LESS NEED TO WORK HARD.

New Methods Have Lightened Household Cares for Women.

Why should we worry over our household work, as the grandmothers of the long ago had to do? We no longer sweep clouds of dust up into the air to lodge upon the walls and settle on our draperies; we know better. We use a method which carries the dust to a closed receptacle or prevents it from rising.

We dust with damp cloths. We no longer scrub floors upon bended knees, we use boiling, soapy water, and let the hot water do the work, wringing the cloth with the mop wringer attached to the pump. We wash clothes with a machine; knead bread with a mangle; iron flat clothes with a mangle and starched ones with special irons over adapted boards.

We do many things better and easier, from window washing to cooking; and in it all and through it all, we do things in a more cleanly manner, and to the degree that we do, life becomes more and more livable and housekeeping a greater joy.

MOOSE ATTACKS A HORSE.

And the Horse Retorts in Kind—An Incident of the Maine Woods.

Three young men from Milltown, near Calais, went out into the country districts recently to pass the day and left their old horse standing under the shade of the whispering pines while they commenced with nature some little distance away, according to the Kennebec Journal. They were started by the neighing and snorting of their steed and upon reaching the spot where the animal was tied they witnessed an exciting encounter between a bull moose and the horse. The monarch of the forest just happened along and found the horse encroaching upon his domain and very naturally resented the intrusion. He made a run for the unfortunate steed and a bow-on collision was almost a sure thing, when the old horse's fighting blood got up and instead of waiting to be rammed like a sailing boat in a fog, he stood up on his hind legs and caught the bull moose a great fair upon the nose with both forefeet. Both animals sat down suddenly to think the matter over, the moose from the surprise of the shock, and the horse because he lost his balance, and it would doubtless have gone hard with the latter, which was outnumbered with the harness and rigging, had not the young men set upon the forest king with yells just as he was about to resume the attack upon his hapless adversary. Any one who remembers the holes which a Mill town man is famous for making when out for a good time will pardon the moose for his sudden and undignified retreat.

A Future Magnate.

"Tommy, would you rather be a big frog in a small puddle or a little frog in a big puddle?"

"Neither. I'd rather be like Rockefeller. Then I could own the whole puddle and be the only frog in it."

HER BODY A SHIELD

ONLY CARE OF CALIFORNIA WOMAN WAS HER CHILD.

Run Down by Automobile Mrs. Kirchner, of Los Angeles, Thought of Nothing But Protecting Little One.

Oakland, Cal.—Carrying her infant child in her arms and leading an eight-year-old daughter by the hand, Mrs. C. R. Kirchner, whose home is at 411 Summer street, attempted to cross the street at Broadway and fourteenth street when she was run down and hurled to the ground by an automobile driven by M. T. Vance, who lives at 1326 Alabama street, San Francisco. When struck by the machine Mrs. Kirchner forgot her own danger in an effort to protect her little ones from harm, threw her daughter almost out of the path of the machine, at the same time interposing her own body as a shield to the child.

The force of the collision hurled her from her babe in her arms she turned as she fell in such a way as to protect it from contact with the hard pavement with her own body. Before Vance could bring his machine to a stop the front wheel of the car had passed over Mrs. Kirchner's lower limbs, inflicting a number of painful bruises, and her little daughter was painfully bruised by coming in contact with the corner of the automobile. According to witnesses of the accident, Vance lost his head after striking the woman, and after bringing the machine to a stop reversed his engine and once more the front wheel of the machine passed over one of Mrs. Kirchner's legs before she could get out of the way.

Policeman Conroy was a witness of the accident and he at once placed Mrs. Kirchner in the automobile and took the injured woman and Vance to the central police station. Mrs. Kirchner refused to be taken to the emergency hospital. After she had given an account of the accident to Acting Capt. Brown Mrs. Kirchner was taken to her home in the machine by which she had been injured. Vance was not arrested, as Mrs. Kirchner declared that she did not care to prosecute him.

Vance declared that, as he started to turn the corner Mrs. Kirchner stepped directly in front of his machine, which struck her before he could make a move to avert the accident. He said that he was running very slowly at the time of the accident and was sounding his horn as he turned the corner.

Poison in Mosquito Bite.

Philadelphia.—With his left arm swollen to three times its normal size, Frederick Mason, 40 years old, a foreman at the Midvale steel works, applied for treatment at the Samaritan hospital, and, according to the physicians, was treated in time to prevent amputation of the member.

A week ago, while sitting on his doorstep, Mason was bitten by a mosquito. The bite caused him much annoyance by continual itching, and it is supposed that in scratching the part it became inflamed and blood poison set in. Home remedies were applied, until the arm began to swell and became very painful. This is the second time this summer that a mosquito has sent the victim to the Samaritan hospital for treatment.

Children Mangled by Hogs.

Mason City, Ia.—Because they were so pleased with some small pigs running loose in a pasture here that they attempted to carry two of them home as pets, Howard and Vera Laird, aged 7 and 5 years, respectively, were badly injured by two half-wild hogs.

The hogs knocked the children down and were trampling and slushing them with their hoofs when aid came.

The boy suffered severe cuts about the head and face and his sister was badly bruised.

DOG WAS TOO HASTY

SHOWING THE ERROR OF JUMPING AT CONCLUSIONS.

Pat Thought He Was Jumping at the Conclusion of a Cat, But It Was Another Kind of Animal.

Chicago.—Doc, the prize speckled bulldog which is the joy of the younger members of the family of C. A. Plamondon, 82 Astor street, and the particular pride of his mistress, Miss Marie Plamondon, is in bad odor. He admits it in all the most expressive terms of the canine tongue and offers no excuse. From the tip of his stubby cartilage tail he is the personification of shame and disgust.

The story of Doc's unbecoming is sad and unsavory. It is a tale of misplaced confidence and the evils of chance acquaintances. Ordinarily Doc is rather exclusive in his acquaintances, but the other night an uncontrollable impulse led him to depart from his usual serenity and in this single lapse lay his misfortune.

The members of the Plamondon family, together with several of the young people's friends of the neighborhood, were seated in the porch of the Plamondon residence enjoying the lake breeze, and laughing and talking with the usual gaiety of young people. Doc lay peacefully stretched out on the stone porch coping, enjoying the caresses of his mistress and sleepily viewing the neighborhood through half closed eyes.

YELLOW JACKETS END PICNIC.

Women Tear Off Skirts and Fight Swarms of Insects.

Ardmore, Pa.—In a fierce running combat covering three-quarters of a mile, in which women ripped off and used their skirts as weapons of defense, and children ran pell-mell like a routed army in full retreat, yellow jackets broke up the picnic of the infant department of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school, held in Harsch's grove, near Narberth, and sent the pupils and their guardians scampering home to Ardmore—stunned.

It was the annual outing of the little folks, and about 50 youngsters, under the care of a number of women had spread their lunch. Several mischievous boys at this juncture stirred up a colony of yellow jackets, and the angry insects swarmed in a cloud about the tables. Panic reigned.

Divesting themselves of part of their skirts, the women started in to do battle with the bees. Bravely they fought, but were soon convinced that their safety depended upon precipitate flight. Dash they did, fighting as they fled, until they had cleared the woods, leaving behind them part of the edibles intended for their feast. In Ardmore, the children had their wounds treated.

The pupils had rallied sufficiently next day to attend a session of the Sunday school, but a shudder ran through the ranks when in making up the class schedules the secretary called for a report from the "Busy Bees."

JUDGE EMULATES SOLOMON.

Odd Trick Soon Decides Who Owns a Philadelphia Dog.

Philadelphia.—Suit over the ownership of a dog has been settled in court here in a novel manner. The plaintiff, Mrs. Mary Crane, swore the dog belonged to her. The defendant, Patrick O'Malley, asserted with equal positiveness that the animal was his, so the magistrate concluded that the dog should decide the case, and the sagacious little fellow ran to the side of the woman.

In arranging for the test the magistrate sent the woman into the street two squares from the court, and O'Malley was stationed two squares in an opposite direction. The dog, a little fox terrier, was liberated by the magistrate. Mrs. Crane stood motionless, without even holding out her arms toward the little dog. O'Malley, on the other hand, set up a loud whistling.

The dog glanced at the crowd on the sidewalk in front of the police station, and then turned its head toward O'Malley. The latter held out his hand, but the animal faced about till it caught sight of Mrs. Crane. Then ended its hesitation. With a sharp bark of delight it raced away over the pavement, and the next moment was leaping about the woman.

Black Cat Kills Child.

City of Mexico, Mexico.—Genaro Godinez, an infant three months old, was killed while lying in his cradle by a large black cat at Plateros, the home of the Godinez family.

The baby's mother had gone away from the house to see a neighbor, leaving the little one sleeping in his cradle. There were no others in the house at the time, and though some of the neighbors heard the baby crying they thought nothing of it, as the screams of the child lasted but a short time.

When the mother returned home she was horrified to find the infant dead. The cat had chewed the baby's face almost completely up, and had terribly lacerated his arms, breast and legs. The shock has left the mother in a very critical condition, and fears are felt for her recovery.

Girl Sails to Get Husband?

Liverpool.—The remarkable exodus of marriageable young women from this country to the United States and Canada is emphasized by the departure of 1,000 unmarried women on the steamer Baltic alone, while several hundred more were among the total of 5,000 passengers carried on three trans-Atlantic steamers.

MAD USE FOR THE OIL.

Workmen Found It Good for Other Things Besides Medicine.

Some years ago a railway was being made in the west of Scotland, and it was arranged that each of the numerous navvies employed should pay 1d. per week to a medical practitioner, so that they might have his services in the event of accident, or medicine in the case of illness.

During the summer and autumn neither illness nor accident occurred. But when a severe winter followed, all at once the "navvigators" began to call on the doctor for castor oil.

Each brought his bottle, into which an ounce was poured, until the oil was exhausted, and the doctor was forced to send to town for a further supply.

When that, too, was getting low, the doctor one day quietly asked a healthy looking fellow what was wrong with the men that they required so much castor oil.

"Nothing wrong at all, doctor," he replied, "but we grease our big boots with it."—London Tit-Bits.

Caused Him to Wobble.

"How funny! Grandpa has been singing like a bird all the morning." "Yes, that is on account of the mistake the dear old gentleman made at breakfast." "What mistake?" "Why, he made a porridge out of the package of birdseed and thought it was a package of oatmeal."
