. In Chicago alone the agents have already gathered about five hundred, and it is understood that they contemplate a total purchase of about twenty thousand. Allen county Democrats have abandoned the primary election system, and will hereafter nominate by delegate conventions. From bad to worse.
