WEATHER—For Ohio: Fair to night and Saturday; warmer in central and southern portions Saturday.

Secretary Root recently lectured at Yale, but he was careful not to say anything about constructive interpretation of the constitution.

Senator Allison says: "The tariff is going to be a live issue soon." Same old story; not yet, but soon.

So far this season honors are about even between the automobile owners and innocent bystanders, so far as getting killed is concerned.

Senator Pettus' "damnum absque injuria" sounds what a lot of people have felt like saying when they left the white house.

Senator Pettus says the Brownsville inquiry is making him tired. And he has the satisfaction of knowing that younger men than he are making the same complaint.

And Standard Oil still says "What are you going to do about it?" Tweed said that once and found out what we did. The "pen."

Quite a number of newspapers in this country are asking when we are to have tariff revision. We suspect it will be about the time airships are sold for a dollar down and a dollar a week.

Jack London, Charles D. Roberts and Rev. William J. Long got theirs from the president all right. But we are at a loss to know whether they are undesirable citizens or just common liars.

SPLITTING HAIRS OVER BROKEN GLASS.

Japanese Minister Aoki called upon Secretary Root yesterday and laid before him a complaint from his nation, that boys had broken some glass in a greenhouse belonging to a Japanese in Berkeley, California. He left Secretary Root's department in a very surly mood, informing all newspaper men that he did not care to make any statement or discuss any phase of his business with the secretary.

This complaint may be taken as a fair sample of the basis for so much discussion, especially in Japan, of "American atrocities practiced upon the Japanese." For some weeks, or even months, the "yellow" journals of Japan, for political purposes, have been demanding that the United States bend the knee to Japan and make recompense for all wrongs suffered by Japanese people in America. We are given to understand that the Japanese government has no part in this clamor and that it does not even sanction such action, but this last move upon the part of Japan in carrying before the state department so trivial a matter as the breaking of a few glasses in a greenhouse owned by a Japanese by some boys, indicates that Japan has gotten into very small business and that the Japanese government is willing to lend itself to a very small business, in an effort to impress upon the American people the importance of the Japanese people in America.

If Japan proposes to pursue such a policy the differences may as well be settled once and for all. There is no use trying to temporize with a nation which is willing to make a broken window pane the subject for international negotiations.

MAY PERFORM DELICATE OPERATION

To Restore Power of Speech to Little Boy.

If Successful Chauncey Cowell Would be Admitted to State Institution.

Heroic measures are to be taken in an effort to have seven-year-old Chauncey Cowell admitted to the state institutions for the feeble minded. The boy, who is unable to speak, has been examined by Dr. H. W. Sager, and this physician is of the opinion that by cutting a cord beneath the lad's tongue he will be given the power of speech.

Should an operation of this kind make it possible for the little fellow to talk, the only objection to his being placed in the institution for the feeble-minded would be removed and the authorities would have no further difficulty in having him taken in charge by the officials of that institution.

Prosecuting Attorney Clark, who is one of the local authorities who have been trying to have the boy taken by some state institution, states that he will have the little fellow examined by several other reputable physicians. If they agree with Dr. Sager in the belief that an operation will give the boy the power of speech the operation will be performed. The boy, in his present condition, cannot be received at any state institution. The officials of the deaf and dumb asylum refused to take him because he is feeble-minded and the officials of the institution for the feeble-minded would not admit him because he is dumb.

MARION SPEAKER

On Program to be Rendered at Cedar Point.

Yesterday notices were sent out for the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Ohio Grain Dealers' association, which will be held at Cedar Point, June 26 and 27. Headquarters will be at the "Breakers" and from indications the attendance will be the largest in the history of the organization.

The program for the meeting provides for a morning session June 26, which will be devoted to reports, annual addresses and appointment of committees.

Charles B. Jenkins of Marion will deliver an address on "From Whence Did We Come and Whither Are We Going?" Mr. Jenkins also will touch on the special agricultural trains which have been run under the auspices of the association the last year, Homer C. Price, dean of the college of agriculture of the State university will speak on "The Farmer and the Grain Dealer."

Notice.

In order to protect the interests of certain pupils and patrons of the City Schools, to guard against the unnecessary expenditure of money and to safeguard at the same time the best interests of the schools, it is thought advisable to publish the following notice:

It will be necessary for any pupil in the Marion City schools, either in the grades or the High school, who has failed to be promoted and who desires to make up work during the vacation with a view to being promoted to the next grade, to be approved by the teacher who failed him or by the Superintendent. Otherwise he will not likely be given an examination and he surely can not be promoted without an examination by the teacher or Superintendent or by special arrangement with the Superintendent. H. L. PROGRAM RENEERED AT EPWORTH CHURCH

By Members of the Queen Esther Circle.

Interesting Talks are Given by Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Smith on the Subject, "Missions"

Preceding the social given by the Powell Sunday school class and the Queen Esther circle of Epworth M. E. church in the basement of the church, Thursday evening, the Queen Esther circle rendered an interesting program.

Devotional exercises were led by Dr. A. E. Smith, president of Ohio Northern University of Ada. A piano duet was played by little Misses Irene Belle Thurston and Esther McNeil. Miss Edna Hawley gave a reading, and a recitation was given by little Miss Edna Hazen. A paper was read by Miss Gladys Cleveland and the program was closed with talks by Dr. and Mrs. Smith.

Following the program, a collection was taken for the support of a missionary which the class has in India. Enough money was obtained to provide for the missionary for a year.

CAUGHT IN MACHINERY

William Fetter Hurlled to His Death.

CLOTHING WAS CAUGHT

In Shafting Revolving 800 Times a Minute.

Bones of the Body were Crushed and the Flesh Badly Torn and Burned—Death was Instantaneous.

Caught in the shafting in the boiler shop at the Huber works, William P. Fetter was hurled to death in the fast moving machinery about 6:30 o'clock Friday morning and his body was terribly torn and mangled.

Fetter, acting under the instructions of the foreman, went up on a ladder a few minutes before 6:30 o'clock to place the belt on the pulley. The belt had been taken off to make some repairs. After he had completed the task of putting on the belt the machinery was started, as is usual, and Fetter started to oil the belt.

It is supposed that he made a misstep on the ladder and that he threw his left arm over the shafting which was revolving about eight hundred times to the minute. His "jumper" was caught and his body whirled around at a terrific rate, striking the ladder several times and breaking it.

The eye witnesses, preparing for their work, were horrified and a shout went up to the engineer to stop the machinery. When the shafting stopped the body of the unfortunate workman fell to the floor, a torn, bleeding mass. Death had been instantaneous.

The remains were taken to the private morgue of Charles Hess and prepared for burial. The left arm had been wrenched from its socket and torn loose from the body. The lower part of the man's left leg was ripped off and his abdomen was torn and mashed. Nearly every bone in his body was broken and the flesh was terribly bruised.

William Fetter was 28 years of age. He had lived the greater part of his life in this city and was well known and well liked. His terrible and untimely death has cast a heavy pall of sorrow to fall over his entire acquaintanceship and among his fellow employees at the shops.

A wife, a little daughter, Miss Helen Louise Fetter, a mother, Mrs. John Fetter, three brothers, Frank, John and Albert Fetter and three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Heffner, Mrs. Myrtle Dobbins, of Columbus and Miss Hazel Fetter, are left to mourn his death.

The funeral will probably be held Sunday from his late residence, No. 228 Ballantine avenue.

Coroner E. L. Brady was called to the shops immediately after the accident occurred and examined a number of eye witnesses. The result of his findings will not be known for several days.

William P. Fetter, the man who was killed at the Huber shops, this morning carried an accident and health insurance policy with Mills, Brown and company.

ERIE OFFICIALS INSPECT THE PLANT Of Marion Manufacturing Company Thursday.

No Statement Given Out as to Their Findings—Nothing New in the Situation.

General Mechanical Superintendent, T. Runney, General Storekeeper, H. S. Burr and Master mechanic James of Gallon, all Erie officials, were in the city Thursday afternoon and evening, the guests of the Commercial club. Thursday afternoon, the officials gave the plant of the Marion Manufacturing company a thorough inspection, with a view to determining their adaptability to the needs of the company as temporary quarters for the Gallon shops.

There is practically nothing new in the situation. The officials gave out no statement which could be considered as having any direct bearing upon the question.
