

INTO A POND

Two Cars of a Passenger Train Were Dumped.

NINE PEOPLE HURT.

Coaches Were Thrown Over a 25-Foot Embankment and Broke a Gas Pipe Line.

Warren, Pa., March 7.—Train No. 33 on the Western New York & Pennsylvania division of the Pennsylvania railroad was wrecked last night between Irvineton and this place. The train plunged over a 25-foot embankment and nine persons were injured, none fatally.

The train was running behind a freight from Irvineton to Warren and when three-quarters of a mile from Warren the freight ran onto a siding to allow the passenger train to pass. After the freight was on the siding the passenger train, started through the switch, which is set from a tower about a quarter of a mile away. The switch was not entirely closed and two cars were thrown from the rails and down an embankment into a pond of water.

Near the railroad track runs a pipe line of the Pennsylvania Gas Co., carrying 200 pounds pressure. This pipe line was broken and the coaches filled with natural gas. There were four passengers in the rear coach, which was turned completely over, and they had a narrow escape from suffocation by gas fumes. Had the lamps in the coaches been lighted an explosion would have taken place. Nearly every passenger on the train was bruised or cut and several were taken to the hospital here for treatment. The wreck, which was in the local yards, attracted the attention of workmen nearby and they assisted the injured onto a freight car and they were brought to this city.

Miss Anne Corbett, of Parker's Landing, Pa., who was one of the injured, was coming to Warren, where she was to have been married last night to Orville Brown, who with a party of friends was waiting for her train. When the wreck became known Brown hired a team and went to the scene where he assisted in rescuing Miss Corbett and had her taken to a hospital.

The Davis Trial Halts.
Danville, Ill., March 7.—The trial of Will J. Davis, charged with manslaughter on account of the loss of nearly 600 lives in the Trojans theatre at Chicago, on December 30, 1923, is now at a standstill so far as evidence is concerned, and promises to be tied up in the courts indefinitely on legal points that may be carried to the supreme court before the trial itself can go on. The witnesses have been released and have returned to Chicago subject to further notice.

Sauerkraut Makers Convene.
Toledo, O., March 7.—Representatives from sauerkraut manufacturers of Illinois, New York, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin and Indiana met here Wednesday for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization.

Killed His Wife and Her Paramour.
Indianapolis, March 7.—Mrs. Fred Schwaner and William Gill died Wednesday from bullet wounds inflicted by the woman's husband, who returned unexpectedly to his home at Ben Davis and found the two together. The men have been friends for years.

A Fatal Explosion in a Mine.
Huntington, W. Va., March 7.—As the result of a dust explosion Wednesday in the Ethel coal mine, near Logan, W. Va., Ed Grover, a miner whose home is at Bidwell, O., was killed and several others injured.

An Important Decision.
Pittsburg, March 7.—Judge Ewing of the United States circuit court, filed an opinion Wednesday to the effect that if non-residents are to enter suits in the future against American companies there will have to be further treaties made between this and foreign countries.

Trainmen's Demands are Granted.
Philadelphia, March 7.—The differences between the Pennsylvania railroad and its trainmen, which for a time threatened to cause a strike were settled Wednesday. Concessions were made by both the railroad and the trainmen. The railroad demanded the Pittsburg rate of pay in all yards east of Pittsburg and Erie, and the railroad has agreed to extend the Pittsburg rates to a district within a radius of about 45 miles of that city. The annual increase in wages will amount to $1,350,000.

Nuns Were Fined.
Nantes, France, March 7.—A police court judge on Wednesday inflicted fines of $5.20 upon each of 27 Ursuline nuns and a fine of $5 upon the mother superior for refusing to quit their convent in compliance with the law.

The Strike Continues to Spread.
Toledo, Ohio, March 7.—More men followed the strikers at the Pope auto plant Wednesday, and it is estimated that about 1,200 men are out. The plant is practically tied up tight. Rumors that the plant will be dismantled are gaining ground and are not denied by the Pope-Toledo people. Rumors of the resignation of General Manager Schaaf, who is charged with having done an unwise act in financing his sensational advertisements in the case of the union men after the plant had been dismantled, are also current.

BOSS HIDES.

Abe Ruef, Frisco Politician, Evades Writs.

AND DELAYS TRIAL.

Judge Dunne Orders the Coroner to Hunt for Missing Man, Who is Alleged to be in Frisco.

San Francisco, March 7.—Attorney Abraham Ruef, jointly indicted with Mayor Schmitz on five charges of extorting money from keepers of restaurants, is technically fugitive from justice, according to Judge Dunne who on Wednesday decided that Sheriff O'Neill had not shown due diligence in producing Ruef for trial and appointed Coroner Walsh as elisor to serve a bench warrant for Ruef's appearance in court. The coroner was ordered to make a return of service this afternoon. This was the net result of a day devoted to a fruitless search for Ruef, although some of those interested deny that he is in San Francisco. Ruef on Monday procured a writ of error to the supreme court of the United States.

When court convened yesterday Sheriff O'Neill reported that his search for Ruef, whose trial was pending had been unsuccessful. Others supposed to know the attorney's whereabouts were examined, but no information was obtainable. Assistant District Attorney Heney presented to Judge Dunne an affidavit signed by himself in which he recited that Sheriff O'Neill is a close personal friend of Ruef's; that Ruef, "recognized as the political boss of San Francisco," had procured O'Neill's nomination and assured his election and that consequently O'Neill was under obligations to Ruef to furnish O'Neill to serve as the arresting officer. Similar assertions were made regarding the sheriff's deputies, who, it was alleged, had been named by Ruef. Heney stated that he had been informed that during the day one of Ruef's attorneys had applied to the district court of appeals for a writ of prohibition, declaring at the same time that if this writ were granted the missing attorney would be produced. For these and other reasons Heney asked that Sheriff O'Neill be replaced by Coroner Walsh as the officer delegated to produce Ruef in court and Judge Dunne so ordered. Mayor Schmitz arrived here yesterday.

A Big Bulge in Reading Stock.
New York, March 7.—Sensational buying of the shares of the Reading Co. on Wednesday gave Wall street its most exciting experience since the Northern Pacific contest six years ago. Reading had been strong in the face of a generally weak market all through the morning session of the stock exchange, when there developed an enormous buying movement in the shares which carried the price up more than eight points in half an hour. Up to the close of the market there was nothing to show the source of the purchasing orders, but a persistent rumor was in circulation that E. H. Harriman was buying the stock.

A Bomb Thrower Gets Busy.
Sébastopol, March 7.—As Gou, Nephef, commandant of the fortress here, who has just been transferred for duty at a less hazardous post, was driving through the city last evening to attend a farewell banquet at the palace given in his honor by Admiral Skrydloff, a bomb was thrown under his carriage, where it exploded. The general sustained injuries about the feet. His coachman was wounded, a woman who was passing at the time sustained serious injuries and the horses that were drawing the vehicle were crippled. The man who threw the bomb got away.

Lingafelter Begins to Serve the State.
Columbus, O., March 7.—J. F. Lingafelter, the Newark bank wrecker, sentenced to four years for forgery, was brought to the penitentiary Wednesday by Sheriff Redman. Lingafelter was assigned to a position in the construction office as a bookkeeper. He is 53 years old and is an expert bookkeeper.

Seven Injured in a Collision.
Neoga, Ill., March 7.—Seven persons were injured, four seriously, in a collision on the Toledo, St. Louis & Western railroad Wednesday when an east-bound passenger train ran into a freight train.

THE OHIO RECORD.

Will Not Contest Divorce Proceedings.
Cleveland, March 7.—Dan R. Hanns will offer no defense to the charges of gross neglect, abandonment and extreme cruelty laid against him in his wife's suit for divorce, filed Tuesday and brought to his attention by official service late in the day. Her petition for divorce will not be contested, the question of alimony will be left to agreement between counsel, and even on the subject of the custody of the daughter, there will be no contest. It is even probable that no answer will be filed and that the decree will be allowed to issue without an appearance being entered by the defendant.

Claims the Shooting was Accidental.
Wooster, O., March 7.—Harry White, the boy on trial for the murder of Thomas Dye at Orrville, was called to the witness stand Wednesday. White told of the shooting, claiming that it was an accident. He said that the shot was fired by Allen Miller, who fired after Dye had been ordered to halt, but turned and ran. Miller and William Eyerhart came upon the body, he said, and carried it from the railway track to the clump of bushes where it was found; that Miller and Eyerhart wanted White to help carry the body, but he refused because he felt that he had done nothing to Dye.

Hon. Frank T. Campbell Dies.
Lima, O., March 7.—In his 74th year, after a lingering illness, Hon. Frank T. Campbell, for years a leader of the republican party in Iowa and previously a partisan Ohio editor, died at the home of his son, Herbert, in this city Wednesday. As commissioner of railroads in Iowa he framed the freight tariffs of his state, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and was consulted over the rate bill passed by congress, having been a close friend of Senator La Follette and other western legislators.

A School Principal Resigns.
Lisbon, O., March 7.—W. C. Dyer, principal of the high school, tendered his resignation Tuesday night after a year's service. He censured the members of the school board, parents and others for nullifying his measures of discipline and he asks for an immediate release. The board of education says he uses unwarranted methods of punishment and he has been called to task about it. Public sentiment is divided between the teacher and the board.

Told Stories of Terrible Depravity.
Wooster, O., March 7.—Arrests of sons of some of the most prominent families in the city are expected as a result of revelations made at the hearing of three girls arrested for disorderly conduct. The girls are all under 15 years of age. They were arrested on charges preferred by their parents. Shocking stories of their conduct with young men were told, and the girls were all committed to the Girls' Industrial home at Delaware.

A Minister Disappears.
Bellefontaine, O., March 7.—This town is agog over the disappearance of Rev. Albie Moore. He left a young bride last week, and he has not been heard from since. The young minister told his wife that he was compelled to go to Cincinnati on business and that he would return on Wednesday. He did not return. It is reported that he was at Birmingham, Ala., last Sunday.

The Pardon Board's Report.
Columbus, O., March 7.—The annual report of the state pardon board filed with Gov. Harris shows that 149 cases were considered last year and pardons recommended in 22 and commutations in 37 cases. There were three first degree murder cases, with one recommendation for clemency, and 13 second degree murder cases with six recommendations.

An Incendiary is Sent to the Pen.
Bryan, O., March 7.—James Phillips, of Williams Center, who was indicted for having caused his house to be burned in order to gain the insurance money, was on Wednesday sentenced to 18 months in the penitentiary. He pleaded guilty and paid back all the insurance money with interest from 1897, the time of the fire.

Was Crushed to Death.
Geneva, O., March 7.—John Turner, a young married conductor on the C. & A. electric line, was killed late Tuesday night. He was on the back platform of the car when it was running into the barn for the night. The car jumped the track and Turner was caught between the platform and a tree and crushed to death.

Girl Tries to Escape from Jail.
Youngstown, O., March 7.—Flossie Keavin, who made sensational charges against George Swanson, a local attorney, and is being held as a witness, made an attempt to escape from the city jail Wednesday. The cell door was left unlocked and she managed to almost reach the street.

Found a Legacy Awaiting Him.
Mt. Gilead, O., March 7.—When William Cyphers returned to his native town here Tuesday, after an absence of 40 years, during which time he had not been heard from, he found a legacy of $5,000 awaiting him in the county treasury. The money was left by his father.

Woman Burned to Death.
Monroeville, O., March 7.—Mrs. Sarah Sutton, 85 years old, living alone near the B. & O. depot here, accidently set fire to her clothing Wednesday and was burned to a crisp.

Is Not a Candidate for Judge.
Columbus, O., March 7.—Attorney General Ellis has arrived from Washington and says he is not and has no been in any sense a candidate for the new federal judgeship.

FIGHT INCH BY INCH.

Attorneys for Standard Oil Co. are Working Like Beavers to Defeat the Government.

Chicago, March 7.—It became evident that the attorneys for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, now on trial in the federal court on indictments for alleged violation of the Elkins act, are determined to make a strong fight against the indictment proper. Wednesday's session of court was marked by a continued succession of arguments in which the Standard Oil attorneys contended that the government must prove certain facts in the indictments or abandon its case. The principal point upon which the attorneys centered was the allegation made in the indictments that the Elkins law was violated by shipment of oil made from Whiting, Ind., to St. Louis over the Chicago & Alton.

It was asserted by the defense that the law could not have been violated in this manner, for the reason that the Chicago & Alton road does not extend to St. Louis, but terminates on the opposite side of the river at East St. Louis, Ill. They assert that the tariff sheets published by the Alton road do not contain a joint through rate to St. Louis, saying that the rate between East St. Louis and St. Louis was the work of the Wiggins Ferry Co. They objected on this ground to the introduction as evidence of the Alton tariff sheets. Judge Landis ruled, however, that the ferry company tariff sheet might be admitted as evidence, as they had been filed with the interstate commerce commission by the Alton railroad and that the ferry company has never objected to the filing of its sheets with the commission by the railroad company, nor had it objected to the rates given.

Will Investigate Car Shortage.
Columbus, O., March 7.—The state railroad commission will begin next Wednesday an investigation of the car shortage question. Complaints against the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railway will form the basis of the investigation. The railroad says it has not enough cars or equipment. Farmers say they have been heavy losers, since all local grain elevators are filled and they cannot take advantage of the market to sell their products. In many cases grain taken to the station has been ruined while waiting, with out proper storage, for cars that did not come.

Qualities That Win Success.

WOULD TAX OLD MAIDS.

On the Ground That from Obstinacy They Clog the Wheels of Progress.

If there is a reckless soul who is not only inviting destruction, but is faintly clamoring for it, that soul inhabits the body of the editor of the North American Review.

Not long ago he called the American girl a bore. He still lives, but has not learned caution. His latest is a proposal to tax spinsters. He declares that they get most of the benefits of civilization without making any adequate return.

He admits that their real property is forced to yield a slight contribution. But he thinks that their personal property goes scot free, and he is sure that they do not enrich the customs revenue. So they become "through sheer obstinacy" clogs upon the wheels of progress.

That is all that will save the colonel from the wrath of the spinster of North America. It is so novel a position for them to be put in, this of doggedly declining the joys of matrimony. But the colonel insists.

"There was never yet a woman," he says, "who could not marry, as she should, if she would. It is only necessary to be a woman to win a man—some man."

"Spinsterhood is a purely voluntary condition, due to reprehensible contrariness, as is clearly proven by the non-existence of a single authentic claim to exemption because of lack of opportunity."

True, there is a sort of chuckle behind this last remark, but it may pass. "The real point at issue is whether the old maid of the present day renders a fair equivalent, or even tries to do so, in one way or another, for what she receives; and to that our answer is decisively negative. It is a sad state of affairs to which we have given much unavailing thought. As a last resort in search of a method of reformation, the ubiquitous remedy of taxation occurs to our mind as the only one holding forth hope of effectiveness."

Correct Wine Temperatures.

The fine art of serving wine and the numerous points to bear in mind in order that the full enjoyment of choice vintages may not be diminished, was the subject of a lecture recently delivered before the Walters' club of Vienna by Anton Sirowy, a professional expert in wines.

All wines, he said, possess different temperaments and have to be handled accordingly. The full bodied Austrian wines could not be treated like the alcoholic Hungarian, the aromatic Rhensish or the smooth, strong French products.

Of first importance was the temperature. Wine served too hot or too cold lost its bouquet and its flavor. Rhine and Mosel wines were best at a temperature of about 43 to 50 degrees. Burgundy is at its best at 57 degrees. All heavier wines should be at a temperature of 64 to 65 degrees.

The lecturer dwelt on the delicate handling due to wines that deposit a sediment. This characteristic of the Rhine and Mosel grape, he said, was the cause of the traditional use of tinted glasses with these wines, as any slight cloudiness that might occur despite the waiter's care was thus concealed.

Turtles Like Tomatoes and Fruit.
During the past season I have been somewhat disillusioned as to the feeding habits of the box turtle, says a writer in Country Life in America. With the advent of the tomato season it was noticed every morning that four or five of the largest and ripest tomatoes were partly or totally devoured. The peculiarly shaped bites were a puzzle. It could not be the work of the neighbor's chickens or ducks. No familiar insects could cause such injuries.

At last a large specimen of box turtle was caught in the act of devouring a tomato. The most surprising fact in this connection is the height to which these clumsy creatures can reach. Tomatoes are not safe from them unless they hang six to eight inches above the ground.

The appetite of the box turtle never fails. A small turtle will easily consume a tomato twice his own size. Any pears or apples which may be blown from the trees are also greedily devoured by them. Two neighbors had the same experience as myself, and I therefore suspect that this habit of box turtles may prove to be quite general.

Dissertation on the Kiss.
Everyone knows the wonderful tonic effect of kissing. A common smack makes one's eyes flash and one's heart beat faster. A long, lingering, satisfying kiss has an effect ten times as powerful. It increases the pulse, raises the temperature and makes the blood flow through the system in rich, red streams. Kissing is the one sure and infallible prophylactic. A man who has been recently kissed is proof, not only against germs, but also against all the big and little monsters of the sea, the land and the air. Kissing makes a man valiant, brave and bulletproof.—Exchange.

Paid Back.

"Oh, George," she whispered, when he slipped the engagement ring on her finger, "how sweet of you to remember my favorite stone. None of the others were so thoughtful."

George was staggered for but a moment. Then he came back with: "Not at all, dear; you overran me. This is the one I've always used." She was incoherent enough to cry about it.
