

RESCUED 11

People from Wrecked Steamer Berlin.

THREE ARE WOMEN

The Husband of the Queen of Holland was Very Active in the Work of Saving Lives.

Hook, St. Holland, Feb. 23.—Largely as a result of the courage of Prince Henry of the Netherlands, the prince consort, that which appeared to be an impossible task has been achieved and the heroic efforts of the Dutch fishermen have succeeded in rescuing alive 11 more of the survivors of the ill-fated steamer Berlin.

The gallant Dutch fishermen were rewarded after more than 24 hours of hard and dangerous work by the arrival of the steamer Berlin, which, after a long and arduous search, finally at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, the receding tide and some improvement in the weather having made the conditions easier, their long fight was crowned with success.

Although several of the persons rescued were in the last stages of exhaustion, they now are on the road to recovery and some of them have been able to tell the story of their awful experiences. Two women and a child are still on board the wreck, but it is feared that they are dying. Nothing daunted, however, the brave Dutch men are preparing to make further efforts to rescue these unfortunate.

The prince consort, after his first visit to the wreck when he saw that there were still some survivors on board, declared: "We won't return to The Hague before we save them."

The news that this determination had been fulfilled reached the waiting crowd at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. There was then a wild rush of the people to the various points of vantage overlooking the harbor. Long hours of waiting followed and the people began to doubt the truth of the report that 11 persons had been saved and it was not until after 7 o'clock that the steam pilot boat heralded its approach with shrieks of triumph from her siren.

The small lifeboat was the first to reach the harbor and Capt. Jansen, its skipper, received ringing cheers. He reported that two women and a child, who had refused to jump, were still aboard the Berlin. He explained that the rescue had been effected by both boats working in conjunction. First the small boat managed to make fast a rope to the breakwater and by this means the survivors were dragged through the water to the pilot boat, which stood a little way off.

Capt. Jansen had hardly told his story when the steam pilot boat with the rescued on board, hove in sight. As she was moored the ringing cheer of the assembled crowd was succeeded by a painful lull as the first of the survivors was borne ashore on a stretcher.

Steward was the next man brought ashore. He was quite cheerful and should gaily in reply to inquiries: "My name is Pieser." He seemed to have stood the terrible ordeal the best of all. Then came a woman.

Eventually the 11 survivors so narrowly snatched from death were removed to the Amerika hotel, and when the prince consort came ashore his face was radiant with joy.

The names of the passengers saved follow:

Mr. Young, Mr. Broderick, Fraulien Buchle, Fraulien Galtier, Frau Schraeder, all three of these women belong to the opera company; a man whose name is not known, and five members of the crew. Only two women and a child are now left on the wreck. Of these the two women are known to be Fraulien Thiele and Frau Wernberg. The husband of the last mentioned woman has died in the ordinary course.

According to the steward, Fisher the two women, Fraulien Thiele and Frau Wernberg, were alive when the tug came out, but died before the work of rescue was completed. Fisher said: "When I left the wreck the sea was so rough that I could not get ashore. I was scarcely breathing, and there is no hope of getting him or alive."

It now appears certain that after the catastrophe there were many more than 15 persons remaining on the wreck and that most of them were washed off by the waves. One woman was carried away just before the rescue was effected. The survivors huddled together for warmth and the members of the crew who were still alive shared their food with the others. There was not enough to go around, however, and for 24 hours no morsel of food passed the lips of the unfortunate people. When they arrived at the hotel they immediately asked for food.

Capt. Jan. of the lifeboat, and the other rescuers, warmly praise the courage of Prince Henry, who was on the smaller boat and worked hard pulling at the rope and is helping to hoist the survivors aboard. This was not accomplished without difficulty, owing to the heavy surf.

On Your Stomach

Wonderful Absorbing Power Charcoal When Taken in the Form of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Trial Package Sent Free

Charcoal, pure, simple charcoal, absorbs 100 times its own volume of gas. Where does the gas go to, it is just absorbed by the charcoal—the gas disappears and there is left a pure, fresh, sweet atmosphere, free from all impurities and germs.

That's what happens in your stomach when you take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Lozenges, the most powerful purifiers science has yet discovered.

You belch gas in company, sometimes, by accident, greatly to your own humiliation. That is because there is a great amount of gas being formed in your stomach by fermenting food. Your stomach is not digesting your food properly. Gas is inevitable. Whenever this happens, just take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges right after eating, and you will be surprised how quickly they will act. No more belchings; no more sour risings. Eat all you want and what you want, and then if there is any gas going to be formed, one of these wonderful little absorbers, a Stuart Charcoal Lozenge, will take care of all the gas.

And it will do more than that. Every particle of impurity in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away by the charcoal. No one seems to know why it does this, but it does, and does it wonderfully. You notice the difference in your appetite, general good feeling, and in the purity of your blood, right away.

You'll have no more bad taste in your mouth or bad breath, either from drinking, eating or smoking. Other people will notice your bad breath quicker than you will your self. Make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, so when you talk to others you won't disgust them. Just one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges will make your breath sweet, and make you feel better all over for it. You can eat all the onions and odorous foods you want, and no one can tell the difference.

Besides, charcoal is the best laxative known. You can take a whole boxful and no harm will result. It is a wonderfully easy regulator.

And then, too, it filters your blood—every particle of poison or impurity in your blood is destroyed, and you begin to notice the difference in your face first thing—your clear complexion.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made from pure willow charcoal, and just a little honey is put in to make them palatable, but not too sweet. They will work wonders in your stomach, and make you feel fine and fresh. Your blood and breath will be purified.

We want to prove all this to you, so just send for a free sample today. Then after you get it and use it, you will like them so well that you will go to your druggist and get a 25c box of these Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

WOULD LIMIT THEIR POWER.

House of Representatives Goes on Record Against the Work of Agents Employed to Detect Land Frauds.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The house in committee of the whole, placed itself squarely on record Friday in favor of limiting the power of special agents of the department of the interior by restricting the use of the appropriation of $250,000 covered by the sundry civil appropriation bill to pay the salaries of such agents. By a vote of 104 to 17 the committee adopted the amendment, which was offered by Mr. Moynell, of Wyoming, and debated for two hours.

During the debate the work of the special agents was severely condemned and the orders of the president regarding final proof on homestead entries criticized as working unnecessary hardships upon settlers.

Forceful speeches were made by Senators Burkett, Depew and Beveridge in defense of the work of Chief Forester Pinchot, and Senator Heyburn opposed the extension of the forest service.
