Well-Known Saying Traced. Everybody says "Christmas comes but once a year," but who knows the name of the author? The line was written 250 years ago by an English poet named Thomas Tusser, and published by him in 1557 in a volume entitled "A Hundred Good Points of Good Husbandry."

Alcohol From Grapes. The little grapes grown in Greece which are sold under the trade name of Zante "currants" in this country, are often used in the kind dom where they are produced to make alcohol for cooking and heating houses.

SOCIETY and WOMAN'S WORK

A most interesting meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the First Baptist church, was held Wednesday afternoon. The subject of this meeting was "Indians."

The meeting opened with the song, "America" by the society, and was followed by scripture reading by Mrs. E. O. Richardson and sentence prayers by the society. "The Crow Indians" was the subject of an interesting paper by Mrs. C. I. Cooper, while Miss Lydia Ringer talked interestingly of the work of Rev. Clouse. A reading, "One Little Indian," by Mrs. Russell, proved a rare treat, while a paper read by Mrs. Maugans on "The Heroine of Saddle Mountain" was particularly interesting and instructive, giving evidences as it did, of deep and thoughtful preparation by the writer. A paper on "Sunlight Mission" by Mrs. E. A. Aline, was followed by a song, "Kiowa" by the society. The meeting concluded with the reading of a paper on the "Packing the Missionary Box" by Mrs. Groves.

The members of the H. B. C. club were most pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Lee Howison, of North Saffner avenue, Wednesday evening. Although the full club membership was not present, yet the evening proved exceedingly enjoyable. Progressive pedro was the feature of the evening's entertainment, following which elegant refreshments were served. The club will meet next with Mrs. James Williams, of John street.

Miss Nettie Osterly and Mr. Elmer Bentley were quietly united in marriage at the Lutheran church, parsonage at 6:30 o'clock last night, by Rev. E. F. W. Steinhorn. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few witnessing friends and relatives.

The young people are well known country folks residing west of the city. They left last night for a wedding tour through New York state, after which they will take up their home on a farm northwest of town.

Mrs. W. E. Coler, of Olney avenue, pleasantly entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid Society.

OIL WELLS IN THE APENNINES

French Corporation Obtains Valuable Concessions From Italy.

Rome.—The existence of deposits of petroleum of considerable importance is not generally known even to the Italians. As early as 1893 a French company obtained a concession from the Italian government to explore a certain tract in the Apennines, near Piacenza, and to exploit any deposits of petroleum found there. The success of this company was sufficient to cause the formation of another French syndicate four years ago and last July these two were absorbed by a Genoese company with a capital of $3,000,000. The wells already bored are some 95 in number, of which 70 are practically exhausted. The remaining 25 produced about 13,200,000 pounds of crude oil in 1905, and with the eight wells now boring it is expected that the total production for 1906 will reach over 22,000,000 pounds. The concession of the new company comprises about 11,000 acres and, as it is said to be all petroleum bearing, a great development of this industry may be expected in the next few years.

The wells, none of which are "gushers," reach a maximum depth of 1,300 feet and the engineers in charge say that those which are exhausted may be made to yield again by deepening. This has not as yet been undertaken, perhaps because by the terms of the grant it is necessary to bore new wells in order to maintain control of the territory. It is curious to note that a central motor is used to operate by means of cables the pumps of the various wells. It is said that in the refining process as carried on here there is a net loss of three per cent.

$2,000,000 TO REMOVE A LAKE.

Steel Trust Will Drain It Because It Floods a Minnesota Mine.

Duluth, Minn.—The United States Steel corporation is preparing to spend nearly $2,000,000 in draining Trout lake, seven miles from Grand Rapids, Minn., and reducing what is now a beautiful body of water four miles long and a mile wide, to a mere mud hole. Trout lake is near the Canisteo mine, which has been opened by the steel trust. Into the deep shafts that have been sunk water from the lake pours constantly, making it necessary to work the pumps day and night. With the enlarging of the underground workings, the expense from the excessive moisture in the soil will increase. So the trust decided to get rid of the lake.

For some time agents of the corporation have been purchasing and obtaining options on the land abouting the lake shore. This work is about finished, and it is expected that before long a deep canal will be built that will carry the water into Swar river, several miles away.

The towns of Bovey and Colerain are situated at one end of Trout lake. They are beauty spots, especially in summer, because of the lake, which is a favorite resort for campers and fishermen. But these towns have nothing to say about the fate of the lake because they are practically controlled by the iron mine interests.

Richmond (Va.) Clergyman Does Not Believe in Funeral Services.

Richmond, Va.—The people of Richmond were much surprised when I became noised abroad that Rev. John W. Dougherty, pastor of the Apostolic church, had refused to conduct the funeral services over the remains of Joseph Heywood, who was killed by falling from a smokestack. The funeral took place from the Denny street Methodist Episcopal church Rev. Charles H. Gallagher, the pastor officiating. When asked to explain his course Mr. Dougherty said:

"My authority is the word of God in my ministrations as pastor I have served for 18 years, and my present convictions are the logical consequence of long periods of devotional thought. As to the burial of dead bodies, of course, I raise no objections. It is a necessary and sanitary practice. My protest is raised only where religious observances are called for. I hold this to be a violation of the principles and practices of Christ. Christ came to resurrect, not to bury the dead, and although he was buried he burst his sepulcher, defying death and the charnel customs of those who would bury the dead. I therefore hold that the dead should bury the dead. My mission is to save the living. It is nowhere in scripture recommended that the dead be buried by church observances, Christ distinctly by precept and example to the contrary of this practice."

Says State Aid is Illegal.

Washington, March 7.—An opinion has been rendered by Attorney General Bonaparte to the president bearing on the legality of the action of the South Carolina authorities in bringing to the United States a ship load of immigrants for work in various branches of industry in that state. The attorney general holds that it is unlawful for a state government to pay the passage of intending immigrants or to assist immigration otherwise than by advertisement.
