

SITUATION IN PORTUGUESE EMPIRE IS VERY CRITICAL

Although King Carlos is Not to Blame for the Difficulties Which Have Arisen Between the Government and the Peasants, Europe Would Not be Surprised at His Being Compelled to Abdicate and Leave the Country.

For Two Generations a Fatality has Pursued the Ruling House of Portugal and it May Culminate in a Republic Being Declared at Lisbon—For a Long Time Discord has Prevailed Among the Peasantry and the Recent Demonstrations were the Bursting Out of Smoldering Fires.

London, July 6.—The news from Lisbon this week has been of the gravest character. The situation has become so acute, indeed, that London would not be surprised to learn at any moment that King Carlos has been forced to leave Portugal and that a republic had been proclaimed at Lisbon. Still, the fat polky king Carlos has weathered many a storm during the past few years and he may be able to pull through the present crisis.

For a long time past there has been growing discontent among the peasantry, due to the excessive and ever increasing taxation which they are subjected to.

which they are at present literally overwhelmed. As for the urban population, it is republican to the very core. The chambers of commerce of manufacture, the associations of wine growers and wine dealers, the industrial guilds, the banking classes, the legal and medical professions, and the faculties and students of the various universities and colleges, may even the very officers and soldiers of the army particularly the scientific branches of the latter, are nearly all open professed foes of the monarchy, and acknowledged prosperity, as well as her prestige among the nations of the universe, unless she adopts a form of government that exercises a less blighting influence upon the life of the people than the deplorable rule of the house of Braganza.

a good deal of political sagacity, more than any other, perhaps, of the Orleans family. Some of the Orleanists say that if she had been born a man she would be King of France. But she had a hard enough time of it to keep her own throne. She is fond of every kind of sport, is strong minded and smokes strong cigars. Yet she is domestic, as she shows by occasionally making her own dresses, and she learned medicine in order to properly care for one of her own children, who was suffering from an incurable illness. Her strong common sense has saved Portugal from many a financial and political crisis, and she may be said to be the real master of Portugal today.

that her health is better now than it has been for a long time past has been received with genuine pleasure among all classes. Is Celebrated by Senator Pettus, the Oldest Member of the Senate.

Seima, Ala. July 6.—Senator Edmund W. Pettus, the oldest member of the United States senate was 86 years old today. Senator Pettus still feels the loss of his venerable friend colleague and fellow-townsmen, Senator John T. Morgan, who recently passed away. The two had been lifelong associates and Senator Pettus was probably the only intimate friend that Senator Morgan had in the senate. It is interesting to note that Senator Pettus is not only the oldest member of the Senate but also the oldest man in public life in the United States today. He was born two months after the death of Napoleon and while James Monroe was president of the United States. This was before the admission of Missouri to the union and only two years after his own state of Alabama was created. He has watched the quadrennial battles of presidential elections sixteen times since he reached his majority, and he has seen the union double in size from 23 states to 46.

EX-Governor of Wyoming Endorses Pe-ru-na.

As a Catarrh Remedy. As An Excellent Tonic.

"I have such confidence in prominent personal friends who have used and endorsed Peruna that I feel justified in assuming that it is a valuable remedy for catarrh and an excellent general tonic."—John W. Hoyt. Victoria Flats, Washington, D. C.

Responsible People. PEOPLE occupying positions of high responsibility and trust are always very busy people. They have little or no time to devote to side issues. It is therefore very rare that such people are willing to write testimonials for anything. Then again there is a natural diffidence in giving public endorsement to any commercial enterprise on the part of people who are much before the public. Rare Endorsements. It is thus that it is very rare that public officials, like governors, congressmen, consuls, senators, etc., give public endorsement to a proprietary medicine. It is therefore a great triumph that Peruna has the unqualified endorsement of so many men in official position. Scores of public officials of national reputation have enthusiastically declared in favor of Peruna in public print over and over again. A Startling Fact. There is no way to account for such a startling fact as this except that Peruna has extraordinary unusual merit. After all, people high and low, are constituted very much alike.

tomorrow the rush of visitors will begin in earnest. The indications are that the attendance will be unusually large. Not only will there be Templars from all over the United States, but they will come from England, Mexico, Hawaii and other distant lands. The big parade will be held Wednesday and will be reviewed by Governor Hughes and other notables.

KING'S GUARDS

Will be Active in Protecting England's King While on Coming Visit.

London, July 6.—Extraordinary precautions are being taken for the protection of King Edward on the occasion of his visit next week to Wales and Ireland. No that the slightest fear is felt of any attempt on the king's life but during the past year or so the confidence of Englishmen in the safety of railway travel has been severely shaken. Hence the greatest precautions will be taken to protect the royal train. Previous to the departure of his Majesty special a train will be run over every foot of the route and every particle of the apparatus of the train and the track will be subjected to the most careful inspection.

GALA DAY IN BERLIN

Celebration for Which Much Preparation has Been in Progress.

Berlin, July 6.—At Eisenach there was opened today a notable festival in celebration of the seven hundredth anniversary of the Sangerkrieg on the historical Wartburg and of the birth of St. Elizabeth of Eisenbach, a celebration for which the Central States of Germany have been preparing for a year past. The festival is to last three days, during which time the life of the Middle Ages is to be followed out in the closest detail. The inhabitants of the castle will not only be clothed in the thirteenth costumes but thousands of the inhabitants of Eisenbach have agreed to follow the example. The days are to be devoted to contests of song, while the evenings will be given over to popular games and the roasting of oxen. One of the most interesting events will be the possession on next Monday, when the townspeople in costume will march up to the castle, where they will be received by the grand Duke of Saxe-Weimer and his court.
