Weather for Ohio—Rain tonight, warmer in northeast portion. Wednesday partly cloudy and colder, rain or snow along Lake Erie.

If the present heavy rains continue the usual admonition regarding a spring clean-up will be unnecessary.

If the things told in the alleged affidavit of Evelyn Nesbit be true, it is more evident than ever that Thaw was, is or has been insane.

Indications now are that this week will end the Thaw trial. All right. We are ready.

Another evidence of the decline of yellow journalism, is that the Congressional has suspended.

It seems that only a few Senators die, and only one has resigned.

That $100,000 public building for his home town, was a nice booby prize for Gen. Grosvenor.

Those 17,000,000 added to the forest reserve will assure a supply of Big Sticks for some time to come.

A Jersey man told his wife a story so funny, that she laughed herself to death. He should have tried it on the mother-in-law.

When our new battleships are finished, we won't be kept awake at nights by the Japs whetting their swords.

Mr. Harriman says he is willing to sit by the President and advise him all day long. We would like to have an oil painting of Mr. Roosevelt taking some of Mr. Harriman's advice.

Indications are that Upton Sinclair's Helicon Hall was wrecked by some of the enemies of Sinclair. Is America becoming Russified instead of Russia becoming Americanized?

Mighty mean of the Ohio legislature to treat Cummins and Shaw that way. It expressed its presidential preference by voting 75 for Roosevelt, 7 for Cummins and 5 for Shaw.

A wave fifty feet high broke over the steamer LaSavole and almost filled her with water. It is said that a group of Wall street operators who were coming over on her were the only passengers who enjoyed it, the home-like feeling appealing greatly to them.

It is very evident that Abe Hummel has not reformed. Had he been sorry for his past, he would not have permitted himself to be placed on the witness stand in the Thaw trial and have his history rehearsed by so able a man as Delmas.

President Ripley of the Santa Fe railroad is disposed to blame President Roosevelt for the recent flurry in the New York Stock market. Well, the republicans took all of the credit for the prosperity and why should they not be willing to stand for the adversity, as well?

The scenes in railroad legislation promise to shift from Washington to Chicago. Michigan's governor wants to confer with Governor Harris and executives of other central states upon the question of recommending certain legislation to the legislatures. Governor Warner would probably like to have Harriman, Morgan, and some of the other magnates call upon him.

LET US HOPE.

The South Prospect street paving deal was brought up in council again last evening and there seems now to be some hope that the cry of the property owners between Walnut street and the south corporation line will be heard and they will be permitted by the city council to retain their homes, instead of being compelled to sell them because of the heaping up of special assessments.

Last night the resolution to proceed with the work of paving the street from Hill street to the corporation line, was presented and an attempt was made to pass it to a second reading, under a suspension of the rules. Of course it cannot be positively asserted, but the probability is that had it been passed to the second reading, it would have been given the third reading and been adopted, had sufficient votes been received. Upon the motion to give the resolution its second reading, councilman Seiter, who has fought the paving from Walnut street south, voted against the motion and was joined by councilman Carpenter. Mr. Wilson who has favored the paving from the very start, or even farther back than that, was on his feet to demand an explanation from Mr. Carpenter. He did not want any explanation from Mr. Seiter, for he knew full well how Seiter felt about the matter and knew before the roll call how he would vote.

While it was really none of Mr. Wilson's business why Mr. Carpenter voted "No", Mr. Carpenter was enough of a gentleman to state plainly his reasons. It is to be hoped that Mr. Carpenter did not state his real reason for his vote and that he had been brought to see the injustice which is being done to the resident property owners for the benefit of a few speculators, and has determined to wash his hands of the whole affair.

Councilman Seiter, while not called upon for an explanation by Mr. Wilson, took occasion to tell council a few things. The meeting last night might have been still more interesting had Mr. Carpenter made a demand upon Mr. Wilson for an explanation of his vote. It would have been quite interesting to hear Mr. Wilson explain just why he is so anxious to pave the street clear to the corporation line. Mr. Carpenter overlooked this opportunity and the Mirror now asks Mr. Wilson to come forth and give his reason. The public would like to know.

Earlier in the evening, Mr. Phillips registered a protest against providing for so many improvements which increase the bonded indebtedness of the city. He advised cutting down on the sidewalks provided for as a matter of municipal economy. Mr. Phillips is right in his stand, but it does not seem that one of the most effective ways of cutting down this bonded indebtedness would be to abandon the plan to pave a long stretch of street, when all of the resident property owners are opposed. Mr. Phillips is right, but he does not apply the remedy in exactly the right place. It now seems that Mr. Carpenter has come to realize the injustice which the paving of South Prospect street from Walnut to the corporation line will work, not only upon the resident property owners but upon all of the tax payers of the city. He has made the right stand and if he stands by his convictions as and Mr. Seiter can block the game. Let us hope.

Ten thousand dollars damages are asked of the Norris and Christian Stone and Lime company in a petition filed Tuesday morning in the common pleas court by George E. Bailey, through his attorney George Geary.

Bailey claims that he was permanently injured by the falling of a cable from a derrick at the quarries of the company on December 1, 1905, through the negligence of the defendant corporation. He states that he is unable to work and asks the court for damages in full and all proper relief.

The case of D. G. Messmore, of Columbus, against John Felmuth was tried today in the common pleas court with Judge Babst on the bench. Messmore asks three hundred dollars damages for a fraudulent horse sale. He purchased a horse from Felmuth at a local sale and claims that the animal was almost worthless.

The plaintiff was represented by Copeland and Bartram and the defendant by Seefeld, Durfee and Seefeld.

After the hearing of the case Judge Babst on motion of the defendant ordered the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant.

After about six hours of deliberation, the jury in the case of Al Himmlinger against Nick Cince in the common pleas court, last night returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $10.50 the amount asked for. The costs in the case will amount to several times the amount at issue.

A hearing on the engineer's report on the Kaiser ditch was held Monday afternoon by the county commissioners and the report was accepted. The ditch will be sold March 30, at ten o'clock at the office of the county surveyor.

FAIRBANKS IS BUSY

He is Endeavoring to Corral a Few Votes for His Presidential Boom.

Chicago, March 19.—Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks last night finished a busy day in celebration of St. Patrick's anniversary by adding a fourth speech to those of the day-time, as chief guest at a banquet given by the Irish Fellowship club of Chicago at the Auditorium.

Following the "launching of an Illinois boom" for Fairbanks' candidacy for the presidency last night by several Illinois Republican leaders the vice president made speeches at St. Ignace college, at the University of Chicago and at the Chicago Press club. In addition, he held several informal receptions, and was a busy man for nearly eighteen hours.

Last night's banquet was the most pretentious number of the long program carried out by the Irish Fellowship club with Vice President Fairbanks holding the chief place in each. The vice president was greeted in the banquet hall by fully 500 members of the club and half as many women. The hall was profusely decorated with the Stars and Stripes and with the green flag bearing the golden harp. The banquet was preceded by a reception held in the parlors of the hotel where the vice president was warmly greeted by those who attended the banquet and by several hundred others.

James O'Shaughnessy, president of the Irish Fellowship club, introduced as the first speaker after the banquet Mayor Duane of Chicago. Vice President Fairbanks then spoke on "The Irish in America."

CASTRO GIVEN AN OVATION IN CARACAS

Caracas, Venezuela, March 16.—by way of Willemstad, Island of Curacao, March 19.—President Castro, finding the air of Macuto growing hot, returned to Caracas yesterday, giving evidence of wonderful improvement in his health. A bed had been placed in a special railroad car, but the president refused to occupy it and sat up during the two hours' trip, gazing at the marvelously beautiful mountain scenery.

When the train arrived here thousands of people lined the streets and a regiment of troops guarded the railroad station. President Castro walked unassisted from the train to his carriage, strolling on the platform for a few moments before entering the vehicle with his sister. As a presidential salute was fired by a battery of artillery, the carriage rolled slowly over the rough cobble stones to the music of bands and between lines of soldiers. Mrs. Castro, Drs. Revenga and Baldo and others followed.

The resolution of the president to come to Caracas was taken suddenly yesterday. He decided to live at the Villa Ignacio, which is situated in a healthful part of the city.

Washington, March 19.—A preliminary examination into the doings on the Hill system of railroads, has convinced the Interstate Commerce Commission that light on them will be a benefactor to business interests. It was stated officially, today, that a thorough examination into the Hill lines will be made before next winter. Attorneys are gathering data for the investigation.

WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS AT SEVENTY.

The first day of March marks the seventieth birthday of William Dean Howells, sometimes called "Dean" of American letters. Mr. Howells is still hard at work. He lives in New York, his home overlooking Central park. He was born at Martin's Ferry, O., and educated in his father's printing office, where he learned to set type before he was ten years old. In his early manhood Mr. Howells went to Boston, at that time the literary center of the United States. He has published nearly fifty books, most of them novels. He is the leading exponent of realism in fiction, but all his works are clean and wholesome.
