SUPPORT GIVEN BOWERS

Was Most Brilliant in the Opening Game.

In Second Marion Booted the Ball all Over the Lot and Played a Very Listless Game.

New Castle, Sept. 13.—(Special)—The Nocks won both games of a double header from the Lime Burners yesterday afternoon, taking the first game by a score of 4 to 1 and the second by a score of 5 to 1.

In the first game Dr. Blough and Rube Bowers—who played with Toledo long enough to put one big crimp in the Senators, were the opposing twirlers. The "rube" had somewhat the better of the argument as with men on bases he was the complete master of the situation and his team mates fielded brilliantly behind him. Blough was fouled up at critical times and his support was ragged on numerous occasions.

New Castle started out early scoring in the second and again in the fourth. Then the Nocks added two more, one in the sixth and another in the seventh. The Lime Burners got their only tally in the eighth when Daubert crossed the rubber.

Akron Bunches Hits Off Yarnell and Defeat the Tigers Easily 6 to 3.

This will in all probability be the last season for "Jack" Sheridan of the American league as an umpire. It will be remembered that Sheridan announced his retirement last season near the close of the campaign, and President Ban Johnson had to do some coaxing to get him to report this spring. At the time of his announcement, Sheridan said that he wanted a rest after the many years of service. Now the greatest umpire in the Amer-

Sporting Gossip.

The remarkable number of extra inning games of unusual length reported in the middle west recently has raised, in the minds of a portion of the baseball public, suspicion as to the genuineness of some of these performances. In a few isolated cases these suspicions may be well grounded. There is a certain amount of prominence given games of unusual length, and considerable discussion created. Consequently there is some temptation for those connected with teams of small caliber to attract attention to themselves by this method. But it is not possible to do this falsely without the connivance of so many persons the truth is bound to leak out eventually. This is just what happened concerning that stunning game between Fargo and Grand Forks back in 1881. But "faking" cannot be done before a crowd of any proportions or with honest scorekeepers present without being exposed immediately. Consequently there is little ground for suspecting the authenticity of extended contests in any organized league, although fly by night teams, playing independently, whose games are reported only by members of the teams or their adherents, might be "faked" without immediate discovery. The real facts would be known eventually, however. There is small danger now of an epidemic of "faking." The frequency of long games recently has reduced interest in them, because they are no longer unusual. The real explanation of these long contests, especially in the minor leagues, seems to be a lack of batting. Experienced men and the scouts employed by major league club owners to look out for new talent find there is plenty of promising new pitching material in the smaller leagues, but a scarcity of players who can bat. One reason given is that the prominence and the salary of a successful pitcher tempt every youngster with pitching ability to develop it with a view to becoming a great man on the diamond. The art of batting is neglected in consequence, because every youngster on the lot knows no pitcher is expected to be a batter. This means that in a few years there will be so many good pitchers and so few batters that extra inning games will be of almost daily occurrence and will cease to excite interest. Then there will arise a demand for nine inning games with some batting in them, and to produce that the rulers of the game will have to devise means to handicap a lot of pitchers out of business and increase the batting.

The local newspaper men's baseball team placed itself in the list of candidates for the amateur championship of the city by defeating the attorneys in a game at Webb park Thursday afternoon. It was a typical walkaway for the pencil pushers, and when the ninth inning came the disciples of Blackstone were far back in the gloaming.

Up until the game of Thursday, the lawyers thought that they had a pretty fair team. Today they are going around trying to figure out how it all happened and attempting to console themselves in the belief that if Matthewson or Rube Waddel had been twirling for them they might have had a chance to win.

The score of twelve and three fails to give an idea of all the remarkable features of the great battle. Despite the fact that the game was worth travelling miles to see, there was scarcely a handful of spectators in attendance. It is a shame that there were not thousands on hand to see Harry N. Quigley, first baseman, pitcher and center fielder for the attorneys, make his picturesque slide into second bag. The crowd would have howled with unbridled joy to see Dr. A. C. Holland, the quill sushers' first baseman, carrying his 215 pounds about the field with an ease and grace that would do credit to a Daubert or a Donahue.

Then there would have been expressions of glee at the sight of the Grecian outlines of Marshall E. DeWolfe's shape, hidden only by a diaphanous gymnasium shirt and a loose-fitting pair of trousers.

Mr. Rhu Chase held out as umpire through the entire game and to say that he had his troubles would be putting it mildly. The attorneys used their eloquence on the hands of the indicator and used it in a way that was telling. The other young men who volunteered to umpire bases retired before the third inning.

Taken all in all it was a great game. The Courthouse Rats, strengthened by a couple of crack amateur ball tossers from Pipe-act, have challenged the newspaper men and the deft has been accepted.

The game will take place next Tuesday. Following are the line-ups and score of Thursday's game:

Yes, I did pitch a no hit game, but the umpire robbed me of it. Remember the first American league game I ever pitched? It was at St. Louis in 1902, and the only thing that St. Louis got that looked like a hit was a fly ball to right field that Harvey caught, but which Carruthers decided had been scooped. I'll never forgive Carruthers for that. Topsy Hartsel beat me out of another here three years ago, making a triple with two men out in the ninth. Dick Harley kept me from having another at Detroit a few years ago, so the best I have got to my credit is a no-hit game."

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT S.S.S. RHEUMATISM

The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought about by indigestion, chronic constipation, and the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural eliminative organs have failed to carry out. This refuse or waste matter ferments and sours, generating uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. One may also be born with a predisposition or tendency to Rheumatism, because like all blood diseases it can be transmitted from parent to child. The aches and pains of the disease are only symptoms which you may scatter or relieve with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or deaden with opiates. As soon, however, as such treatment is left off or there is any exposure to cold or dampness, or after an attack of indigestion or constipation, the wandering pains, sore muscles and joints, and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms while the real cause of the disease remains in the blood. Rheumatism can never be cured while the blood remains saturated with irritating, pain-producing uric acid poison. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by driving the cause out of the blood. It thoroughly cleanses the blood and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and expelling all foreign matter from the system. S. S. S. stimulates and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, constantly depositing acid and corrosive matter in the muscles, joints, nerves and bones, the body is soothed and nourished by rich, health-sustaining blood, which completely and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. is composed of roots, herbs and barks which possess both purifying and tonic properties—just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice free. ### ABOUT THE "RUBE."

"Rube" Bowers, who dropped into Columbus to win a game for Toledo Sunday, was back at work for New Castle yesterday and won from Marion. "Rube" is ticketed to be with Toledo next year and there'll be a great deal of winter talk about how he is going to burn up the league. Of course, all the hot air will be issued from Toledo.—Ohio State Journal.

MARION TALENT.

Agosta was a baseball tournament which took place at Rushsylvania, Wednesday and Thursday. Three teams were entered. Agosta was strengthened by Porter, Beam, Uhl and Stafford of Hogan's Runts. George Hogan, of this city, played with Rushsylvania.

NEWARK WAS EASY.

Lorain, O., Sept. 12.—A home run by Winters in the fifth was all that saved Newark of the O. and P. league a shut out here this afternoon at the hands of the locals. Lorain won 5 to 1.

Urain played great ball and Nevenpara, the local twirler, had the leaguers guessing at all times, allowing but four hits and fanning ten men. The locals took kindly to the offerings of the Newark pitchers and pounded them for twelve hits. The batting of White, who secured two doubles and a single was one of the features of the game. Attendance 1,500. Score:

Magnifying Choir Leader's Voice.

In the old village of Braybrook in Northamptonshire, England, is a monster trumpet, five six inches in length, and having a bell-shaped end two feet one inch in diameter. The trumpet is made up of ten rings, which in turn are made up of smaller parts. The use of this trumpet—only four of the kind are known to exist at the present day—was to magnify the voice of the leader in the choir and summon the people to the church service. At the present time neither the choir nor the service is in need of this extraordinary "musical instrument," but the vicar of the church takes care of the ancient relic and is fond of showing it to all visitors.

No Two Mouths Alike.

Dr. Paul Prager, an Austrian army surgeon, who has made a special study of methods of identification, recommends that prisoners should be identified by the shape of their palates. Dr. Prager declares that the method would be much more reliable than any at present used, for among the thousands of molds he has taken of the interior of the human mouth he has failed to find two which even slightly resembled each other. Although the teeth alter greatly with time, the markings of the palate remain unchanged throughout life.

Scriptures Reversed.

The hobo who had been sleeping under a tree off the roadside awoke and frantically began scratching himself. "The good book is full of truths," he said, "but things have changed slightly. Nowadays it is the ant that goes to the sluggard." After which it was a case of not yet a little slumber, not yet a little sleep.

Grown Timid.

"So you contend that watered stocks and mergers constitute a public benefit?" said one commuter. "I don't exactly," answered the other. "But I don't think it's best to interfere with the great financiers, as the first thing some of them think of when they are annoyed is putting up the price to the consumer."
