Prosperity hovered in the wake of he American Baseball Association during the season just closed, as was attested by the report of President Joseph D. O'Brien at a special meeting of the club owners of the association at Chicago.

DIET OF VEGETABLES FOR FOOTBALL STARS

COACH STAGE OF THE UNIVER-SITY OF CHICAGO HAS A NEW IDEA.

Rare roast beef of a blood red tinge. principal article of the athletes' diet during the football season, is to give way at the University of Chicago to a diet of vegetables. The Marcons— many of them at least, including A. Alonzo Stagg, their sun browned leader-have fallen for the vegetarian

All the benefits which vegetarians claim are hoped for by the Maroons in their test of the potato and nut diet. Some of them have tried vegetarianism already and have become devoted to the idea. Among these is Capt. Leo De Tray, who has cured himself of an attack of acute indigestion.

Mr. Stagg, unbeknown to his friends, has been a near-vegetarian for the last two years. He said he has eaten little or no meat in this time and has cured himself of nearly all his ailments. He believes he is in better shape now to coach his team than at any time for many years.

Visions of great success on the gridron are in the mind's eye of the football hopefuls, veterans, and otherwise, By developing better dispositions they hope to develop better team work. They believe they never will get a case of the rattles. They figure that they can cut off a large fraction of a second in a dash for a touchdown.

Beef-fed athletes, with all their legbreaking and ear twisting savagery, have had their day, and with the changing order in football now come the milkfed athletes, gentle and gentelmanly, but scientific and ever on the alert to take the slightest advantage, believes Capt. De Tray. Raw beef was a large factor in rough play he holds.

Mr. Stagg will not conduct a vegetarian training table this fall because the conference rules prevent such an institution. He has not ordered his candidates to develop their brawn on fruit, vegetables, and nuts, but he has made the suggestion to many of his men to try the new athletic diet.

New Record Golf Drive. What is believed to be a record irive was made on the Beckenham (England) Golf club course by W. H. Horne, the local professional, Horne was playing against Mr. Potter, a member of the club, and the shot was made over level ground. Potter marked the spot where the ball stopped, and the drive was subsequently measured and found to be 381 yards in length, or within 59 yards of a quarter of a mile. A bunker situated 250 yards from the tee was cleared by the shot on the fly. There was a slight following wind.

The longest authenticated drive prior to this accepted here was made by Edward Blackwell in 1892, when, with a guttapercha ball, he drove 366 yards form the seventeenth tee at St. Andrews.

The reported drive of 374 yards in America by Walter J. Travis is not regarded as authenticated by British

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN VETERAN'S ATTEMPT

EDWARD PAYSON WESTON WILL DUPLICATE FEAT OF FORTY YEARS AGO.

Edward Payson Weston, the oldtime pedestrian, has completed his arrangements for his record-breaking walk from Portland, Me., to Chicago, III. The start will be made on Oct. 29, just 40 years to an hour from his start over the same route in 1867. The time table which Mr. Weston has laid out brings him into Chicago in 26 walking days, and he is very confident that he will be able to clip many hours from his record made over a generation ago. He was then in his twenty-ninth year, and confesses that he knew very little about caring for the feet under such a strain. Since that time he has footed it nearly 70,000 miles in recorded con tests, and feels sure that he has mast ered the problem of proper foot treat-

A careful life has kept him in the very best physical condition, and he proposes to make good his contention that advancing years should not bring about any such weakening of the bodi-y powers as is generally observed. The route will take him through ten states, and he will visit the cities of Boston, Providence, Troy, Utica, Rochester, Syracuse, Buffalo, Toledo and Cleveland. Since he announced his intention of making this long tramp he has received hundreds of letters from middle-aged people who racall as children seeing him in his previous effort. He will be followed over the route by an automobile con-

VAN HALTREN STILL IS PLAYING FINE BALL IN THE CALL FORNIA LEAGUE.

Although only 42 years old, George Van Haltren has spent 24 of these at baseball. He is now captain and center fielder of the 'Oakland, Cal., team, and he expects to wind up his career in the national game with that club He is a lather by trade, and works at it during the winter, to which he ascribes his long usefulness in the game. He has made enough money to take care of himself and family when the time comes for him to retire from all active employment. From the time he joined the Chicago, National League club in 1887 until he broke his leg in 1902, he says the longest time he was ever out of the game during a season was three weeks when a member of the Pittsburg team. He played three years with the Giants without missing a game.

No player is better known in the annals of baseball than Van Haltren. He started as a catcher with a San Francisco club in 1883, and three years later joined a professional club as a pitcher. Being a left-hander in throwing and batting, he thought this handlcapped his work as a catcher. and he therefore turned his attention to pitching. At that time pitchers were allowed to work in the old 16foot box and would take a hop, step and jump as they delivered the ball to the plate. He developed great speed and a fast breaking curve that was a wonder of the California league, and before the season closed he had received offers from the officials of the Boston, Pittsburg and Detroit clubs.

There is no other past of our physical system upon which so much depends as upon the blood. The muscles, nerves, bones, sizews, akin, and other portions of the body are sustained, developed and enabled to perform their different duties, because they are supplied with nonrishment and healthful properties through the circulation. In various ways the blood becomes contaminated and polluted. A sluggish, inactive condition of the system, and torpid state of the avenues of bodily waste, will leave the sause and waste matter of the body to sour and form uric and other acids, which are absorbed into the blood and Rheumatism, or some itching, disficulties are absorbed into the blood and Rheumatism, or some itching, disficulties, pimples, etc., all show that some humor has taken root in the circulation and rendered it sour and unfit for nourishing the body. There is scarcely any disease which cannot be traced to the blood. Often the disease-tainted blood of parents is handed down to children and their lives are a continual battle against disease in some form, usually of a scrolulous nature.
